Has the G. O. P. Gone Wet?
No Rain Lasts Forever.
New Sudden Freezing Idea.
Mr. Swope Has a Plan.

—By Arthur Brisbane—

THE REPUBLICAN PARTY wonders about the meaning of Dwight W. Morrow's landslide. President Hoover promises Mr. Morrow "every available support in his campaign," and the White House predicts that Mr. Morrow will be New Jersey's next senator.

Mr. Morrow himself, having satisfactorily attended to his New Jersey job will attend to something else. He returns within a week to his post in Mexico, and will not come back until just before election day.

Wall Street wiped its eyes and smiled yesterday. Sad hearted speculators concluded that it was not going to rain forever, and found comfort in a story on the radio told by Mr. Morrow.

"A farmer's son asked: 'Do you think this rain will ever stop?'

"'I think it will,' replied the father, 'I never knew but one rain that didn't stop.'

"'Which rain was that?' asked the boy.

"'This rain,' replied the father."

News important to storekeepers, farmers and the public, describes new process of freezing foods suddenly, at an extremely low temperature, 49 degrees below zero, preserving their quality marvelously and indefinitely. Violently sudden freezing prevents formation of crystals and breaking of liquid cells.

Meat, separate steaks, chops, fish, oysters, vegetables, fruits, are instantaneously frozen in transparent packages. California and Florida might try this sudden freezing process in preserving orange and lemon juice.

Concerning the new process, invented by Clarence Birdseye, farmers and merchants may obtain information by writing to Mr. Chester, president of the General Foods Co., 250 Park ave., New York city.

Mr. Gerard Swope, president of General Electric, plans for future unemployment crises.

In every General Electric works, on a vote of 60 per cent or more of its employes, a trust fund will be organized to meet abnormal conditions of unemployment.

Workers will contribute one per cent of their earnings, the company contributing an equal amount. The company guarantees five per cent on the funds accumulated, until such time as unemployment shall make it desirable to utilize the fund for the benefit of idle employes.

The employes will contribute half, the company half, the workers will get all, the company none, a fair arrangement.

Mussolini said, in fine, classical Italian: "We can lick France, or anybody else," and sincerely believes it.

France said nothing, but replied with a gigantic increase in defense appropriations, including the new and more powerful submarines and airplanes.

An Italian newspaper complains that France is "arming with fury against Italy," and says there is no menace in Mussolini's recent speeches.

The feeling between Italy and France is not good, and it is just as well that we have not yet guaranteed to supply men and money for any war over there.

In old days, beginning with Charlemagne, church bells, in emergencies, gave satisfactory results.

Engraved on an old bell in Lugano, you read: "The sound of this bell vanishes tempests, repels demons, and summons men." Sacred bells were relied on to drive away hailstones, demons that rode on the wind, thunder and lightning.

Imagine the surprise of three persons killed and 16 fatally injured in Europe when lightning struck the swinging bells of a church in which they had taken shelter.

King George and Queen Mary, the Prince of Wales and guests from Windsor Castle were present at the Ascot races on Wednesday, when, close to them, Walter Holbein, a bookmaker, was killed in the betting ring by a bolt of lightning. Good churchmen in Scotland will say it was punishment for gambling and a warning to the King to keep away from racetracks.

But King George, modern and enlightened, knows that the broker was not killed by a shot from Heaven, but by vagrant electricity, returning from the clouds to the earth. He knows that church bells do not drive away lightning, whatever they may do to demons, since great cathedrals and humble little churches are provided with lightning rods, each copper spike pointing upward, emphasizing the fact that nature plays no favorites. Crimson Crews Win Two Races From Blue

These International Newsreel photos, rushed up from the scene of the annual Harvard-Yale regatta on the Thames, picture the rival crews in a state of exhaustion after the opening races on the program, the junior varsity and the freshman. Harvard scored a surprising double victory in the first two races by outrowing the favored Yale crews. The lesser Crimson boats gave the varsity renewed courage for their encounter with Ed Leader's Eli eight.

FINDS DRISCOLL IN COLLAPSE

Inspector James J. Driscoll of the bureau of criminal investigation, who disappeared on Monday, was found in a state of collapse today in the West End.

Unable to tell a coherent story of his wanderings, he was taken to his East Boston home and placed under the care of physicians.

Acting on information obtained by Chief Inspector Ainsley C. Armstrong, Inspector Holmes was assigned by Deputy Supt. James C. McDevitt, in charge of the bureau of criminal investigation, to go to a house in the West End, where he found Driscoll in a stupor.

Holmes took him to Station 3, whence he was sent home.

It was thought he might have been overcome by the heat on Monday and injured in a fall.

Lindberghs Back After Hartford Hop

Hub Trawler Ashore Off Baker Island

The fishing trawler Lexington, bound for Boston from the Georges banks, ran on the rocks off Baker's Island early today.

Coast Guard vessels are standing by. Capt. William Doyle and crew of 18 are remaining on board their vessel. One of the crew was injured and was treated by a physician at Gloucester, later returning to the ship.

An attempt will be made at high tide tonight to float her.

According to word received by the owners, Ward Fisheries Co., from Capt. Doyle, the boat lost her bearings in the dense fog which enveloped the coast.

The ship is about five miles off the island and in a bad position, hard and fast, according to officials of the Ward Co.

The Lexington was formerly the Eckmul of the Philadelphia Packet line and is valued at $175,000. She 's 150 feet in length and of 426 tons and has a cargo of 50,000 pounds of cod and haddock.

Capt. William Doyle, her skipper, is one of the veterans in the fishing line and his craft is rated as the most modern on the coast.

Officials of the Ward Co. dispatched tugs to the scene. All depends on conditions at low tide, it was stated.

STURTEVANT IN BANKRUPTCY

Edward L. Sturtevant of Brookline filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in the U. S. district court today, citing liabilities of $356,199 and assets of $1.

CLOSING STOCK PRICES LOWER

New York, June 20 (AP)—Share prices fell back $2 to $14 a share on the New York Stock Exchange today, cancelling much of yesterday's gains.

Renewed bear selling was attracted by the violent upswing yesterday, and another sharp break in the Chicago wheat market was distinctly unsettling.

The cut in the New York rediscount rate to 2½ per cent, the lowest in history, and the drop of $211,000,000 in brokers' loans, caused a vigorous upturn in share prices as the market opened, but selling appeared in large volume during the late morning and early afternoon.

During the afternoon the list rallied moderately at times, but closing prices were close to the day's lowest.

Trading was in comparatively moderate volume, total sales aggregating 3,800,000 shares, or about yesterday's total.

U. S. Steel common, which recorded the year's low record at $155 on Tuesday, sold up $162.25 today, but closed at $158, a drop of $3 from yesterday's final level. American Telephone sold down to $204.75 but closed at $206.37, off $2.87, ex-dividend. American Can dropped to $115.12 and closed at $116, off $5.50.

Westinghouse Electric was off $7. Allied Chemical sold off $4 and rallied $2. Eastman Kodak closed $12.75 lower. J. I. Case closed at $171, off $15.

Boy 'Guards' Start Auto, 2 Hurt in Wild Dash

Two boys were left to "mind" an automobile parked in Columbia rd., South Boston, today, and as a result two other boys were taken to Carney Hospital, seriously injured.

The victims, Simon Rosenberg, 15, and Irving Kramer, eight, cousins, of Arlington st., Chelsea, have possible skull fractures and other injuries and are on the danger list at the hospital.

Dr. Joseph H. Carey of Melville ave., driving an auto owned by Dr. George E. Farrell, also of Dorchester, going for a swim at L st. baths, parked the car in Columbia rd.

He left Richard E. Cunningham, 13, of Marine rd., and David Glynn, 12, of Hatch st., both South Boston, to guard the machine having no keys to lock it.

They fooled with the starter, they later admitted to police, and the motor started in gear. The car shot across the Strandway, hitting and overturning another auto in which Rosenberg and Kramer were waiting for members of their families to come out of the water.

Both cars were badly damaged. The two volunteer "guards" were not hurt.

JONES WINS BRITISH OPEN

Hoylake, England, June 20 (AP)—Bobby Jones, the greatest golfer of all times, matched an all-American challenge today to win the British open championship for the third time. Weakening in the final 36 holes of the classic tourney, the Atlanta genius added rounds of 74 and 75 to his two-day total of 142 to card a 72-hole total of 291.

Although Bobby staggered in the stretch he was still too good for Leo Diegel and MacDonald Smith, American professionals who pressed him to the finish after Archie Compston, Great Britain's giant pro, blew up on the final 18.

Diegel and Smith, the latter for a time almost unnoticed, came home in a final tie for second place, each with 293 strokes. Compston, after breaking the course record with a 68 in the morning, to lead Jones by a stroke, shot a disasterous 82 in the afternoon for a 297 total that left him in the ruck.

One of the greatest throngs in the history of tournament play fought through the wind and rain

S.S. NORTHLAND AGROUND

Starting for New York from Boston, the liner North Land, of the Eastern Steamship Co., grounded on the mud flats a short distance from her pier in South Boston today.

There are no passengers aboard. Four tugs are standing by. Efforts to pull the liner off were unsuccessful as the tide ebbed. She has a slight list to starboard.

Further attempts to float her will be made at high tide.

Capt. Herbert Hammond is in command of the North Land, which was making her first summer voyage to resume her service on the New York to Portland run.

The North Land is a 300-foot liner of 3121 tonnage. She was built in 1910 at Wilmington, Del.

JUNIORS AND FRESHMEN DEFEAT YALE

Varsity Oarsmen Cheered by First Double Victory Since 1926

New London, Ct., June 20 (AP)—Harvard swept back into the rowing picture this morning with two smashing victories over Yale in the preliminary races of their annual regatta on the Thames river.

The Crimson freshmen, in a brilliant climax to an undefeated season, walloped the Eli yearlings by the decisive margin of three and a half lengths.

With this as inspiration Harvard's junior varsity crew got the jump on Yale and led all the way in a hard fought duel to cross the finish a good three-quarters of a boat length to the good.

Both races were rowed over the middle two miles of the varsity course, down stream.

The fine Harvard freshman eight covered the distance in the best time, 11 minutes, 2 4-5 seconds, rowing against a stiff head wind. The Eli yearlings were timed in 11:17 2-5.

The victorious Crimson "Jayvees" were clocked in 11:07 1-5 and the Blue juniors in 11:10 3-5.

Harvard scored its first double victory in the morning races since 1926 and also broke the spell of Blue triumph that had been all

FOUR NATIONS LAUNCH WAR ON SCHEDULES OF NEW U. S. TARIFF

CANADA WILL RETALIATE ON RATES

Hoover Orders Survey in Endeavor to Find Basis of Reconciliation

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN
Universal Service

Washington, June 20—Retaliatory measures against the new American tariff are brewing in many foreign commercial centers, according to reports reaching the State Department from American commercial attaches throughout the world.

These measures already have taken very definite form in such places as Belgium, France, Canada and Cuba.

President Hoover, however, intends to do everything to calm these incipient reactions, it became known today. He has ordered an exhaustive study of the tariff provision to be made, particularly with regard to foreign implications.

WILL SEEK MEDIUM

He will then compare the tariff schedules to which foreign objections have principally been raised and endeavor to find a basis of reconciliation between the former rates and the new duties.

Under the flexible provision the President is empowered to make adjustments in schedules and with this loophole the government hopes to escape from the charges of ultra-protectionism levelled at the Smoot-Hawley bill.

Objections from Canada threaten to take the very concrete form of countervailing duties on all American products now coming into Canada. This is expected to work especial hardship on shippers of dairy products and for farmers who have been accustomed to dispose of large shipments across the border.

HUGE LOSS IN PROSPECT

The total amount of American commerce thus to be affected, it was said, will be at least $40,000,000 to $50,000,000. In schedules affected by countervailing duties alone the loss to the United States is fixed at $26,000,000.

Reports from France indicate that Ambassador Edge will have considerable difficulty in pacifying French shippers, who consider themselves particularly affected by increased duties on luxuries.

This is the class of export that France has always featured and as a result the trade balance between France and this country is bound to reflect unfavorably on France.

Cuba considers the new tariff a blow at American and Cuban friendship.

Italy, Czechoslovakia and Germany filed formal protests with the State Department before the enactment of the bill and are pinning their last hopes on the President's flexible revisions.

Youth Who "Wronged His Mother" Wants to Die in Chair

Claiming he had "wronged his mother" and wanted "to go to the electric chair," an 18-year-old Everet youth appeared at the gates of the State Prison at Charlestown today and sought admittance.

Patrolman William J. McCarthy of Station 15, on duty nearby, ordered the boy away, but he ran through the entrance and started toward the death house.

Station 15 police communicated with his father, who came to Charlestown and took the boy home. The police say the boy graduated from Everett high school this week.

2 Men Shot by U.S. Dry "Under Cover" Agent

New Orleans, June 20 (AP)—John W. Williams, 27, federal prohibition under cover agent of Washington, D. C., early today shot Stanley Lirett, 34, and a negro, Robert Addison, 24, in an encounter in the city's business section. He was charged with "shooting and wounding."

Lirett and Addison are expected to recover, hospital attendants said.

Williams said that early yesterday he was involved in a fight with Lirett and Williams in a resort that Lirett operated as a speakeasy and that the dispute was resumed when the three met on Canal st. today. Lirett attacked him with a knife and he drew his revolver and fired he said.

Lirett's resort was raided yesterday by police, and a quantity of liquor seized.

Parsons Wills Most of Estate to Friend

New York, June 20 (AP)—Charles A. Parsons of West Springfield, Mass., receives $18,000 under the will of his brother, Frank Aleah Parsons, filed for probate today.

William M. Odom, associate of Mr. Parsons in the New York school of fine and allied arts, receives $50,000 and life interest in the residuary estate.

At Odom's death the estate, more than $250,000, is to be shared by the Congregational Church and the Public Library of Chesterfield, Mass., Mr. Parson's birthplace, one part each, and the Masonic Home for Men at Worcester, and to Edward Rushmore, three parts each.

Boston Plans Great Welcome to Byrd

Boston's welcome on Friday, June 27, to her own explorer and hero, Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, will be a series of triumphal ceremonies.

State and city will join in doing honor to the explorer, the program including a military parade, presentation of special medals, and a banquet given by Mayor James M. Curley in the evening, at which Governor Frank G. Allen will speak.

The tentative plans, as outlined at the Governor's office and at a City Hall conference, provide for Mayor Curley to welcome Admiral Byrd at South Station where he will arrive in a private car shortly after 2 p. m.

With the mayor, Admiral Byrd will ride in a parade of units from the Army, Navy, Marine Corps and National Guard to the State House where he will be received by the Governor.

There will be a concert and speeches and Governor Allen will present the explorer the State medallion which has been cast especially for him.

According to the plans, which have not yet received the seal of official approval, Byrd will then be escorted to Boston Common.

At the Parkman Bandstand the admiral will be presented to the people of Greater Boston, together with tercentenary visitors, by Mayor Curley, and brief addresses will be delivered.

In the evening the mayor's banquet will be held at which Mayor Curley will present Admiral Byrd a gold medallion, the gift of the city of Boston.

The city's plans are being perfected by J. Philip O'Connell, director of public celebrations; Frank B. Howland, assistant director; Stanton White and Standish Wilcox of the mayor's secretarial staff, and Capt. Edward F. O'Dowd, who took part in today's conference.

GANGSTERS KILL HOME BOMBER

Chicago, June 20 (AP)—While efforts were proceeding with a reorganized police department to clear up the assassination of Jake Lingle, Tribune reporter, and free Chicago of gang domination, a new gangster slaying came to light today.

Lorenzo Juliano, 40, questioned by police in connection with eight murders and 12 bombings in the last three years, reached the end of the hoodlum trail. His body, shot through the breast and found wrapped in canvas, was in an automobile which had been shunted into a deep clay pit near Blue Island, South Side suburb. Juliano was said to have been involved in the bombings of the homes of United States Senator Charles S. Deneen and of John A. Swanson while candidate for state's attorney, in the tempestuous primary of April, 1928.

TUFTS STUDENT ENDS HIS LIFE

Providence, June 20 (AP)—Found dead in his room at a hotel here late yesterday, Lynne Briggs Tillson of Hartford, a theological student at Tufts in Boston, was pronounced a suicide today by Medical Examiner Griffin.

It was said the young man had taken poison after a nervous breakdown for which he was under treatment. He called on relatives in Brockton while on his way to this city, reaching here yesterday morning.

His mother, Mrs. Edna Tillson, was notified at Hartford and asked the body be sent to that city. His father was the late Hugh Tillson, Hartford business man.

DROWNING MEN, WOMAN SAVED

Salisbury Beach, June 20—A woman and two men were rescued from drowning in the Merrimack river last night, after a coast guard picket boat from the beach station had cut in two the small skiff in which they were riding.

A few details of the accident became known today. The woman, Henrietta Felker, 35, of Haverhill is still a patient at the Anna Jaques hospital, Newburyport. She was rescued by Norman O'Brien, a coast guardsman.

The names of her two men companions were not made known.

The patrol boat was running up the river to warn small craft that a thunderstorm was approaching and the skiff was under her bows before the helmsman could prevent the accident. O'Brien is believed to have dived overboard to rescue the woman.

Her condition was reported as satisfactory this morning.

Ordered Gin and Got Water; 2 Sentenced

Ordering a pint of gin in a North End shop, where the price was only 75 cents, Frank Sadonis of Somerset st. got water and then had his bankroll snatched by Louis Dondero, aided by Michael Miguititus, according to his story in municipal court today.

Dondero was found guilty and sentenced to a year in the House of Correction, while the other man got six months. Both appealed.

Coste Tests Plane for Long Ocean Hop

Villacoublay, France, June 20 (AP)—Capt. Dieudonne Coste, France's premier aviator, continued his slow, methodical preparation for his forthcoming transatlantic flight to America by taking aloft yesterday his famous airplane, Question Mark, for a trial flight.

He had aboard a weight equivalent to 1000 gallons of gasoline. The plane behaved beautifully, Coste covering nearly 240 miles in two hours.

BOSTON TO HAVE TWELVE NEW FISH PIERS

$750,000 Improvements Are Planned to Protect $15,000,000 Annual Business

Improvements totaling $750,000 are to be made at Boston Fish pier by the tenants, to prevent the annual $15,000,000 business from being lost to the city.

Twelve new piers, each 80 feet long, are to be projected from the south side nearest the Army Base. These will permit the Fish Pier to do four or five times the present business.

Contracts awarded for three of the new piers were to be signed this afternoon, the cost of these will be about $30,000.

TO EXTEND BUILDINGS

Besides the 12 piers, which will allow about 25 big fishing boats to unload simultaneously, there will be other important improvements. The buildings, at present about 50 feet from the water, will have extensions made to the edge of the water.

These extensions will be on the second and third floors, allowing a passageway underneath of some 50 feet.

The principal reason for this great development program is to protect the investments of some $3,000,000 made 15 years ago by about 40 fishing concerns. Lately there has been much talk in Gloucester about a state-aided pier, on the argument that Boston cannot accommodate Gloucester fishermen.

If Gloucester receives such a pier it would mean the breaking up of Boston's huge business, leaders say.

The new piers will be 25 feet wide, and will extend in a row.

The buildings are to be extended over to the edge of the water for five practicable reasons. They are:

REASONS FOR EXPANSION

To increase working space about double; to allow unloading of fish to the second and third floors direct from the boats; to permit use of gravity conveyors to work and shipping rooms; to allow use of ramps or runways from one level to another to alow unloading of barrels, boxes, etc., to relieve floor congestion; to allow vessels to be iced from second floor, further relieving congestion.

This plan which probably will be financed by a bond issue, is the product of the several fishing executives and staff members on the pier. These suggestions were gathered by E. H. Cooley of the Massachusetts Fisheries Association, who developed the details with the cooperation of E. R. Boyle of Boston, who built one of the two largest lumber piers on the east coast—at the naval base below Norfolk.

The project has been under discussion for a year, and work will start in about two weeks.

Somerville Teacher Retires After 42 Years' Service

After 42 years of service as a sewing teacher in the Somerville public schools, Miss Mary Lisette Boyd went on the retired list today.

Samuel A. Johnson, supervising principal of the Carr, Durell and Cummings schools, was also retired after 37 years' service in the schols of the city.

Miss Boyd began her service as an elementary school teacher in 1888, and for many years was in charge of the sewing classes. She was director of sewing for the American Red Cross during the World War.

Mr. Johnson was appointed master of the Prescott school in East Somerville in 1893. Later he was made head of the Eastern Junior high school. He is a graduate of Harvard, class of 1879.

SEEKS PADLOCK FOR 2 PLACES

Padlock injunctions against two alleged liquor nuisances, one on Bradford st., South End, and the other on West Third st., South Boston, were asked in Superior Court today by Assistant Corporation Counsel Leo Schwartz, in behalf of Police Commissioner Eugene C. Hultman.

Judge Bishop issued orders of notice returnable July 2.

Antonio Torre is alleged to be the occupant of the Bradford st. premises, George L. Leesha, owner and Elisa Field, trustee of the William B. Hubbard estate, first mortgagee.

Joseph Loeck is named occupant of the West Third st place, Louis and Mary Urbonovicz owners, Edward Spinney, first mortgagee; Farragut Co-operative Bank, second mortgagee, and William V. Green, third mortgagee.

Senator, Bride on Secret Honeymoon

Camden, N. J., June 20 (AP)—United States Senator David Baird, Jr., 48, and his bride, the former Mrs. Francis H. Smith, widow of his one-time business associate, are on their honeymoon today, but where was not revealed.

They were married last night, after having eluded followers when they left Camden by automobile. Close friends received telegrams announcing the wedding, but the messages contained no information as to where the ceremony took place or by whom it was performed.

Senator Baird has passports for his wife and himself for a trip to Europe, but they are not to be used until July 1.

Blast Kills Student

State Saves $40,000 in Huge Flour Purchase

A saving for the taxpayers of some $40,000 in the cost of bread for state institutions has been affected by State Purchasing Agent George J. Cronin, as a result of the drop in the commodity market.

Cronin revealed today that he had awarded a contract for the purchase of 15,000 barrels of flour to the Ismert-Hincke Milling Co. of Kansas City at $5.05 a barrel, made through H. S. Leviston of Boston.

The $5.05 price, Cronin said, is the lowest paid for flour by the state since the pre-war days.

The 15,000 barrels will last the state, with its 30,000 inmates and employes, approximately six months. In view of the world-wide plentitude of wheat, the next contract, the purchasing agent believes, will be on a par with this one.

A year ago the state paid an average price for its flour of $6.43 a barrel. In 1925 the price was $8.40.

Twenty-seven firms bid for the contract and the samples submitted by each firm were submitted to an exhaustive test by chemists to determine protein, ash and moisture content. Samples were then baked into loaves and tasted.

New Admiral on Job

Washington, June 20 (US)—Rear Admiral Walter R. Gherardi, U. S. N., recently promoted from captain, yesterday was ordered to duty as chief hydrographer, Navy Department.

Boston Trawler Hits on Salem Rocks in Heavy Fog

'L' WILL BUILD NEW SUBWAY STATION

Trustees Approve a $375,000 Structure at Cambridge and Charles Sts.

At or near the junction of Cambridge and Charles sts., Back Bay, the Boston Elevated will build a new station of the Dorchester-Cambridge rapid transit line.

The project pending for many years and authorized by Legislature as far back as 1924, has been approved at last by a vote of the railway board of public trustees, it was announced today.

Approximately $375,000 will cover the cost of the new station. Only authorization of the department of public utilities and approval by the "El" directors are needed before actual work is started. These it is believed, will be given at once.

AFTER LONG AGITATION

Agitation for construction of such a station has been carried on by the Beacon Hill Improvement Association and by officers of the Massachusetts General Hospital, the Eye and Ear Infirmary and the Suffolk county jail.

The public utilities commission, under the authorization of the six-year-old act, may delegate preparation of plans and supervision of construction to the Boston Transit Commission, but responsibility for their success will rest with the state department.

In connection with announcement of the trustees' approval, made by Chairman Henry I. Harriman, the Elevated issued the following statement:

"In view of the cost of the improvement, including not only the carrying charges on the new station but the operating expenses involved, there would be no justification for continuing the expense of the present Kendall-Bowdoin bus line, parallel to the Cambridge subway between Kendall sq. and the new station."

NEW NEEDS IN DISTRICT

"Recently developments in the section have given additional weight to the demand for a station. With the extensive improvements in the Charles River basin and on the esplanade, the trustees think better transportation facilities in the way of a new station furnishing access to the rapid transit lines are desired.

"Construction of the station is particularly desirable at this time because of the improvements that have been adopted by the city of Boston in the development of the Charlesbank at an expenditure of $1,475,000.

ABOVE TRAFFIC CIRCLE

"This expenditure includes the widening of Charles st. between the Longfellow and Charles River Dam bridges, the construction of traffic circles on the Boston side of the two bridges, and the expansion of the Charlesbank gymnasium and playground through the introduction of a salt water swimming pool and other recreational facilities. The station would be above the traffic circle.

European Visitors Greeted by Allen

Governor Allen today received Rev. A. E. Edge of Accrington, England, and Mrs. Edge, the Rev. Adolf Goerwitz of Zurich, Switzerland, and the Rev. Paul Sperry of Washington, D. C., who are attending the annual convention of the American New-Church Societies in Boston.

The visitors were presented to the Governor by Rev. H. Clinton Hay, pastor of the Church of the New Jerusalem, on Bowdoin st.

Rev. Edge is pastor of the largest Swedenborgian congregation in the world and president of the British Federation of New-Church Societies. Rev. Goerwitz is president of the French Federation of New-Church Societies, and Rev. Sperry is president of the General Convention of the American New-Church Societies.

Judge Frees Parole Breaker on Bond

Following a hearing, Judge Pierce in Supreme Court today admitted to bail John L. Kandra of Ashland, arrested Thursday for breaking a parole in New York in 1908.

Dewey C. Kandra, attorney and brother of the petitioner for a writ of habeas corpus, told the court the Governor of New York had assured him the extradition warrant would be withdrawn if the request is put in writing. Judge Pierce said he would release Kadra in $5000 bail if furnished by a surety company, and continued the case to July 2.

Mary Blair Weds, But Will Stay on Stage

New York, June 20—While many women find that the duties of married life are sufficient to occupy all their waking hours, Mary Blair is going to try to continue her stage work.

Mary Blair

Mary, creator of the leading roles in many of Eugene O'Neill's plays and up until last week star of Aristophanes' "Lysistrata," was married secretly on Sunday to Compton M. Eaken, refrigeration executive.

The ceremony took place at the Eaken estate at Redding, Ct. Miss Blair declared that her withdrawal from the stage was in the nature of a "honeymoon vacation" and that she will begin rehearsals on a new play in September. Three weeks ago she received her final divorce decree from Edmund Wilson, literary critic.

Indian Woman Again to Stand Trial for Life

Buffalo, June 20—Lila Jimerson, Cayuga Indian woman, will resume her battle for life shortly when she goes on trial for a second time charged with the murder of Mrs. Clotilde Marchand, wife of the celebrated artist, Henri Marchand.

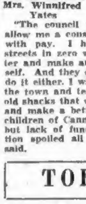
Lila Jimerson

By order of Judge Samuel J. Harris of the Supreme Court, Lila must stand trial again or abide by her plea of guilty to a reduced charge of murder, second degree. The first trial terminated abruptly when she collapsed in county court and was removed to a local hospital.

Several days later she pleaded guilty to the reduced charge of murder and new attorneys appearing for her declined to withdraw the plea, but the county prosecutors office moved for a new trial on the charge of murder, first degree.

Ohio's Only Woman Mayor Decides to Quit

Cannelville, O., June 20—Despite the allurements of a $20-a-month salary and all the dignity that goes to the town's first citizen, Mrs. Winifred Yates, the only woman mayor in the state, has left the town cold and gone back to home-making.



Mrs. Winnifred Yates

Lack of cooperation among the men, 11 of whom she defeated in a spirited election, were assigned as the cause of her exodus by Mrs. Yates.

"The council was too poor to allow me a constable or marshal with pay. I had to walk the streets in zero weather last winter and make arrests all by myself. And they can't say I didn't do it either. I wanted to beautify the town and tear down a lot of old shacks that were fire hazards and make a better place for the children of Cannelville to live in, but lack of funds and co-operation spoiled all my plans," she said.

WASHINGTON OPENS ARMS IN HONOR TO BYRD AND COMRADES

RECEIVED AT WHITE HOUSE BY HOOVER

Pay Tribute to the Memory of Peary, Bennett, Wilkes at Arlington

Washington, June 20 (AP)—The national capital today flung wide its doors to one who faced peril and hardship at the ends of the earth that man's knowledge of the sphere on which he dwells might be increased.

To Rear Admiral Richard Evelyn Byrd and the hardy band that shared his daring exploits in the frozen wastes of Antarctica Washington extended a glad welcome, adding its acclaim to that of the great metropolis which already had greeted the returning explorers.

Reaching the city from New York at 9 o'clock, the famous aviator and his men faced a day in which official receptions and the conferment of special honors were comfortably interspersed with opportunities for rest and leisure.

The Union Station concourse was thronged by cheering admirers as the admiral and Mrs. Byrd, and his mother, Mrs. Eleanor Bolling Byrd, walked through to the sunlit Plaza.

WHITE HOUSE RECEPTION

President Hoover dispatched his secretary, George Akerson, and his military and naval aides to Union Station to meet the party and express his own greetings. The welcoming group also included Acting Secretary Jahncke of the Navy Department, Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of the Naval Bureau of Aeronautics, and Gilbert Grosvenor and John Oliver La Farge, president and vice-president of the National Geographic Society.

Mr. Hoover also sent his limousine to convey Admiral Byrd to the Willard Hotel, with the members of his command following in buses.

After a morning of rest at the hotel came a reception at the White House for the entire party and then a luncheon at the Willard, with the trustees of the National Geographic Society as hosts. Next on the program was an official call on Acting Secretary Jahncke at the Navy Department.

TRIBUTE TO BENNETT.

Later in the day, as a cessation from his constant reception in a day and a half of homage from others, Rear Admiral Byrd himself paid homage to Floyd Bennett, Admiral Robert E. Peary and Admiral Charles E. Wilkes in Arlington Cemetery.

On Bennett's grave, where the stone was gathered which weighted a silken American flag dropped over the South Pole, Byrd laid a wreath in tribute to the pilot who flew him over the top of the world.

Wreaths also were laid on the graves of Peary, discoverer of the North Pole in 1909, and of Wilkes, who, as a navy lieutenant, on a Polar expedition in 1840, first recognized the icebound South Pole as a continent and christened the great area of Antarctica.

Tonight President Hoover will present to Admiral Byrd a special medal of the Geographic Society in honor of his South Polar flight. The presentation will take place in Washington Auditorium, with the entire Byrd command grouped upon the stage and official and diplomatic Washington assembled below.

Admiral Byrd will give his first report to the secretary on the scientific results of his expedition, in a brief acceptance address. Afterward there will be shown for the first time motion pictures of the land of rugged cliffs and icy walls which he explored.

N. Y. Ticker Tape Storm for Byrd 70 Tons

New York, June 20 (AP)—This city's welcome to Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd and his crew yesterday was a mere 70-ton affair, compared to the 1800-ton welcome extended Col. Charles A. Lindbergh on his return from Paris three years ago.

This estimate made by Charles S. Hand, superintendent of the city's sanitation department, was based on the amount of paper swept up in the streets over which the processions passed.

The cost of cleaning the streets was estimated at $22,000, which is in addition to the $9000 appropriated by the city for the official reception.

Vatican Book Blames Premier of Malta

Vatican City, June 20—A "white book" which the Vatican will issue tomorrow declares that Lord Strickland, Premier of Malta, is the chief cause of all the religious difficulties in the Island of Malta.

Present troubles in Malta cannot cease, the "white book" will say, until the British Government deals effectively with the cause of it.

United Fruit Will Build Three Liners

New Orleans, June 20—Crawford H. Ellis, vice-president of the United Fruit Co., today announced that contracts had been awarded by his company for placing into service three additional fast passenger liners at a cost of $11,000,000.

Following Red Trail of Elusive Maniac Slayer

MURDER SCENE AT College Point, L. I., where Noel Sowley was shot down in his parked auto as he sat petting with a girl. The maniac slayer's brazen threat to run his killings up to 16 has started a manhunt unprecedented in New York. Police are shown examining the magazine found in Sowley's car in which was found a large roll of money.

THE HORRIBLE EXPERIENCE of seeing her escort shot down in cold blood was that of Catherine May.

THIRD VICTIM IS SHOT BY PHANTOM

Maniac Killer Wounds Man in Auto; Seven Yet Marked to Die, Says New Note

New York, June 20 (AP)—Search for the maniac slayer who in letters to a newspaper has admitted the killing of two men in Queens borough and threatened 14 others, turned to Brooklyn today after a third man had been shot and critically wounded.

Police said the description of the assailant of Morris Horwitz, 50, an insurance broker, who was shot early today while in his automobile, tallied with the description they have of the slayer of Joseph Mozynski and Noel Sowley.

Police in Philadelphia today arrested Joseph Clark, a fugitive from Creedmore State Hospital, Queens, as a suspect in the maniac killings.

Horwitz was shot after a second letter purporting to have been written by the slayer of Mozynski and Sowley was delivered at the newspaper office. It was in the same handwriting as the earlier communication.

7 MARKED FOR DEATH

In the second letter, the writer said he had decided to spare six persons because a certain document had been returned to him and he had received $37,000 in blackmail money, but that seven others were still marked for death unless another document was forthcoming and $39,000 additional blackmail.

The persons mentioned were all designated by cabalistic symbols, those to be spared were listed as W R. V-8, College Point; S-12, College Point; K-2, Brooklyn; Z-3, designated as "a tall blonde woman"; M-6, N. Y. C.; XXAV, a New York detective.

The list of seven to be killed was given as: X-14, X-21, Y-2, L-6, X-7, X-1 and V-4.

"All initials withheld—too much of a clue for the super-detectives of Bayside," the letter said.

The letter, which was quite long, contained a rambling account of the slaying of Mozynski and Sowley.

ALONE IN AUTO

Horwitz told police he was in his car in front of his home on Carrol st., talking to his wife and daughter who sat on the porch when a man with a pistol in his hand thrust his head through a window of the car.

"Move over, start that car and keep going or I'll kill you," Horwitz said the man ordered.

Horwitz moved over and the man jumped into the car. He struck Horwitz over the head with his pistol, then shot him in the shoulder. The bullet took a downward course, and lodged in the abdomen. The man fled.

In their search for the maniac, police compared the description they have of the slayer with that of Jeseph Ustica, who escaped last month from Kings Park Hospital for the Insane, where he was confined for the slaying of William Gilbride, a Brooklyn contractor, in 1928.

Lynn Man Friend of Victim of Phantom Killer

With New York's maniac murderer still at large and with an attempt at a third murder tentatively "chalked against his name, a Lynn friend of the maniac's second victim today refuted stories that "wild parties" figured prominently in this victim's life.

The friend was Elston Hall, 21, of 93 Jefferson st., Lynn, a radio engineer who was an apartment mate of the second slain man, Noel Sowley.

Sowley, a radio salesman, was shot down while seated in a parked car with a girl, but he had no enemies, so far as Hall could recall.

Hall declared today that he knew of no one who could have any grudge against Sowley.

"I met Sowley and Fred Giles," he said, "while we all worked together in Brooklyn and were living at the local 'Y.' After a while we decided to share an apartment and got one at 196 Clinton ave., in the Bronx.

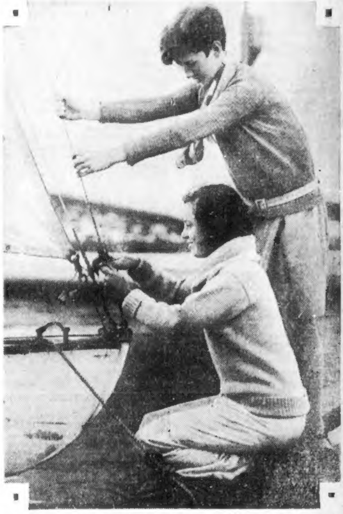
"I lived with Giles and Sowley from November 1, 1929, until May 24, when I left for Lynn. I knew Betty Ring (in the car when Sowley was murdered) a little. I met her once and knew her as an old sweetheart of Sowley's. He had a quarrel with her and didn't see her from December until a short while before I left.

"Noel was a quiet, easy-going likeable chap and didn't have an enemy in the world that I know of."

Berengaria Delayed

New York, June 20—The liner Berengaria, due in New York this morning, has developed trouble in one of her four turbines and is not likely to dock until late Saturday.

Fair Skippers Tune Up



MISS MARIE McGARY MISS JANE McDONALD

GIRL SKIPPERS HOLD RACES

Honors were even in the first of the twilight series for girl skippers held off the South Boston Yacht Club last night—Marie McGarry, champion lady skipper of the club, taking the first race and Marjorie McMahon breezing home first in the other.

Miss McGarry's elapsed time for the first race of three miles was 21 minutes 5 seconds, 10 seconds better than Miss McMahon's time for the same distance.

Other craft in the first race were Peggy, skippered by Rose Warnovich; Lark, with Anna Keefe; Bambino with Miss McMahon and Gosling, with Mary Murray.

The second race had, in addition to Miss McMahon's craft the same four that competed in the first.

The course was laid to the white spar at Pinkham's Ledge, a beat out around the coast guard station, a reach to the O st. mark and a run home to the line off the South Boston Yacht Club float.

Hail Damage Near Albany Is $150,000

Albany, N. Y., June 20—Estimates of damage rose to $150,000 today as reports filtered in of the havoc caused in the Troy-Glens Falls-Saratoga Springs area by one of the worst hail storms in the history of the Hudson valley.

Farmers suffered specially heavy losses as crops were ruined, fruit trees were stripped bare, and live stock was injured by the hail stones, some of them the size of golf balls.

Many Indicted in Kidnaping Probe

Detroit, June 20—Warrants were issued yesterday for six alleged members of the Joseph (Legs) Laman gang of kidnapers and murderers following Laman's confession in which he told of the gang's activities over a period of almost 10 years.

Five young men and a young woman, alleged members of another gang which planned to go into the kidnaping racket also had warrants issued against them, charging conspiracy to kidnap.

Probe Wailing Wall

Jerusalem, June 20—The international commission which will investigate Moslem and Jewish claims to the Wailing Wall have arrived here.

SHAMROCK WINS TRIAL RACE

Bangor, County Down, Ireland, June 20 (AP)—Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock V, racing on a triangular 30-mile course under conditions identical to those she will face in September at Newport in her challenge for the America's Cup, finished first this afternoon in a contest with three of Great Britain's fastest yachts.

The Shamrock was given victory by 12 seconds over the Cambria, which had received an allowance of 8½ seconds per mile at the start.

The other yachts which raced were the Lulworth and the White Heather.

Sir Thomas, who is confined to his home in Belfast with a slight illness, was unable to see the Shamrock V's fine showing.

2 PAGE & SHAW MEN ARE HELD

Two more alleged salesman of Page & Shaw stock were arraigned in Superior Court at East Cambridge today, making a total of 17 defendants arraigned in the candy company case out of 18 indicted.

Benjamin Finn was held in $5000 bail after he pleaded not guilty to conspiracy to steal, conspiracy to sell, conspiracy to defraud and two charges of larceny from a Marlboro priest. The larcenies are alleged to have totaled more than $13,000.

Harry Antick of Boston was held in $3000 bail on three charges of conspiracy. He likewise pleaded not guilty.

Florida Families Flee From Flood

Fort Myers, Fla., June 20 (AP)—With no immediate prospect for relief families in La Belle, county seat of Hendry County, were taking refuge from flood waters today in the homes of neighbors.

Twenty families yesterday were forced to abandon their homes or take refuge in upper stories as the Caloosahatchee river rose more than four and a half inches. Highways have been blocked and the Seaboard Airline Railway has suspended service between Fort Myers and La Belle.

Policeman Slain, Bandit Is Dying

New York, June 20 (INS)—A pistol duel from speeding cabs, between a patrolman and a bandit, today resulted in the death of the patrolman, Patrick Mitchell. The bandit was taken in a dying condition to a hospital. He identified himself as George Harris, 32, of Cleveland.

Two in Bay State to Share in $200,000 Hermit Estate

Chicago, June 20 (AP—A score of cousins scattered in Great Britain, Ireland and the United States will inherit the $200,000 estate of two aged hermits who died in Park Ridge, a suburb, four years ago, Probate Judge Henry Horner has ruled.

Of the known heirs, 15 cousins live in Ireland, two in Massachusetts and one each in England, Montana and Kansas.

The estate was left by John Flynn, who committed suicide after the death of his brother in 1926. The money was found hidden in mattresses, milk cans and beneath the floor.

Claims of alleged heirs caused an investigation by which it was found the hermits were sons of a John Flynn who eloped in Dublin, Ire., with Henrietta Goodiff, daughter of Capt. James Maynard Goodiff, an English soldier decorated for heroism in the Napoleonic wars. He had opposed their marriage on religious grounds.

Appeals Sentence on Drug Charge

Charged with possessing morphine with intent to sell to Jeanette Sherman of South End, Jerry Sentora of Page's ct., North End, was found guilty in municipal court today and given a year in the House of Correction. He appealed. Miss Sherman testified she was formerly an addict but was getting a quantity of the drug from Sentora for a friend when officers stepped between them. Sentora said he had to use drugs for a painful ailment and was not making a sale.

King to Visit London

'FLEE' JAIL AT NEWBURYPORT

Newburyport, June 20—Five boys, all of Charlestown, escaped from the jail here early today, where they were being held pending the arrival of their parents to return them to their homes.

The boys are Robert and Walter Griffin, twins, 13; Charles Tetford, 10; James Carney, 13, and James Newall, 14, all of Charlestown.

State and city police were searching for the boys today as irate parents started to arrive to claim them. The boys were found wandering about the streets early this morning and taken to the jail.

They were placed in a cell but not locked up. Later when police went to question the boys following a telephone call from one of their parents, it was found they had walked out on the police. State police at the Topsfield barracks were notified and started search for the missing quintet.

Nearest and Dearest of Kin Share in Glory of Byrd's Achievement

MRS. RICHARD E. BYRD RICHARD E. BYRD, III

Wife and son of aerial conqueror of both ends of earth as seen at the great reception at City Hall, New York, yesterday. They were photographed as they awaited the arrival of Boston's polar exploration hero for the formal greeting by Mayor Walker. UNDERHILL AND 5 ON HOUSE SICK LIST

Washington, June 20 (AP)—Approaching congressional adjournment found half a dozen representatives suffering from illness today and unable to fill their seats in the House.

Despite one of the most strenuous sessions in recent years, however, the membership generally is in a better state of health than at the close of the last session, when more than a dozen were seriously ill.

Porter of Pennsylvania and Wingo of Arkansas were reported recovering today after critical illnesses. The latter underwent an operation, while Porter was rushed to a Pittsburgh hospital recently, seriously ill.

James of Michigan, suffering from ulcers of the stomach, was reported by his secretary to have left his hospital bed, but was not expected back in his office this session.

Johnson of Illinois and Underhill of Massachusetts likewise have been able to leave their hospital rooms and both may return to the House before the session closes.

Curry of California is reported improving after treatment at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, and Vincent of Michigan has returned to his office after treatment at the Naval Hospital here.

Communists Deny Portes Gil Hostile

Mexico City, June 20—The Communist party of Mexico City today issued a statement denying charges by Luis Morones, former Secretary of Commerce, that Provisional President Portes Gil had shown undue friendlines toward them.

The statement also denied that Senor Portes Gil had had any part in the Communist demonstration scheduled for the visit of President Ortiz Rubio to Los Angeles, which was cancelled during the President's pre-inaugural tour.

THE RICHARD DERBY HOUSE, SALEM

THE OLDEST BRICK HOUSE IN SALEM is located at 168 Derby st., named from the family which was most prominent in the halcyon days of the shipping era. Built in 1762, the house is still one of the best in the neighborhood. Set back in a yard, the Derby house to the casual observer might pass unnoticed.

On second glance, the elegance and substantial character of the dwelling, with its deep red bricks, quaint dormer windows, and interesting door, catch the attention.

Richard Derby, the builder, was born in Salem, son of the founder of the family in America. Born in 1712, he grew to be one of the pioneer traders and merchants of the town. Salem first began trade with the West Indies about 1670, exporting dried cod, for which Massachusetts has become famous, and importing silks and spices from the Orient.

FORTUNES IN RUM

At first the vessels returned laden with the inevitable sugar and molasses which led to the distilling of rum, which, in turn, was exported. Thus were the first American fortunes accumulated. Conditions were not easy. Navigation was crudely carried on in ships unseaworthy and too small for great profits; maps and charts were incorrect because the waters were unknown; piracy was at its height; heavy was the hand upon commerce laid by England's Acts of Trade.

Elias Hasket Derby took up the business from his father, so that he owned numerous ships when the Revolution broke out. He was whole-hearted in the cause of the colonists, and under his supervision, Salem manned 158 privateers with 6000 men and 2000 guns.

SHIPPING SPREADS

After the war, in 1784, his ships competed against the European countries for the trade of the Orient, and his ship, The Grand Turk, made the first voyage by an American around the Cape of Good Hope.

Salem was known in all the ports of the world. In her storage vaults could be found silks from India, tea from China, cotton from Bombay, rare wines from Madeira, and other products from Russia and northern countries.

The brick house has one or two interesting features. A later owner shut off the colonial stairway so that it would not be in constant use by the tenants. He realized its value. The door has 10 panels outside but only eight within. It is usually open during the summer for visitors and the National Antiquarian Society has endeavored to save the first brick house in Salem from rough usage.

Salem may be reached by train from the North Station, or along the North Shore route by auto.

FATHER, SONS STRANGERS, SAYS WIFE

Although William M. Strong of ambridge has two sons who live less than 50 miles away, they wouldn't recognize him if they saw him, according to testimony introduced yesterday in Middlesex Probate Court before Judge C. C. Campbell.

Strong appeared before Judge Campbell, seeking a divorce from Mrs. Ruth I. Strong of Lawrence, on the grounds of desertion.

Mrs. Strong offered no objection to her husband obtaining a divorce. She told the court she was interested solely in gaining custody of her daughter and two sons.

The daughter is living with her father while the two boys are living with their mother in Lawrence.

"The boys don't even know their father," said Mrs. Strong to the court. "They wouldn't know him if they saw him."

"I think you're both negligent about seeing your children. If you don't see them oftener they'll forget who their parents are," said Judge Campbell.

Judge Campbell suggested that the couple try to reach some understanding concerning the children.

Darmstadt Picked as Zeppelin Center

Darmstadt, Germany, June 20 (AP)—This city, capital of Hesse, is destined soon to become the central German airport for Zeppelin travel.

The Hessian minister of the interior, Dr. Leuschner, today announced that negotiations for this purpose with the Zeppelin works were practically completed. He said Dr. Eckener had chosen the site as the most suitable from the point of view of winds and weather.

Italy Sorry for Insult to France

Paris, June 20 (AP)—The Italian foreign minister today expressed his country's deep regret over a recent demonstration of students at Bari when, it was alleged, France was belittled by the demonstrators.

The incident is now regarded by the French Foreign Office as closed, it was said in official circles today. The alleged affront to France occurred before the French consular agency at Bari. Minister Grandi told the French ambassador that the manifestation was simply an act of braggadocio on the part of the students.

CLARA BOW PAID $25,000 FOR LOVE AFFAIR

By A. M. ROCHLEN
Universal Service

Los Angeles, June 20—Curtains of mystery today began to flutter around the "inside story" of how Clara Bow, red-headed charmer of the screen, was made a real "it" girl two years ago last summer.

Documentary evidence that the winsome Miss Bow was "it" to the tune of $25,000 just about the time her young physician and friend, Dr. William Earl Pearson, was being sued for divorce, was uncovered yesterday.

Clara, "resting between pictures" under Texan skies, hard by Dr. Pearson's home, in Dallas, first admitted and then denied that the $25,000 in question was her money and that it was paid to calm matrimonial seas and domestic storms of the handsome Texas physician.

SOMEBODY GOT IT

Somebody got the money, way back in fall of 1928, although no one has yet rushed forward to be "tagged" for it. The log of the poor little rich girl's twenty-five grand now stands as follows:

August, 1926, Clara signs five-year contract with Paramount.

September, 1926, trust fund is started at the California Trust Company, by deposit by the studio of $500 a week out of Clara's salary during the first year of her five-year contract.

September, 1927, approximately $26,000 in the fund, held to Clara's credit. Under the contract this money was to remain until August, 1931, then to be turned over to Miss Bow, provided she fulfilled all provisions of the contract.

DIVORCE GRANTED

October 17, 1928, Mrs. Elizabeth Atwood Pearson filed suit for divorce from Dr. William Earl Pearson, charging failure to provide.

October 17, 1928, Paramount-Famous-Lasky Corporation and Clara Bow asked the trust company to dissolve the trust, send $25,000 to the studio and the rest to Miss Bow's account.

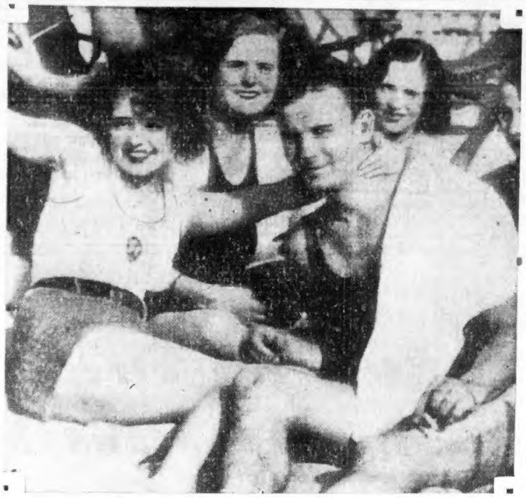
November 1, 1928, an interlocutory decree was granted to Mrs. Pearson. Dr. Pearson did not contest the action.

On or before January 29, 1929, Dr. Pearson was in New York, mildly interested in Clara and corresponding with members of her household.

June 19, 1930, studio officials declared that the company did not keep the $25,000.

June 19, 1930, Clara sent a flock of telegrams denying previous interviews and affirming previous denials. She said she was in Texas to get a taste of "southern hospitality." Sandwiched between the other dispatches was one in which Dr. Pearson was quoted saying that he "had nothing to discuss."

Clara Sunning With Medico Boy Friend



WITH ALL SORTS OF RUMORS and denials floating about the red head of Clara Bow, the original "It" girl of the films is shown here in an intimate pose with Dr. William Earle Pearson of Dallas, Tex., friendship with whom is said to have cost Clara quite a sum. The photo was rushed to Los Angeles from Dallas and from there by telephone to New York.

Free Students When They Pay Damages

Groton, Conn., June 20 (AP)—Four members of a party of college students arrested last night for breaking $50 worth of window glass at Hotel Griswold and trying to evade $80 in room rent, were released when they paid the bill.

Another student, giving his name as James Beale of Harvard, off the yacht Petrol, was kept in the lock-up all night on his refusal to pay damages amounting to $25.

Naval Students to Cruise to Azores

The U. S. S. Wyoming, Capt. F. L. Pinney, arrived at the Navy Yard today and will sail tomorrow for the Azores with a group of students from Harvard and Northeastern University. The trip is under direction of the Department of Naval Science at Harvard and is to acquaint the students with the working of the guns and other navigation matters. The Wyoming will return to Boston July 2.

York, England, Sends Boston Greetings

Congratulations and greetings from the mayor and city council of York, England, on the occasion of Boston's tercentenary, were received today at the office of Mayor Curley. Lord Mayor Charles Shipley and the council wished the citizens of Boston great prosperity and happiness in coming centuries.

TRADE HOGGING CHARGED TO RAILROAD

Attempts to stifle competition by companies operating steamers in Long Island Sound against those on the road's joint rail and water service, were charged to the New Haven Railroad in evidence submitted yesterday at the continued hearing at the Boston Chamber of Commerce before Attorney-Examiner John Howell of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Thomas Geohegan of Washington, associate counsel for the Colonial line, introduced confidential correspondence of the road with the Seaboard Airline Railway Co. in regard to the chartering of a steamer, and a report on the Hartford & New York Transportation Co., in which it was stated that the "New Haven and subsidiaries should furnish the kind of transportation and all the transportation demanded or required by the public."

The exchange of letters had to do with the chartering of the steamer State of Virginia by the Seaboard Airline Railway Co. to the Colonial Navigation Co., whose complaint led to the present investigation of the New Haven co-ordinated rail and water system.

The Seaboard company was advised that two smaller ships were released to be used in the establishment of a service out of New Bedford to rival the New Haven service from there.

On being advised of this situation, officials of the Seaboard gave assurance to the New Haven officials that "the Baltimore Steam Packet Co. would not again charter one of its boats for competition with the New England Steamship Co."

J. Howland Gardner, president of the New England Steamship Co., a subsidiary of the New Haven, was called in connection with the confidential report of the Hartford & New York Transportation Co., which was described as virtually bankrupt, and showing heavy and increasing deficits.

$1,125,000 Primary

Harrisburg, Pa., June 20—Expenditures of $314,748 on behalf of the Davis-Brown ticket and $422,577 for Senator Joseph R. Grundy, reported today, brought the total cost of the Pennsylvania Republican primary to more than $1,125,000.

Hoover Tour Waits Till Congress Quits

Washington, June 20—Through a virtual deluge of invitations for him to visit almost every state and many cities west of the Mississippi river on his trip this summer, President Hoover, constantly and placidly, gives the same answer.

No itinerary is being considered until Congress is ready to adjourn.

Starts Work on New Egyptian Cabinet

Cairo, June 20 (AP)—Ismail Sidky Pasha today accepted the task of forming a new cabinet to replace the Wafdist government headed by Mustapha Pasha Nahas, which resigned a month ago.

He expected to be able to present his list of ministers to the king today. Twefik Rifaat Pasha was named as having accepted the foreign office portfolio.

Argentine Envoy Held Up by Bolivians

Buenos Aires, June 20—Dispatches to La Nacion today said the Argentine vice-consul at Villazon, Bolivian border town seized on Tuesday by the insurgent band of Roberto Hinojosa, had been held held up by an armed group while attempting to return to his post from La Quiaca, where he had taken refuge. He was forced to return to La Quiaca but not injured.

RADIO MAN BLAMED BY FAIRFAX CAPTAIN FOR MESSAGES

NO ORDER TO SEND THEM, HE SAYS

Thanks Officers, Crew and Passengers for Help in Disaster

Capt A. H. Brooks of the liner Fairfax, before the government board of inquiry today, admitted an error in not giving his position in the S O S which he claims to have sent out after his vessel collided with the tanker Pinthis off Scituate on June 10 with a loss of 49 lives.

He also admitted seeing the tanker when it was 150 feet away, but insisted that at the speed the Fairfax was then making it could have been reversed immediately.

Asked about messages to shore stating that no help was needed and that all passengers were safe, Capt. Brooks declared that his chief radio operator apparently was sending messages on his own initiative.

"What would you say about an operator who would do such a thing?" he was asked by his grillers.

CALLS IT ROTTEN

"I'd say it was 'rotten'," he replied.

"Didn't you think an S. O. S. without giving your position was not of any use?"

"I didn't think of it at the time."

"Do you know that anybody receiving the S. O. S. you sent, giving no position, would not know where you were and could not bring that assistance?"

"Yes, I know that," the captain replied.

Asked why he waited till next morning to notify the coast guard, he said he did not recall waiting until the next morning.

He then denied that he had ordered sent the radio to the Gloucester, the captain of which testified yesterday he received a message which gave no indication of the seriousness of the situation.

"How long would it take to reverse the Fairfax at the speed at which it was proceeding when you sighted the Pinthis?" asked Capt. John Stewart of the steamboat inspection service, which is conducting the probe at the Appraisers Stores here.

Capt. Brooks replied: "It could be reversed immediately."

"Do you know, then, why you could not clear the tanker, if the Fairfax responded immediately to the reverse?"

"No, unless it was because it was too close to me."

THANKS CREW

He said he had no knowledge as to whether or not the radio man sent out the SOS he ordered and which was nowhere received, either ashore or at sea.

Capt. Brooks, before leaving the witness chair, made a statement commending all the officers of the Fairfax and the crew.

The hearing closed with Capt. Brooks' appearance. He had been called as a witness for the second time to give the probers an opportunity to thresh out clouded points in the story of the tragedy.

Before Capt. Brooks testified today, Miss Mary Chamberlain of 128 Blue Hill ave., Milton, who was a passenger on the Fairfax, told the board that there were no members of the crew to direct her and other passengers to places of safety.

She said that the search for survivors or bodies in the water lasted only half an hour, in her judgment, as she saw the boat leave and return to the Fairfax.

MARINE HELPED HER

When today's session opened, Miss Mary Chamberlain, 128 Blue Hill ave., Milton, was called to testify. She said she and another girl passenger left their stateroom when they felt the crash, walked forward and were engulfed in clouds of smoke.

She said a Marine met them and told them to climb over the side of the boat to the deck below.

Q. (by Capt. Lyons)—Whom did you see forward? A.—Some colored people running around. They had white coats.

Q.—What were they doing? A.—Just running back and forth.

Q.—Were there any officers or members of the crew there to direct you to a place of safety? A.—No.

Q.—Who told you to go below? A.—A Marine. He and a colored man, a member of the crew, I think, helped us over the rail.

Q.—Did you ask an officer of the ship for a life preserver? A.—Yes. He got one as quick as he could and the marine showed me how to put it on.

Q.—Did you get into the lifeboat? A.—Yes.

Q.—Who ordered you into it? A.—A marine.

Q.—Were there any officers of the ship there? A.—Not that I saw.

Q.—Who was in the boat? A.—Mostly passengers. There were two members of the crew, I think.

CREW FOUGHT FIRE

Q.—What is your opinion of the conduct of the Fairfax crew? A.—It seemed to me the crew were figthing the fire and that the marines and sailors were directing passengers what to do.

Q.—How long after the collision was the lifeboat lowered? A.—A think about half an hour.

Q.—Did you see the motorboat of the Fairfax go out to pick up people who had jumped overboard? A.—Yes.

Q.—How many were in it when it started? A.—Two men. One was Mr. Powell of the Fairfax.

Q.—Ho wlong before it came back? A.—About half an hour.

Q.—Have you any criticism to make of the crew? A.—I thought someone should have been there to tell the passengers what to do.

Capt. Brooks of the Fairfax was here recalled to the stand and questioned regarding messages he sent to the Fairfax sister ship Gloucester.

Q.—What time did you send the message to the Gloucester, captain? A.—About 8:20, standard time.

Q.—It has been testified that the Gloucester received a radio from the Fairfax only a few minutes after the collision while the Gloucester was at the Boston dock. A.—I did not send that message.

DENIES REFUSAL

Q.—Captain, there seems to be confusion about authorization of messages sent from the Fairfax after the collision. Mr. McNeill says he did not interfere in any way, the wireless operator of the Fairfax says you ordered an SOS and all other messages were detained by order of the captain. Did you at any time refuse to send out a radio message? A.—I did not.

Q.—I show you a message sent to the captain of the Fairfax via the Chatham station. (Capt. Lyons read the message from a Boston newspaper, the message asking for information relative to damage done, the name of the sunken tanker, whether there were injuries to passengers, whether any passengers or crew lost their lives, and their names, and advising the captain that hundreds of inquiries had been received from relatives of passengers aboard the Fairfax, whether the passengers would be transferred, where they would be taken, and informing him that there was a large number of nurses and doctors waiting at the Merchants & Miners' dock to care for injured.) Captain, I read you the message radioed from the Fairfax in answer to this request, "All passengers safe." What do you know about that? A.—I did not receive such a message and I did not send such an answer.

KNOWS NOTHING OF IT

Q.—You say you know nothing about this? A.—I know nothing about it.

Q.—Why did you wait until the next morning before you notified the coast guard? A.—I don't remember waiting until the next morning.

Q.—The coastguard testified that it received a message from you six and a half hours after the collision. A.—I sent that as a warning to other steamers that the tanker had sunk in that vicinity.

Q.—What search was made by you, the Merchants & Miners Co., or anybody else from the time of the collision up to the present for the bodies of victims? A.—I personally ordered a search for two and a half hours in a lifeboat. When daylight came I searched as much as I could through the fog with my ship. What search has been made since then I don't know.

Q.—As a practical master of a vessel, do you think you should have made a longer search? A.—I thought I was doing what was right.

Q.—Would it have been a great crime if you left that lifeboat searching the vicinity all night? A.—Oh, no.

Q.—Captain, with all those lives intrusted to your care, do you think you should have made a further search, or do you think the two-hour search you did make was sufficient? A.—I thought I was doing my very best.

BLAMES RADIO MAN

Q.—Do you know whether the Merchants & Miners' made any search after you left? A.—I don't know.

Q. (by Capt. Stewart)—What are the call letters of your vessel? A.—I don't know.

Q.—You say you know nothing about this offer of assistance radioed to you by the Chatham station, WIM? A.—I don't recall it.

Q.—Do you recall the answer sent by the Fairfax which said: "We are standing by. Nothing to let out," thereby refusing assistance? A.—I don't know anything about that offer or the answer.

Q.—Well, apparently your operator was sending out messages that you know nothing about? A.—Apparently he was.

Q.—In your opinion as a ship's master, what would you say about an operator who would do such a thing? A.—I would say it was rotten.

Q.—(By Capt. Lyons)—Captain, if you were sending word to somebody in New York to meet you at Boston, you'd name some particular point of meeting wouldn't you? A.—Yes.

Q.—Do you know that anybody receiving the S. O. S. you sent which means that you are in immediate danger, and you gave no position, they wouldn't know where you were, and could not bring that assistance? A.—Yes, I know that.

Don't Bungle the Golf Shots; It's Bad for Blood Pressure!

Spokane, Wash., June 20—Golf is harmful, in the opinion of Dr. William Muhlberg, Cincinnati, president of the Association of Life Insurance Medical Directors.

"The average man who plays golf goes out to the course, dubs a shot, gets mad, tears his hair, maybe throws his club away, and as a result increases his blood pressure," Dr. Muhlberg said in addressing a group of life insurance agents here.

After the First Twenty-five Thousand Miles

THE VALUE of sound design, good materials and careful craftsmanship is especially apparent in the new Ford after the first twenty-five thousand miles. Long, continuous service emphasizes its mechanical reliability and economy of operation and up-keep.

As you drive the Ford through many months and years you will develop an increasing pride in its appearance and a growing respect for the substantial worth that has been built into it. From every standpoint—in everything that goes to make a good automobile—you will know that you have made a far-seeing, satisfactory purchase.

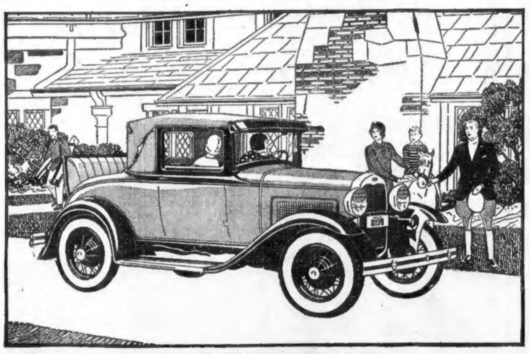
Wherever you go, you hear enthusiastic praise of the car and this significant, oft-repeated phrase—"I'm glad I bought a Ford."

A FORD owner in New York tells of a 13,000-mile trip across the United States and back in sixty days and says "the car was extremely economical to operate, comfortable and speedy." A grateful father tells how the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield saved his wife and children from serious injury in an automobile collision.

To test tires, a large company drove a new Ford day and night, for an average of 500 miles every twenty-four hours. It was still giving satisfactory service after 105,000 miles.

A Ford car that had fallen into Fernan Lake was submerged for twelve days before being raised. After a new battery and carburetor bowl were installed, it was driven back to Spokane under its own power.

Many police departments have written of the special advantages of the Ford in crowded traffic because of its alert speed, acceleration and ease of control. An increasing number of fleet owners are also purchasing the Ford because their cost figures have given conclusive proof of its economy of operation and up-keep.



THE NEW FORD SPORT COUPE

In addition to important triumphs in Germany, France and Italy, the Ford won six out of seven leading places in a contest in Finland, first and second in the Rafaela races in Argentina, first and second in the run from Copenhagen-to-Paris-to-Copenhagen, three gold medals in England, first ranking in the durability test over the tortuous Amancaes road in Peru, and first place in the 1930 reliability run conducted by the Royal Automobile Club of Sweden.

This contest was an exceptionally severe test of endurance and sturdy construction because it was held in the dead of winter and covered 600 miles of steady running over snow-covered country roads and mountainous hills.

Letters From Readers

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

Editor Boston Evening American:—

Dear Sir:

In the interest of less noise I make the following suggestion:

If each passenger on the Boston Elevated System who has occasion to use the turnstiles should check the slam of the gate as he passes through by placing one hand upon it, the ear-splitting clashing would be nearly all done away with. There is a loud click as the dime is taken in by the mechanism and this will remain, but it is a minor noise compared to the crash as the gate locks for the next passenger:

I have been doing this for six months or more and find it no trouble at all and I am sure the nerves of the employes in the subways would be greatly relieved if the practice should become universal.

A. T. C.

Urges Opening of Union Park to Children

To Editor Boston American:

The Governor, Mayor Curley, park commissioner and you, Mr. Editor, I'm sure, can do something about a condition which I have observed for the past two years on this thoroughfare, to wit:

There is a park here—Union Park—there is a fence around it—the gates locked to keep out drunks. Fair enough, says I.

The gates being locked, children from two years to ten are playing in the streets and back alleys. Cars sometimes have to stop on account of children. That's fair, too, unnecessary, though, but for this reason:

The kiddies get scared and climb the park fence; as quick as possible some of our childless women roder them out. A disgrace to Boston.

I have yet to see these little tots ordered out by A MOTHER. God bless the mothers!

Now I'm sure something can be done about this condition considering that the same people who order out the kiddies are blessed with dogs; the same dogs being allowed to roam and play at leisure in said Union Park.

Want Flexible Tariff On Wool Products

Editor Boston American:

The Carded Woolen Manufacturers Association of Boston have sent the following letter to Senator Borah regarding the flexible provisions of the new tariff bill:

Hon. William E. Borah,
The Senate,
Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir:

The demand on which you have insisted, that agriculture and industry shall be placed on an equality under the tariff has always had our full approval. We have stood without a shadow of turning for protection of both wool grower and wool manufacturer. We have denounced free wool and free goods as equally indefensible and agreed with you that the free importation of either should mean the free importation of both.

Standing with you for evenhanded justice for both agriculture and industry, we welcome the adoption of your Senate resolution putting the flexible provision of the Hawley-Smoot tariff to the acid test by directing the Tariff Commission to investigate under Section 336 and report at the earliest date practicable on the differences between the domestic and foreign costs of production of the following articles which agriculturists purchase: Shoes, both men's and women's shoes; furniture; cement; hose; shovels; spades; scoops; forks; rakes; scythes; sickles; grass hooks corn knives; and drainage tools. We agree with you that "if the flexible provision is going to do the wonderful things they say it will, let's get it to working."

We want these wonderful things done not only on the above articles which the agriculturists purchase, but also on articles which the wool manufacturers and the people generally purchase, namely wool and wool goods. For this reason we ask that you introduce and press to its passage a resolution calling for a like investigation of foreign and domestic costs of wool, wool waste wool shoddy, wool rags, wool yarn, wool cloth, wood clothing, wool carpets and wool rugs, including the wool now admitted free of duty if used to cover floors, but taxed under this tariff if used to clothe the people.

We feel confident that you will recognize the necessity of a square deal for agriculturalists and ultimate consumers. Hence our hope that you will comply with this request.

EDWARD MOIR, President.

266 Graduated at Beverly High School

Beverly, June 20—A record class of 266 seniors of Beverly high school last night received diplomas in the auditorium of Beverly high school in the presence of 1400 relatives and friends.

Augustus P. Loring, Jr., chairman of the Beverly school committee, presented the diplomas after delivering an address. Mayor Roy K. Patch of Beverly paid a tribute to the class.

ANNOUNCING!!—NEW ENGLAND'S GREATEST REFRIGERATOR SALE
SALE of 3,792 REFRIGERATORS
½ - ⅓ - ¼ OFF REGULAR PRICES
Made by a famous New England manufacturer (we can't mention the name) whose refrigerators are celebrated for their many exclusive features.

THE REASON—These Refrigerators were originally made for one of New York's largest wholesalers, who cancelled because delivery date was not fulfilled. Manufacturers—rather than warehouse the shipment—offered the entire lot to us—at practically our "own price"—and now we offer them at retail for what, in many cases, it cost us to buy these identical Refrigerators at wholesale earlier in the season.

Features of This Great Sale!!
- Think of it — about 22 solid carloads
- Choice of 35 new and different styles
- Almost every wanted size in the lot
- Cork lining
- Cork board and Celotex lining
- Seamless stone lining
- Seamless porcelain lining
- Dustproof
- Aluminum washable traps and drain pipes

M Features of T Great Sale!!
- Nickel plated brass hardware
- With self closing automatic locks
- Reinforced shelves
- Full standard ice door openings
- Solid ash
- Panelled ash

COFFEE MAKING A REAL ART

TRICOLATOR METHOD. FOR PERFECT coffee we find the tricolating method 100 per cent satisfactory.

Is there anything more delightful to the heart of man than a good cup of coffee? It speeds him on his morning way, braces him up at noontime and sustains him through the weary speeches at the Business Men's Dinner. It has been known to play a very effective part in ridding him of a foggy head "the morning after," too, but we won't stress that point too hard. It is enough for the moment to say that coffee is the great American beverage. Correctly made, it produces a buoyant, restful feeling, but improperly made it gives the consumer what is known as a "liver." Coffee, when used wisely, lessens fatigue and is mildly stimulating.

The making of good coffee is an art. There are still folks who claim that they cannot make good coffee except by the old-fashioned boiling method, but boiling coffee really spoils it for the connoisseur. Certain changes take place in boiled coffee which affect the flavor.

The perfect method of making this perfect drink is by tricolation. When made in a tricolator, your coffee is always the same. The steady seeping of water at an even rate through the silky paper filter over the fine grounds produces a delicate and uniform strength which is not bitter to the taste. It draws the pleasant oils from the coffee, which is the real stimulating coffee flavor, and leaves practically all of the harmful tannic acid and caffein behind.

If you "just can't make good coffee," hasten to your nearest department or kitchen equipment store and invest in a tricolator. I warrant you'll never regret it. Or drop a line to Martha Lee and she'll tell you where you can buy one.

Then make your coffee by these simple directions:

Fill the bottom part of your tricolator with boiling water to heat thoroughly. Let stand four or five minutes and pour off. Meanwhile adjust the piece of filter tissue over the perforated section of the tricolator and measure into this one rounding tablespoon (measuring spoon) of coffee, steel cut, ground as fine as possible, but not pulverized, for the first cup, and one rounding tablespoon of coffee for every other two cups. That is, if you were going to make five cups of coffee you would need three rounding tablespoons of the grounds, and start measuring in the boiling water by measuring cups full. Pour it slowly into the upper section of the tricolator. You will have to pour about a cup or a half cup at a time to give it time to drip through. It will take, in all, about ten minutes, at the end of which you will have a pot full of clear, flavorful coffee.

NO TROUBLE AT ALL NOW

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Has Benefited This Woman

Millions today are eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN—guaranteed to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation.

The cause of constipation is the lack of roughage in food. Add sufficient roughage and constipation disappears. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is nearly all roughage.

Here is a letter from Mrs. H. Gilbert, 107 E. Knight Ave., Collingswood, N. J., which will be interesting to many sufferers:

"I had a very serious operation in October and when I came from the hospital my main trouble was constipation. One day I said to the doctor, 'I am going to eat ALL-BRAN,' and since I started I have no trouble whatever. So you see I can't promise it enough and am always telling my friends what it did for me."

You will enjoy the nut-like flavor of this delicious, ready-to-eat cereal. It is rich in iron, and when eaten with milk or fruit juices, adds important vitamins to the diet.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is an essential in any reducing diet. Your grocer has it in the red-and-green package. Served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

BAKED HAM WITH VEGETABLES

1 slice smoked ham (1¼ inch thick)
Carrots, onion, celery, potatoes
1 pt. milk
Salt, peper, paprika
2 tbsps. sugar.

Put ham in small roaster or baking dish. Surround with vegetables, as many as you like. Add seasonings to taste but very little salt. Pour over the milk. Put the cover on the roaster and bake in a moderate oven 1½ hours.

Strengthens Crust

When baking sponge cakes, sprinkle the top of the uncooked cake with granulated sugar. This will form a nice crispy crust.

QUALITY

THE recent reduction in the price of Grandmother's Bread was made because A & P has a fundamental policy of reducing retail prices as soon as possible — in this case, as usual, A & P was FIRST TO REDUCE.

The quality of Grandmother's Bread remains the same — the highest. Its fine, even texture, its crisp, delicately browned crust, its "home-baked" flavor, which has made Grandmother's Bread the most popular of all, remain unchanged.

At seven cents, Grandmother's Bread is the greatest of food values.

THE GREAT ATLANTIC & PACIFIC TEA CO.

VEGETABLES IN SPOTLIGHT

Vegetables are still the most interesting high lights seen from the market watch tower this week. Native peas are 30c a pound, with California peas 20c to 25c. And speaking of native, we have some almost "native" cauliflower from southern New England markets, at 35c to 40c a head. And a few boxes of yellow summer squash. Tomato prices are dropping with native hothouse tomatoes at 18c to 25c a pound today, and before long we can expect the out-door variety.

Native iceberg lettuce is excellent and low priced, at 8c to 10c a head. Do take advantage of the native strawberries while they are with us (the season is all too short). And watch our Canning Column for suggestions for canning and preserving this luscious fruit. Treat the family to strawberry shortcake, strawberry pie, strawberry and cream, and just plain strawberries, at least once or twice a day.

Poultry prices are attractive and fresh sword fish is the latest addition to an already long fresh fish list. Massachusetts eggs are 55c a dozen.

Salad Loaf Easy to Make

Remove crusts from a loaf of bread, slice lengthwise in four three-fourths inch slices and spread each slice with creamed butter. Mix together 1½ c. celery cut very fine (⅛-inch cubes), 1 c. raisins cut in small pieces and mayonnaise to moisten. Cover first slice of bread with lettuce leaves and with 1-3 of the mixture. Add another slice of bread, press together, and continue until bread and mixture are used. Mix two packages of "more than cheese" with ¼ c. cream and spread over the top and sides of the loaf thus made until completely covered. Serve on lettuce, garnished with raisins, cherries and whole nut meats.

Keep the Oven Clean

Be sure to keep the inside of your gas oven clean. Scrape out the shelves and bottom and wash with hot soap soda water solution at least once a week. It will prevent the burnt food smell that comes from ovens containing cooked-over foods.

Watch the Swatter

Danger! Pour boiling water frequently through that homely, but apparently indispensable utensil, the fly swatter. Remember that germs collect quickly on it and it is seldom that anything is done to get rid of them.

Salt Helps

Cut flowers will keep longer with a pinch of salt added to the water.

Three Famous Clicquot Ginger Ales

Make the flavor test described below

TODAY, in America, there are three distinct types of ginger ale flavor, and Clicquot Club makes all three. There is Golden, widely acclaimed for its energy-building qualities; Pale Dry, known to millions for its fine mellow flavor; and Sec, the dry ginger ale of "vintage" excellence.

Many people have never known more than one ginger ale flavor. Perhaps there is one of these flavors that you have not tried. A flavor that will delight you more than any you have ever known before.

Make the taste test

Because so many people do not know these three distinctive flavors, we have urged them to make the simple taste test described below.

Just go to your dealer and get a bottle of Clicquot Club Pale Dry, a bottle of Clicquot Golden, and a bottle of Sec. Take them home with you and chill them. Pour out a glassful of each and taste them carefully one by one. Let your taste decide which flavor you like best.

One of these ginger ales will surely appeal to you more than the other two. Perhaps it will be one that you have never tried before. But, whatever the result, you will be sure to discover in one of these three a flavor that will completely delight you.

Pour out one glassful each of Clicquot Golden, Clicquot Sec, and Clicquot Pale Dry Taste them one by one and let your taste decide which of these famous ginger ales suits you best.

TEST THESE
FLAVORS

These three ginger ales are blended to three different formulas, and the secret of these formulas is known only to Clicquot Club. And as an additional aid to finer flavor, all three ginger ales are aged six months in the making. This process, too, is Clicquot's secret.

Purity guaranteed

In making Clicquot Club ginger ales, only the finest ingredients are used. Pure table sugar, fine Jamaica ginger root, syrups of real fruit flavors and water from deep rock springs. Clicquot gives you purity and goodness that are unequalled. And these ginger ales all come to you only in clean new bottles—bottles never used before.

At your dealer's

Clicquot Club Ginger Ales are on sale at your dealer's today. Buy a bottle of all three and make the test we have described. Your taste will tell you that no finer ginger ales were ever made.

Canned Corned Beef Hash Most Tempting Dish

Are you one of the merry throng who adore mystery stories, mince pies and hash? I am frank to admit that I am! Good old fashioned corned beef hash always strikes a responsive chord in my soul and every so often I must respond to it. However, even the most eerie of mystery plays is found to be based on exactly studied situations, and hash, the old time mystery, is now reduced to a science.

No kitchen is completely equipped without its quota of ready-to-brown corned beef hash, made from rigidly inspected ingredients and ready to heat and eat as it comes from the can. Even the most sleepy-eyed member of the family will drag reluctant feet out of bed when the aroma of browned hash topped by golden dropped eggs wafts its way through the house on Sunday morning.

Tuck a can into the camper's pack, too, and know the joy of ready-to-heat-and-eat delightfulness when the fish refuse to bite.

Croquettes are easily made with this ready prepared hash, also. To the contents of one can add one or two eggs, a tablespoon of chopped parsley, or a little finely chopped green pepper if liked, additional salt and pepper to taste, and enough soft bread crumbs to make the mixture easy to shape into croquettes.

After they are shaped and rolled in beaten egg and finely sifted bread crumbs, I put them on ice for an hour, then fry in deep fat to a golden brown. Serve piping hot with brown gravy, catsup or chili sauce.

Hot or Cold, Here's a Drink That Brings Sleep

A hot night, noise of traffic, jumpy nerves, and sleep a blessing much desired and oh, so difficult to attain?

The next morning you arise heavy eyed and tired, feeling that one good night's sleep would put you on top of the world once more. And then you read this item, and you learn that there is a gently relaxing and nourishing go-to-bed drink that coaxes frazzled nerves into a peaceful state and builds up body energy while you sleep.

Next morning, what a change! New pep, new vigor, and new interest in life. A line to Martha Lee will bring you the name of this marvellous food-drink as good for children as for grown-ups and a boon to invalids. Easy to prepare in milk. Taken hot or cold it is a delicious and refreshing drink, although for the soothing nightcap, warm milk is best.

Delightful for Bridge

Here is a salad that's appropriate for an afternoon or evening bridge, or will serve as the main item in a cold platter luncheon.

CRAB-MEAT IN JELLY

Dissolve 2 tsps. gelatine soaked in 2 tbsps. of cold water, in 1 cup of hot soup stock (1 boullion cube in 1 cup hot water may be used). Season highly with salt, dash of cayenne, paprika, celery salt and 1 tbsp. lemon juice. Cool. When it begins to jelly, add 1 cup Japanese crab meat freed from spines, 1 cup whipped cream (not buttery), 2 tbsps. chopped pimiento. Pour into lightly oiled molds to harden. Serve on crisp lettuce with your favorite mayonnaise. French fried potatoes are a luscious accompaniment.

A Helpful Hint

A heavy paper shopping bag, with string handles, is just the thing to hang between two hooks in the cellar way, to hold wrapping paper and small bits of string—it's out of the way but convenient.

Cocoanut Grove Garden Open Tonight

Tonight the Cocoanut Grove will open the open air Cocoanut Grove Gardens which adjoin the club.

The gardens will have the same cuisine and service, under the direction of Angelo Lippi, and Mickie Alpert will be master of ceremonies. There will be the usual dinner and supper shows, and dancing throughout the evening on a new and spacious dance floor.

Meanwhile the grove continues to enjoy its popularity. There is the usual floor show staged under the direction of Alpert.

Club Dancer

SENORITA AMERICA, New Jersey girl, dancing partner of Senor Ramos, now fulfilling special engagement at Rainbow Gardens, Wrentham.

Keeps Eggs Firm

A Chance to Vary Desert

Better make the most of the rhubarb season while it's with us. Why not some Rhubarb Tartlets for Sunday night supper? Make tart shells of rich pastry using your muffin pans. Bake rhubarb with orange or by itself.

Fill the tart shells and cover with a meringue made of two egg whites and 1 tbsp. of sugar.

TOT STRANGLES IN CARRIAGE

While her mother was engaged in housework, 11-month-old Mary Margaret Pope, of 74 South Huntington ave., today was strangled to death in her carriage in the dining room.

Shouts from her next door neighbor, Mrs. Beatrice DeNomme, that Edward, 4-year-old son of Mrs. Pope, was on the piazza and in danger of falling brought Mrs. Pope from another part of the house.

As she passed through the dining room she saw little Mary, black in the face, hanging over the side of the carriage.

Taking up the child, Mrs. Pope rushed outside and called a passing motorist. The child was dead on arrival at Children's Hospital.

Unaware of the tragedy, Edward was taken in charge by Mrs. DeNomme.

Mrs. Pope told police that she had washed and fed Mary 20 minutes before the accident and that the infant had dozed off for a sleep. Mary was strapped in the carriage and is believed to have become fidgety and to have tried to stand.

On Saturday, at two p. m. in Hotel Statler will begin the fourth reunion of the Old Bellingham Chelsea High School Association, of which Mrs. Alice Merritt Cole is honorary president and Martin J. Pleschinger, of 115 Washington ave., Chelsea, president.

There will be a get-together of classes, reception, election of officers, a banquet at 6:30 and at 8 o'clock a surprise. Miss Ethel Bittner will be mistress of ceremonies.

At a recent meeting of the Greater Boston board of the Salvation Army, the dates of the 1930 fall maintenance campaign were fixed as from Wednesday, Oct. 22, to Saturday, Nov. 30, the same as for the past 10 years.

The board set the 1930 quota at $150,000 for the general maintenance of 24 institutions and departments in Greater Boston and $25,000 on the capital account and sinking fund of "Wonderland," fresh air camp at Sharon.

Malden Post of the American Legion is working to have the largest membership in the State when the national convention takes place. The membership was announced as 859 at a gathering of the team captains. It is expected to exceed 1000 before the convention opens.

With John F. Fitzgerald and Joseph F. O'Connell as principal speakers, Old Dorchester Post, American Legion, will dedicate John T. Scully sq., Gallivan boulevard and Dorchester ave., Sunday afternoon at 3.

Commander Thomas M. Burke will be chairman and addresses will also be made by Lieut. Col. George F. Gilbody and City Councillor Clement A. Norton. Rev. Fr. Wylie of All Saints' Church, Ashmont, will offer the invocation as chaplain of the post. Members of the post will meet at the headquarters, Richmond and Washington sts., at 2:45 p. m. and march to the square.

William G. Strong is chairman of the committee in charge of the exercises, assisted by Jeremiah Donahue, Lieut.-Col. Gilbody and Carl T. Henderson.

Medford Post 45, American Legion, will hold a public installation on Friday night, June 27, at the Brooks estate, West Medford.

Quincy Post team, under direction of State Vice-Commander Frank Foy, will officiate.

Candidates from Malden, Melrose, Wakefield, Woburn, Stoneham and Ayer will join the Medford candidates.

A parade will proceed from the Common through Salem st., to the grounds, at 7:45 p. m.

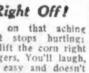
Corns

Stop Hurting Instantly

then Lift Right Off!

Drop "Freezone" on that aching corn. Instantly it stops hurting; then shortly you lift the corn right off with your fingers. You'll laugh, really! It is so easy and doesn't hurt one bit! Works like a charm, every time.

A tiny bottle of "Freezone" costs only a few cents at any drug store, and is sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, and callouses. Try it!



Only 19 Days Left for Ripley Word Hunt

The Boston Evening American-Boston Sunday Advertiser Ripley WORD HUNT is one-third over!

Come next Tuesday and only 15 days will be left for publication of the Ripley WORD HUNT pictures and the hidden descriptions. So, if you are not in this merry hunt, you had better get in now. If you wait until later to join, you'll find it hard to "catch up."

Twenty-five hundred dollars in cash awards, 99 prizes in all, will be given winners in this fascinating game. Of course, you would like some of this money, but how can you get it unless you compete?

All that contestants have to do is to look at the Ripley WORD HUNT pictures which are appearing each day in the Boston Evening American-Boston Sunday Advertiser, find hidden descriptions in the classified section of these papers, and clip and place these descriptions in the proper panels under the Ripley pictures.

Remember you can start now by getting last Sunday's (June 15th) Boston Sunday Advertiser which contains the first six sets (mail 10c plus 2c for postage) and 2c postage plus 2c each for Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday copies of the Boston Evening American. Send your requests for back copies to the Ripley Word Hunt Editor, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston, Mass.

Liquor Government Majority Reduced

St. John, N. B., June 20 (AP)—The Conservative government which in the last session of Parliament replaced prohibition with a law for sale of liquor under government control was returned to power yesterday, although with a reduced majority.

Led by Premier J. B. Baxter, the Conservatives captured 31 seats in the House of Commons, the Liberal opposition won 17. A loss of four seats for the Conservatives.

NAVY PLANS NEW HYBRID SHIP

Washington, June 20 (AP)—Plans for a drastically-different hybrid fighting ship are occupying the Navy's designers. It would be a combination cruiser and aircraft carrier, capable of engaging in a running battle as well as launching more than two dozen airplanes for scouting or combat.

It would be of a radical design in that its large guns and their number would place it in the fighting class, yet a landing platform on its deck would equip it to carry from three to six times as many airplanes as the most modern cruisers now afloat.

Tentative plans for the vessel provide for as many as ten 6-inch guns as well as storage space for the planes. About 70 per cent of the deck would be devoted to a landing platform.

Today, in the real estate columns of the Classified Ads, you will find scores of opportunities for profitable investment.

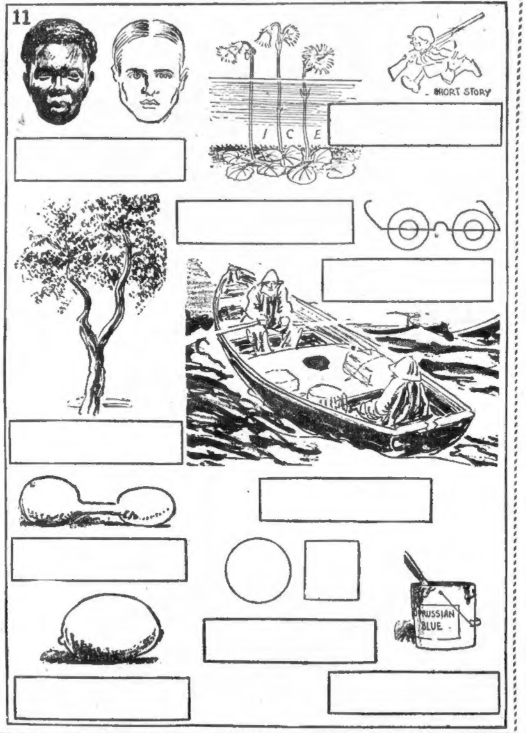
Ripley's "WORD HUNT"

$2500 IN CASH PRIZES Free

Make the "Word Hunt" a family game. Several pairs of eyes are better than one in finding the 10 descriptions to match the pictures, though it is very easy once you get the idea. You may win the capital prize of $1000.00 in cash, but even if you don't, the other big cash prizes are worth trying for. Remember, you can get back numbers of the Boston American for 2c each, plus 2c postage, and June 15 Boston Sunday Advertiser for 10c plus 2c postage.

"BELIEVE IT OR NOT" By Ripley



FOLLOW THESE RULES

1. Everyone is eligible to participate in the "Word Hunt" except employes of the Boston Evening American, Boston Sunday Advertiser, and members of their families.

2. Every day, from June 10 to July 10 (July 4th excepted) ten Ripley "Believe It Or Not" pictures (without descriptions) will be published. The descriptions for each picture will be published in the Classified Ad Columns.

3. The "Word Hunt" consists in finding the descriptions in the Classified Ads, clipping them out, and placing each under the picture to which it refers. The words making up each description will appear in a single unit in one place.

4. Hold all the pictures until you have thirty complete sets of ten each—300 pictures in all. Then send them in to Ripley's "Word Hunt" Editor, Box 183, Boston, Mass.

5. All entries must be postmarked not later than midnight Thursday, July 17. No entries will be returned to sender.

6. Two thousand five hundred dollars in cash prizes, in accordance with the complete prize list published herewith, will be paid to the persons sending in the most nearly correct and neatest complete set of pictures at the close of the "Word Hunt."

7. A committee of judges will be appointed by the Boston Evening American and the Boston Sunday Advertiser to determine the successful contestants. All entrants agree to accept the decisions of these judges as final.

8. It is not necessary to purchase the Boston Evening American and the Boston Sunday Advertiser to compete. This newspaper may be examined at its office or at the public libraries free of charge, and if you wish you may copy or trace the pictures from the Boston Evening American and the Boston Sunday Advertiser and then assemble the sets from the copies you have made.

First Prize	$1000.00
2nd PRIZE	$500.00
3rd PRIZE	200.00
4th PRIZE	100.00
5th PRIZE	75.00
6th PRIZE	50.00
7th PRIZE	25.00
18 PRIZES at $10.00 Ea. Tot.	180.00
74 PRIZES at $5.00 Ea. Tot.	370.00
Total of 99 CASH PRIZES	$2500.00

9. In case there are no complete sets of correct picture descriptions, awards will be given to the persons submitting the largest percentage of correct picture descriptions. In case of a tie, awards will be made on the basis of neatness, judgment and exact accuracy, but if the tie cannot be decided in that way, the tied participants will receive similar awards.

10. The Boston Evening American and the Boston Sunday Advertiser reserve the right to make any change in, or addition to, these conditions that it may deem necessary for fairly and properly conducting this project, and the decision of the Judges on any question which may arise will be absolutely final, and the entering of a participant is a complete acceptance of all conditions and regulations made now or to be made. DO NOT SEND SETS OF PICTURES UNTIL ALL HAVE APPEARED.

NEWS OF PORT OF BOSTON

By CARL MORRISON

The discussion yesterday of port boosters who urge people to sail to and from Boston and then fail to live up to this advice themselves, started much comment.

Several favorable calls were received from such people as the Cunard and North German Lloyd representatives and others who have regular Boston sailings. They agree that the time has come for newspapers to call vigorous attention to the need of patronizing the home port.

An outstanding example of how Boston Chamber of Commerce officials in the past have boomed the port, is seen in the policy of James A. McKibben. For many years he was secretary of the chamber and was largely instrumental in making a success of the new chamber building project.

McKibben goes every summer to Europe with his wife. They take their automobile with them. This retired chamber official ALWAYS USES THE PORT OF BOSTON.

Today's Safety Rule

Rule No. 42 relates to kinky chains and states

"A load shall not be lifted with a chain that has a kink in it. The chain shall be straightened before the lift is made."

Shipping Board Moves

The U. S. Shipping Board office which has been at 75 State st. for the past 10 years, has moved to the fourth floor of the Custom House tower. The principal reason is that no rent is charged the government in the tower. The personnel has also been reduced to 13. Two stevedoring inspectors and one assistant traffic man have been released. A fourth member, T. F. Montgomery, has been transferred to Washington. He was manager of the supply department and hereafter will be assistant to the national director of supplies.

Miscellaneous

The Governor Dingley of the Eastern line will sail next Monday to Newport, R. I., with 150 members of the Eastern Yacht Club and friends who plan to witness the trial yacht races. The steamer will follow the trials and return after the racing, to be back in Boston Tuesday morning.

The final meeting of the season of the Export Club of Boston will be held next Thursday at the Framingham Country club, in the form of a golf tournament. After the dinner the officers will be elected.

Information Wanted

We have been requested to help locate Capt. Howard Johnson, regarding whom a radio news flash early this month mentioned someone on his ship having been washed overboard. Anyone possessing information regarding Capt. Johnson is requested to notify the ship news editor.

Rain or Shine

Reservations are being made for the outing of the Foreign Commerce Club at the Ferncroft Inn for Saturday of next week. A noteworthy feature of the arrangements is that the outing—with the exception of the baseball game—can be held regardless of the weather. The dance hall will hold 400 or more and the banquet hall will seat 700. Every activity except baseball can be held in the large halls, including the "Kentucky Derby." Reservations are being made now.

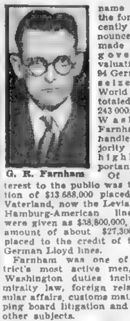
Today's Who's Who

The subject of today's "Who's Who in Boston Harbor" is George R. Farnham, who recently started to practice marine law in the port after a distinguished service as assistant attorney general of the United States.



G. R. Farnham

Farnham's name came to the forefront recently when announcement was made that the governmental valuation of the 94 German ships seized in the World War was totaled at $74,243,000. While in Washington, Farnham had handled the majority of these highly important cases.

Of chief interest to the public was the valuation of $13,688,000 placed on the Vaterland, now the Leviathan. The Hamburg-American line values were given as $38,600,000, while the amount of about $27,300,000 was placed to the credit of the North German Lloyd lines.

Farnham was one of the district's most active men, for his Washington duties included admiralty law, foreign relations, insular affairs, customs matters, shipping board litigation and scores of other subjects.

Farnham at one time was U. S. Attorney for Boston, and worked day and night at the job. He is a member of Boston University alumni, of the Maritime Law Association, and is chairman of the admiralty law division of the American Bar Association.

The former assistant attorney general has become interested in booming the port, and has joined the Chamber maritime association. In his "spare" time he teaches admiralty law at Boston University.

The Weather

For Boston and Vicinity—Partly cloudy and slightly cooler tonight; Saturday fair; moderate southwest to west winds.

For Southern New England: Cloudy, possibly showers in northern Massachusetts; slightly cooler tonight. Saturday mostly fair; fresh southwest winds shifting to west winds.

For Northern New England: Occasional showers tonight or Saturday; not much change in temperature; moderate southwest winds.

For Eastern New York: Partly cloudy with showers in central and northern portions tonight; slightly cooler tonight in central portion. Saturday mostly fair; moderate to fresh west winds.

OCEAN FORECAST.

Steamers departing today for European ports will have fresh west and southwest winds and partly overcast weather to the Grand Banks.

Massachusetts seamen signing up for cruises yesterday included Francis T. Norton of Brookline, Harold M. Wells of West Roxbury, Robert Reid of East Weymouth, E. L. Fletcher of Beachmont and D. Rabinovitz of Chelsea, all for Texas.

Good Export News

All harbor boosting organizations stress that the port needs more exports. A good example of the type of shipments that help Boston is the 1000 tons of general cargo sailing last night on the Quaker City, via Rogers & Webb, for three Scotland ports. The cargo consisted of machinery, flour, binder twine etc. This is the biggest shipment to that country in a long while.

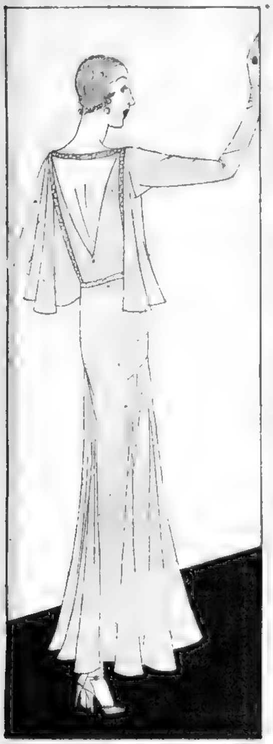
Continental Women Like Greek Draperies



DINNER DRESS of a delicate pastel blue crepe georgette, the band trimming in silver. Note cape-like pieces under arm. It is a Madeleine model. (Sketched in Paris.)

From Paris Bureau, Boston Evening American.

Paris, June 20.

WE ARE still permitted to resemble goddesses by the grace of the couturiers, who recognized in the Greek draperies practical inspiration for ultra modern evening frocks. The modern adaptation of the Greek line has been a singularly successful one, over here at any rate

We have not heard of frocks suggestive of Greek inspiration being as much in demand on your side as it is by the Continental woman. The older woman is particularly addicted to frocks of this type for she feels that they add to her dignity, and are as well as being graceful a combination which very few styles offer.

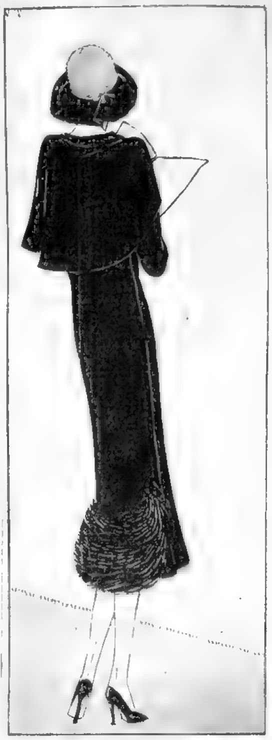
Lately we have seen a few dinner dresses with long, tight sleeves, and as such dresses are something of a novelty, especially during the summer months, we are sending you a sketch of a Madeleine model that is also somewhat classic Greek in inspiration

The fabric is a delicate pastel blue crepe georgette and the band trimming is silver, an ideal color combination The bodice and hip lines are snug, in the latter the fabric is drawn forward in soft folds at the front and caught at the top of gracefully hanging godets. The cape-like pieces under the arm end at the side front just in front of the sleeve seam.

The race course at Longchamp is a pleasant and advantageous vantage point from which to view the outdoor fashion parade, and it is indicative of new trends and ideas, many of which emanate from the brains of a few clever and fashionable women who know a very great deal about chic.

One of the most admired coats seen at Longchamp recently was a caped model of heavy black crepe probably marocain with a silver fox skin placed low on the back bordering the hemline. A slight circular movement is to be found at the front

The cape has an interesting career for it starts as a wide lapel at the right side and deepens to form a real cape in back, the opposite edge ending just on top of the left sleeve The hat is of black milan straw, with a wide overbrim of black felt pleated at the back



CAPED MODEL of heavy black crepe, probably marocain, with silver fox skin placed on back bordering hemline. Hat is of black milan straw. (Sketched in Paris.)

Charming Country As Horse Devotees Flock to Raceland

THE EASTERN HORSE CLUB races, the outstanding social and sporting event in the equine world of New England, came to a brilliant close yesterday at Racelands, the beautiful Framingham estate of Mr. John R. Macomber. The genial host greeted his friends and guests on the terrace and the spirit of informality and good-fellowship was contagious. Although the skies were overcast in the morning, by lunch time they had cleared and the sun shone on the thousands who had gathered to watch the finals. Had it not been for a fresh breeze that blew in from the adjacent woods, the day would have been uncomfortably warm It was a charming country scene, the stables so white and rambling, horses led by the grooms back and forth in the paddock warming up for the events, owners, trainers and jockeys pacing to and fro groups of horse-lovers discussing the merits of their favorites, it was man's day and they looked very much at ease in the picture.

THE LUNCHEON WAS served on the terrace and in the rose garden under gayly striped umbrellas, the roses in the fullness of their blooming, creating a most beautiful setting for the guests in their gay chiffons and smart sports ensembles The table decorations were bachelor buttons and Marguerites, and pretty gypsy girls passed packages of cigarettes appropriate to the occasion, with picture of Peter Wrack, famous winner of the Macomber stables, on the boxes

MONTGOMERY BRADLEY, Scott Brent, Mr. and Mrs. William Dexter, Mrs I Montgomery Sears and Robert G. Stone sailed today from New York on the Olympic for Cherbourg and Southampton. Mr. and Mrs. Potter Palmer of Chicago, who have been stopping at the Ritz, also sailed on the Olympic.

Leaders Attractively Gowned for Last Day of Horse Club Races

THE RACES STARTED AT 3 o'clock and, as the cro strolled toward the track and closure, we noted Mrs. Ro Forbes Perkins, very lovely in small printed chiffon and large transparent hat, chatting wi Mrs. Larz Anderson and Mr. David Gray, the well known author; Eleonora Sears, looking well in sports clothes; Mr. and Mrs. Neil Rice of Hamilton, in the fashionable yellow and brown sports combination; Phyllis Ellsworth, so attractive her costume was forgotten. Also Mr. and Mrs. Albert Burrage, Mrs. Burrage in green and black printed crepe and large black hat very becoming; Miss Peggy Porter with her father, Mr. C. A. Porter. Miss Elizabeth Clarke was in brown and white with large hat, which suited her tall, slender charm, the green and yellow ensemble worn by Mrs. Adnah Neyhart was most becoming, and Mrs. Francis P. Sears' cream batiste frock and turban were quite distinctive

WE SAW SEVERAL 1930-31 debs in and out of the crowd, among them pretty Kitty Burrage and petite Ann Dick. Mr. and Mrs Alvin F Sortwell were there with a large party, Mrs. Sortwell very smart in black and white and Mrs. Henry Lee of Beverly, with Mr George D. Wells of Boston was also smartly gowned in grey crepe de chine with large black hat The special guest of the occasion was the mayor of Framingham, Eng , Mr. W. T. Brunger Mr. William Chamberlain, well known sportsman, was master of ceremonies, and Bayard Tuckerman, without whom no horse event is complete, was chairman of the board of stewards.

ENTRIES FOR THE BERMUDA race, which starts from New London on the morning of June 22, are closed. The list includes 50 yachts in the four classes and among the entries are R W Ferris Malay, of Marblehead which won in her class two years ago John G Alden's new Malabar X also of Marblehead and Everett Morss Black Goose, of Manchester.

Trailing Gowns Face Ban After Rain Episode

By GERTRUDE LADY DECIES

Universal Service Special Cable

Ascot, Eng., June 20—So inconsequential a thing as a summer thunder storm over an English race course promises to decide automatically what women here and in the United States cannot decide for themselves

Long skirts, at least for afternoon wear, must be banned

The running of the Royal Hunt cup Wednesday, Ascot's supreme feature of the season for society, saw a torrential downpour ruin conservatively, $500,000 worth of trailing organdie gowns. They tripped their unaccustomed owners into mud puddles when the women ran for shelter, and were reduced to a total loss in five minutes.

Many society dames and debbies, who had spent $500 on long-skirted gowns, undressed tearfully in their sedans on the way home, wrapping themselves in auto robes and vowing never again to go long-skirted

Fifty per cent of the society women at Ascot who saw Bosworth, Lord Derby's hope, capture the Ascot gold cup, appeared in the "good old" short skirt

A tour of Hanover sq.'s fashionable dressmakers for opinions of the effects of yesterday's disaster netted Reville's comment

"It was a mere trivial episode. The long skirt, for evening and afternoon, has come to stay."

The remark of the chief at Worth's was

"The long skirt mode has come from Paris. A thunderstorm at Ascot cannot alter the vogue."

"The thunderstorm would have been just as disastrous to short skirts," was Lucile's opinion.

But here are the opinions that were gathered elsewhere. Ellen Wilkinson, M. P., said

"The most perfect dress ever evolved reached just below the knee Why alter it?"

C. R. W. Nevinson, famous artist.

"As long as women prefer to appear wealthy rather than beautiful, the long skirts may continue, despite Ascot's lesson. Dressmakers always design for the wealthy."

Lady Cunard

"Long skirts for the day-time are definitely vulgar. All women should take a stand against them."

One dressmaker said that a dress for Ascot demands a minimum of $600 over-all, irrespective of furs, with some of the long skirts themselves costing $500 alone.

Maybe that rainstorm meant something, after all

Spend Honeymoon Cruising Along Coast

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Byron Bennett, married June 17 in the St. James Church, Arlington Heights, will spend some time cruising in their motor boat, Speedwell, and will occupy their summer home at Middleton for the remainder of the season.

The bride was Miss Alice K White daughter of Robert White of Arlington. Mr. Bennett is the son of Mrs. William F. Bennett of West Medford and an alumnus of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

WEATHER HINTS TRAVEL FROM HUB AIRPORT

By GEORGE HAMBLIN

While bad weather almost delayed the start of the Consolidated Airways initial plane to White River Junction yesterday afternoon, everything is in order for the continuance of the service today.

In conjunction with this new line, Curtiss-Wright opens for the summer season its daily service to Cape Cod and Nantucket via Martha's Vineyard. This is the fourth season for the Cape service and Ralph Wickford, chief pilot for the company, will be at the controls of the tri-motored Ford cabin monoplane when it leaves the ground at 5 p. m.

These two lines will make a total of three planes leaving Boston Airport for different points within five minutes of each other every afternoon but Saturday when Curtiss leaves at 1.15 p. m.

TO GO INTO N. H.

With the line all mapped out to White River Junction, Consolidated Airways officials, Jimmie Dickens, general manager, Herbert Folsom and chief pilot Earl Crabb are laying plans for extension of the service to Whitefield, N. H.

Folsom stated that within two weeks another line would be opened by the company between Providence, Boston and Augusta, Maine.

Plans for this air line are still tentative, but an announcement of the service will be made shortly.

RAIN HURTS BUSINESS

The long siege of bad weather has taken its toll of passenger flying on the various liners, but Airport Weatherman A. D. Ross promises fair skies, and a fairly long period of good weather shortly.

George Barry, traffic agent for New England and Western Air Transportation, states that even though the ships have not been flying but a trip every now and then, people continue to call up and reserve seats.

He estimates that as many as 200 prospective passengers have been turned down because of the pranks of the bad weather jinx.

NONE BLAMED IN DEATH OF 16

New Haven, Ct., June 20 (AP)—Blame for the loss of 16 lives in the burning of the freighter Thames in Long Island Sound on April 24 had been lifted today from the shoulders of the officers and crew.

The rapidity of the spread of the fire, says a report signed by Capt. A. R. Chapman and R. C. Colgin of the U. S. board of steamboat inspectors, prevented further safety measures. The ship could not be stopped, it was said, making impossible a successful launching of lifeboats, which upset on launching in rough water.

When You're Stewed Your Nerves Are Hard-Boiled

Ithaca, N. Y., June 20 (AP)—Discovery of the reason why anaesthetics cause unconsciousness was announced today at Cornell University.

They cause nerve cells to become thick and white, like tiny hard-boiled eggs. Oblivion accompanies this change, and consciousness does not return until the cells resume their normal state.

An amazing part of the discovery is that a knockout blow on the head or the coma of narcotics or intoxication produce similar cell changes. Thus the "kick" in a drink is actually in effect like a physical blow. "Boiled," "stewed" and "stiff" applied to drug and drink effects are more than slang—they are the simple truth about changes visible to the eye.

The discoveries link physical states formerly considered quite distinct and open a new field for developing dr[illegible] uses.

They were reported to the eighth colloid symposium by Dr. [illegible] H. Richter, national research fellow at Cornell, who worked under direction of Dr. Wilder D. Bancroft, professor of physical chemistry.

Industrial Leaders Pledge Aid to Hub Exposition

Industrial leaders and manufacturers in many sections of New England are pledging whole-hearted support to the committee in charge of the New England States Century of Progress Exposition, which is to be held in this city during June, 1931, John T. Scully, chairman of the City of Boston Industrial Bureau, announced today.

To date more than 4000 men, active in various lines of industry in this section, have been informed of the proposed exposition by Mr. Scully. During the next few months it is planned to communicate with 9000 other New England manufacturers and enlist their support.

It is estimated by Mr. Scully that the exposition will attract 3,[illegible] visitors to Boston and that the affair will be one of the most successful of its kind ever staged in the United States.

The exposition will be held on an 18-acre lot [illegible] Strandway, South Boston, and will afford New England manufacturers an opportunity to demonstrate to the nation the [illegible] and magnitude of their work.

ALLAN DWAN TO DIRECT 'BARBER JOHN'S BOY' FOR WARNER BROTHERS

GRANT MITCHELL WILL HAVE LEADING ROLE

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
Universal Service Motion Picture Editor

Copyright, 1930, by Universal Service, Inc.

LOS ANGELES, June 20—It keeps us movie scribes busy following Hollywood directors from studio to studio. Allan Dwan, by way of example, last seen at Pathe, is now located on the Warner Brothers' lot, where he is getting ready to direct "Barber John's Boy."

Grant Mitchel, well known New York actor, will play the lead Remember, he created "The Tailor Made Man" on the stage? Phillips Holmes, who did such a fine piece of work in "The Devil's Holiday," has been borrowed from Paramount for the leading juvenile male role

Louella O. Parsons

Darryl Zanuck certainly went on a borrowing spree for "Barber John's Boy He has persuaded Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer to lend them Lucile Powers for the feminine lead. Miss Powers, a newcomer, is an M. G. M discovery Russell Simpson is another selection for this interesting cast.

• • •

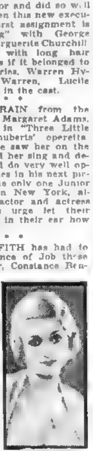
THESE YOUNGSTERS with parents who have achieved success are always in a difficult spot. Whether they like it or not they are pointed out as so and so's son or daughter. Take Edmond Grainger, stalwart, six foot son of the popular Jimmy Grainger of the Fox Company, Edmund Grainger has ability but he has had to work harder than if he hadn't happened to be Jimmy Grainger's boy. He has won his medals and has been made associate producer on all outdoor pictures. Edmund started as an assistant director and did so well that he was given this new executive job. His first assignment is "Fair Warning" with George O'Brien and Marguerite Churchill I saw George with long hair which looked as if it belonged to the outdoor series. Warren Hymer, Ruth Warren, Lucile Brown are also in the cast.

• • •

TODAY'S TRAIN from the East brings in Margaret Adams, who appeared in "Three Little Girls," the Shuberts' operetta Junior Laemmle saw her on the stage and heard her sing and decided she would do very well opposite John Boles in his next picture She is the only one Junior signed while in New York, although every actor and actress with a movie urge let their agents whisper in their ear how good they were

• • •

E H. GRIFFITH has had to have the patience of Job these days. His star, Constance Bennett, has taken her young self to New York, and up to now has shown no sign of returning. Mr. Griffith says he hopes she will come back soon for he wants her very much for the starring role in "In Deens" Pathe, I reckon, also hopes she will return. Miss Bennett makes no secret of her wish she might get out of her contract and hie herself to Paris, but a contract is a contract, and so far there has been no indication of Pathe's giving her her freedom. Constance, I undersand, has promised to make her picture before she crosses the ocean



Constance Bennett

• • •

BEN BERNIE CAN STAND up and take a bow So can the management of the Roosevelt Hotel. The best talent ever assembled in one program honored Mr Bernie's debut with his orchestra at the Hotel. Rose Perfect with a voice so thrilling that Mervyn Le Roy ran after her and asked her to come to the First National studios for a test, Eddie Cantor with his ready wit, Maurice Chevalier with his fascinating accent Joe Frisco with his stuttering lingo, and music that was close to being classical, all were part of the program. In honor of the return of Sigmund Romberg and his wife, Jerome Kern arranged with Ben Bernie what was called "An Omelet of Romberg Airs." These numbers went over well, as did several classical numbers rendered on the violin that made me wonder if Hollyhood's musical tastes aren't changing, for you could have heard a pin drop in that crowded room.

• • •

IF YOU SEE TWO well known figures in the industry with their heads together you generally put two and two together. Well, Carl Laemmle, Jr., and Male St. Clair were dining at the Roosevelt Hotel busily engaged in conversation which Junior said meant a directorial contract Mal will direct "The Command to Love" and the two lads were discussing a cast According to Junior, it's a dificult matter to get just the right girl and the right leading man

• • •

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD collected at random: Mrs Sigmund Romberg, smartly dressed in white satin, much admired. Eddie Cantor entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Chevalier in the Blossom Room. Both Mrs. Chevalier and Mrs. Cantor in white. Mack Sennett with his distinguished looking grey hair, dancing with a pretty girl. Jack Warner coming in for some good-natured razzing by Al Jolson and Joe Frisco. Phyllis Haver in black the guest of honor at a party given by Don Lee. Carmel Myers in green, warmly applauding the music. Florenz Ziegfeld enjoying the show. Mrs. Phyllis Daniels guest of honor at another table. Marie Mosquini in flowered chiffon and pounds thinner, looking like the girl who used to be starred in Hal Roach comedies. Mr. and Mrs. Hal Roach, guests of the Harold Franklins at the same place. That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Andre Beranger in Many Films

The photoplay reviewer acknowledges with the following letter from Philip McDavitt of 268 Geneva ave., Dorchester

"In your review of 'Lilies of the Field,' you referred to a 'comic barber' whose name was not given in the cast. It was Andre Beranger who has proved a laugh riot in all the pictures he played. His first noticeable work was with Bebe Daniels in 'Miss Brewster's Millions.' In this he portrays a motion picture director who attempts to explain the technique of acting and the result is some beautiful burlesque. He appeared in several productions, one of them, 'The Small Bachelor,' in which he was the star. Since the 'talkies,' he has rarely appeared. However, in 'Glad Rag Doll,' the opening sequence was a scene from a play, where a suitor jilted by Dolores Costello shoots himself. Mr. Beranger was the actor who martyrs himself, because of the rebuffs his erotic tendencies receive from the cold-shouldered Mrs. Barrymore."

JACK OAKIE GOES OVER BIG IN 'THE SOCIAL LION'

By HARLEIGH SCHULTZ

A NEW STAR floated into the ken of movie fans yesterday at the Metropolitan. That this personality was of stellar quality has been proven by the way in which he—this happens to be Jack Oakie—'stole' about all the pictures in which he has previously appeared His luminary was bound to flash forth into first magnitude by way of the big lights; so here he is a whale of a hit in "The Social Lion."

• • •

IT'S AN OAKIE picture, which means that the comedian dominates the screen. Jack is practically the whole show As long as he is in view there is never a dull moment and it must be added that A Edward Sutherland has done a splendid job in the direction His cuts are sharp as scene after scene into scene and the action is gloriously snappy

Jack Oakie

Oakie is cast as the boob hero of an adaptation of Marco, Himself by Octavus Roy Cohen. But one thing Marco has is self-confidence He believes that by his faith he can remove mountains. Aspiring for a pugilistic championship, he goes along dashingly until that slow wit of his throws a wrench into the machinery

• • •

Laughs become riotously abundant when Marco, after boasting of his prowess at polo, proves his ability on a pony's back He is inducted into an exclusive club simply because it needs him on its team The producers may have used a double in the actual playing, but there's no doubt for a minute that Jack knows his saddle. Also the shots of him make the game the best polo stuff we ever saw on screen Oakie may be said to get a chuckle out of every chukker

• • •

No less than Skeets Gallagher appears as Oakie's manager Gallagher in his line is as good as the star, but his part subordinates him, naturally enough What he does is mighty well done The sweetie of the piece is Mary Brian, who is girlishly sweet Better than she is Olive Borden, cast as the society vamp Some of the lesser roles are quite ably filled

On stage, the Metropolitan has the Jack Partington revue, "Forward March," with Nina Olivette and other stars

MARION GETS NOVEL 'FAN' LETTER

Although Marion Davies' latest talking picture "The Florodora Girl," now at Loew's State, is a comedy and is said to be brimming over with humor, the best laugh that Marion Davies herself had during the making of the picture was not induced by the film, nor by the quaint costumes and customs of the 'gay nineties." She had her best laugh at a 'fan" letter from a Filipino admirer, she says." The letter follows

In my library many things can be found, such as books which composed of several interesting articles. Magazines and any kind of paper. It is then my only favorite business to read them and look out what is lacking to make it more attractive

"Being a professional showstroller, however, I am come to remembered that the only thing I need most makes my library more better is the Album for collection of any different picture of the beautiful and wonderful actress and actor

"Your amiable quality has inspired me very much, especially that you will come on the screen. Your action is too full of gratitude and appreciation by the public. Would I be fortunate enough to win your regards, that is, you may send me your latest picture. I will be very glad to prepare for you to send a letter of congratulation."

STAGE STARS IN CAST OF FOLLIES

Whether stage folk will supplant old film favorites on the audible screen, seems to have solved itself. Compromise has resulted from the clash of two entirely different schools of technique. Proof of the resulting situation is offered in the cast of principals featured in "The New Movietone Follies of 1930," a musical romance to be seen and heard at the New B. F Keith's tomorrow

The cast includes El Brendel, Marjorie White, Frank Richardson, Noel Francis, William Collier, Jr., and Miriam Seegar.

El Brendel came into pictures less than a year ago after a successful career in vaudeville and musical comedy. Miss White and Richardson have a similar back ground. Miss Francis, too, is from the musical comedy stage

Collier first went on the stage at the age of four and after 14 years, entered pictures, where he has been ever since. Miss Seegar's experience, up until six months ago, was entirely on the stage

Of this entire cast, only one, Collier, Jr., could really be called a picture actor. He is not called upon to sing in "The Movietone Follies." All the singing and dancing are done by persons who have had successful careers in musical comedy. On the other hand, the musical people have very little dramatic acting to do, but confine themselves to the things for which they are best fitted.

LARGE SWEET POTATOES IN MARKET

New sweet potatoes from the south are a feature of the market for the housewife bound on the Sunday dinner shopping expedition. A marked increase in the variety of fresh vegetables is also noted.

The "sweets," large in size, are 15 cents a pound or two pounds for 25 cents. Native cabbage and crook-necked summer squash from nearby farms are present in abundance at low prices. Native peas are in but the California still hold first place at 25 cents a pound.

Native spinach is offered as low as 15 cents a peck. New bunch turnips are 10 cents a bunch, native carrots and beets two bunches for 25 cents.

LETTUCE 10C TO 15C.

Boston lettuce and native iceberg are 10 and 15 cents a head. Flat green beans are 15 cents a pound, two for 25; wax beans are 20 cents and lima beans 35.

Southern green corn is in for the second time, but has little to recommend it at 75 cents a dozen. Native asparagus ranges from 15 to 25 cents for pound bunches. Forty and 50 cents is asked for Hudson river "grass" in double bunch size.

Tomatoes of good quality are obtainable at two pounds for a quarter. Cucumbers are from 10 to 25 cents each, depending on size.

Spring lamb ranges from 38 to 42 cents a pound. Pork loins are from 34 to 36. There is little change in beef prices. Native duckling is 28 and 30 cents, fowl 40 cents, roasting chickens 55 to 58.

SWORDFISH AT 45

Swordfish features the fish market at 45 cents a pound. Butterfish are at 15 cents, mackerel, cod, haddock and flounders at 10. Shrimp are scarce and lobster is going up at 40, 45 and 48 a pound for the live. Eastern salmon is obtainable at 35 and 40 cents.

Malaga and the small seedless grapes from California are new in the market. They bring 40 and 45 cents a pound. Large cherries are 50 cents. Plums are 20, 30 and 40 cents a dozen. Georgia clingstone peaches are $1.25 for two-dozen baskets. Grapefruit are 18 to 25 cents and oranges from 60 to $1.25.

Blueberries at 45, 55 and 60 cents a quart, raspberries at 40 cents a pint and native strawberries at 25 to 40 cents a quart are features of the berry market.

RADIO DEALERS HOLD BANQUET

The 3rd annual banquet of the Radio Wholesalers Club, Inc., at Hotel Statler, last night, climaxed the second day of the New England Radio Trade Show. More than one hundred distributors and guests attended.

Hollis Vaughn, president of the club, thanked the press for their co-operation and after a rising vote of thanks a few words were said by James Ago, chairman of the show committee.

As was the custom at the past banquets, no speeches were in order.

SCHOOL HEAD IS OUSTED AS HE LEADS MARCH

Stoughton, June 20—While Supt. of Schools Frank A. Morris was leading the grand march with his wife at the reception to the senior class at the Stoughton High School at the Town Hall here last night the school board gathered in a room directly beneath the reception hall, unanimously voted to fire him as head of the public schools.

The decision of the school board came as the fulfillment of a warning issued by that body to the superintendent 30 days ago and was expected.

So certain, in fact, was the superintendent that the board would ultimately arrive at that decision, that he had already issued recall proceedings against all of its members, resulting in the resignation of one and the forcing of the remaining four into standing before the townspeople for re-election at a special election to be held late next month or early in August.

Warren Girl Killed as Auto Overturns

Spencer, June 20 (AP)—Miss Nina Griswold, 30, of Warren, was killed last night when an automobile in which she was riding with Timothy M. Crowley, Albert Graymore and Miss Hazel Rice, all of North Brookfield, overturned on a dirt road leading to Myrick Park and she suffered a broken neck. The others escaped injury.

300 ENTER FOR BABY HONORS IN SHOW

With a registration of more than 300 babies, all indications point to success for the baby show of the Winthrop Community Hospital tomorrow, June 21, in the Junior high school. Registration has been limited to babies under 40 months of age and to those who have been born in the Winthrop Community Hospital.

Nine gold prizes have been prepared in addition to four special gold prizes. The contestants have been divided into six groups by age and prizes will be awarded strictly upon a basis of health. Miss Leona White, superintendent of the Chelsea Memorial Hospital; Dr. Michele Nigro of Revere and Mrs. Frank L. Sullivan, president, the Revere Visiting Nurse Association, Revere, are the judges.

The six-year-old triplet sons of Mr. and Mrs. Emmons A. Waldron of Revere, Stuart, Lester and Edison, will be guests of honor, with Louis B. Pierce Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis B. Pierce of Winthrop. Master Pierce was the first child born in the Winthrop Community.

The domestic help problem is solved by taking a kitchenette apartment and the best are advertised daily in the For Rent columns.

Gets Through

POLICE REPORTS are that John H. Merrick, secretary to Herbert H. Wilson before Wilson was let out as police commissioner, is himself out of his $5000 job. Merrick is on vacation. Commissioner Hultman will pick his own secretary.

MERRICK WILL QUIT POLICE POST

John H. Merrick, secretary to the police commissioner since 1922, when Herbert A. Wilson was appointed, will resign next month when his vacation of 30 days expires, it was learned last night.

Commissioner Hultman, when questioned last night as to whether he had demanded the resignation of Secretary Merrick, who is an attorney, refused to make any comment other than to say that the secretary was now on a vacation for 30 days.

From those close to police circles it was learned that Commissioner Hultman will make an effort to only until he became acquainted with the work of the office. Shortly after he was made police commissioner he took the greater part of Merrick's power from him by turning over all law work of the department to the corporation counsel of the city.

It is believed that Commissioner Hultman will make an effort to get Mayor Curley's permission to borrow Herbert J. Hickey, executive secretary of the fire department, for a year.

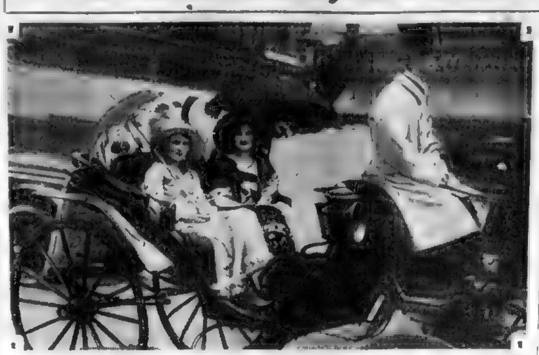
Do You Remember Away Back When--?



CROWDS ENJOYED a peep at this touch of the good old days of the 90's, as this carriage went through the streets of downtown Boston yesterday. It was a representation of what you see in the Marion Davies feature, "The Florodora Girl," now being shown at the Loew's State Theater. At left you see Miss Helen Lawler, and at the right Miss Alice Korites. Herbert Hall is the coachman. (Staff photo.)

NINETIES' GIRLS STOP TRAFFIC

Believe it or not, the gay nineties were the fashion again yesterday when two pretty young women, garbed in the fashion of another generation, rode throughout the downtown district in an open victoria.

Helen Lawlor and Alice Korites commandeered Herbert Hall, resplendent in top hat and fawn-colored livery, and with their colorful parasols protecting them from the sun, toured through the shopping and business centers.

Crowds gathered wherever the unique carriage stopped in traffic. The ride was sponsored by Loew's State Theater, where the gay and naughty nineties are pictured in Marion Davies' romance, "The Florodora Girl."

LARRY'S LOVING

NEW YORK—When Larry Gould writes his sweetheart he doesn't know what he is going to say and when he has finished he doesn't know what he has said. Such was Rear Admiral Byrd's preface to his own remarks at a banquet. He was referring to his second in command, Dr. Lawrence M. Gould, geologist of the Antarctic expedition.

VANDERBILTS

NEWPORT, R. I.—A Vanderbilt family reunion is starting with the Harvard-Yale regatta. Mrs. Muriel Vanderbilt Church is entertaining at her home for the first time her father, William K. Vanderbilt, his bride, the former Rosamond Lancaster Warburton, and [illegible] Mrs. Earl E. T. Smith, [illegible] Mrs. Smith's sister.

IN LOVE

NEW YORK—Brooklyn's bachelor pastor, who has several times described his difficulties in remaining unmarried, is to wed. The Rev. Dr. Henry C. Offerman, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, is engaged to Miss Grace Altenau, a beauty, who helped carry the daisy chain at Adelphi College.

WED IN U. S.

BALTIMORE — Two doctors, members of high Chinese families, have married. Feng Djen Djan, Ph. D., is the bride of Tsung Nyi, who has received the degree of doctor of jurisprudence at Stanford. Both have been studying recently at Johns Hopkins.

SMOCKED

WASHINGTON—Representative Edith Nourse Rogers is wearing a smock in the House in hot weather. It is black with white collar and cuffs and was made by girl constituents.

RECRUIT TRIBES IN INDIA WAR

London, June 20 (AP)—Indian dispatches indicate that trouble with tribesmen on the northwestern frontier continues, notwithstanding elaborate precautions and military operations.

A Lahore dispatch to the Daily Mail said anxiety continues, Indian Nationalist propaganda having led the tribes to believe British rule was passing. The air force, artillery and infantry were said to be co-operating in putting down the movement.

The correspondent also said there was widespread belief that one of the sons of former King Amanullah of Afghanistan was recruiting an army among tribesmen for an advance into India.

Smithy Given Extra Work as Penance

HOW THE STORY STARTS

When Helen Smith, nicknamed "Smithy," first joined the ambulance corps and went to France her nerves were shattered by the terrible sights of wounded soldiers, but she soon became hardened. Smithy shares a room with five girls, among them Tosh, rough, good-natured idol of the convoy. General conditions are bad enough, but a tyrannical commandant, whom Tosh christened "Mrs. Itch," adds to the hardships. A sick girl is forced to drive in the rain.

CHAPTER 9

Cleaning an ambulance is the foulest and most disgusting job it is possible to imagine. We are unanimous on this point. Even yet we hardened old-timers cannot manage it without "catting" on exceptionally bad mornings.

We do not mind cleaning the engines, doing repairs and keeping the outsides presentable—it is dealing with the insides we hate.

The stench that comes out as we open the doors each morning nearly knocks us down. Pools of stale refuse from the poor wretches we have carried the night before, corners the sitters have turned into temporary lavatories for all purposes, blood and mud and vermin and the stale stench of stinking trench feet and gangrenous wounds.

No Blame
They Cannot Help It

Poor souls, they cannot help it. No one blames them. Half the time they are unconscious of what they are doing, wracked with pain and jolted about on the rough roads for, try as we may—and the cases all agree the women drivers are 10 times more thoughtful than the men drivers—we cannot altogether evade the snow-covered stones and potholes.

How we dread the morning clean-out of the inside of our cars, we gently-bred, educated women they insist on so rigidly for this work that apparently cannot be done by women incapable of speaking English with a public school accent!

"Our ambulance women take entire control of their cars, doing all running repairs and all cleaning."

This appeared in a signed article by one of our head officials in London, forwarded to me by mother last week. It was entitled "Our Splendid Women." I wondered then how many people comfortably reading it over the breakfast table realized what that "all cleaning" entailed.

None, I should imagine, much less the writer of the muck. Certainly we ourselves had no idea before we got here.

I wonder afresh as I don my overalls and rubber boots. I know what to expect this morning after that poor wretched soul I carried on my last trek to No. 13, who will be buried by one of us today.

I am nearly sick on the spot at the sight greeting me, but I have no time for squeamishness. I have Commandant's bus in addition to my own to get through.

The snow is coming down pretty heavily now, the waterproof sheet over my bonnet is full, and the red cross over the front of the driving seat totally obscured by a white pall. Blue-nosed, blue-overalled drivers in knee-high waterproof boots are diligently carrying buckets of water and getting out cloths in readiness for the great attack. The smell of disinfectant is everywhere. No one speaks much. It is a wretched morning and the less one talks the sooner one will be out of these whirling flakes.

Inside Clear
After Water Deluge

The inside of my ambulance is at last cleared of its filth. I swill it with water. More water. Now with disinfectant. I examine it minutely. Commandant's 11 to 12 inspection is no idle formality. She goes over every square inch of each ambulance, inside and out, the engines are revved up, the tyre pressures tested, everything.

With all her faults, she knows her job. If only she had a little heart she would be an ideal woman for this sort of work. Why is it that women in authority almost invariably fall victims to megalomania?

Now for the engine. I start up after ten minutes' hard work, for the engine is stone cold. Something is wrong. A choked carburetor? I clean it. No better. She doesn't seem to be getting the petrol quickly enough. A dirty feed? Or a valve? I test the valves. They are O. K. It must be the petrol line. It is.

THRONG SEES RESCUE IN MIDAIR

Joseph Puleo in Critical Condition as Result of South Station Injuries

At work on a girder 80 feet above the tracks in the South Station, three men were struck by a boom today and one is in a critical condition at the Haymarket Relief Station.

The injured:

Joseph Puleo, 41, 131 Dana ave., Hyde Park, married, with three children. His name is on the danger list and his leg may have to be amputated.

Joseph Fitzgerald, 80 Malden st., South End, injured back, treated at the relief station.

Joseph Burge, Cambridge, fingers crushed, treated at the hospital and sent home.

The morning rush-hour crowds were passing through the station at the time and hundreds stopped to watch the rescue of the three men from their precarious perch after they were injured.

Fitzgerald held Puleo to keep him from falling and John McDonough of 35 Broadway, Everett, a fellow steelworker, rode up on the boom to bring him to the ground. The other two were also brought down in this maner. Puleo was unconscious.

The men were employed by the Boston Bridge Construction Company in the work of removing the old train shed over the South Station tracks.

CHECKS SPREAD OF DIPHTHERIA

Theodore A. Hoch, superintendent of the Northampton State Hospital, today declared that the outbreak of diphtheria at the institution under his charge has been effectively checked.

Hoch was seen today on a visit to the state department of mental diseases at the State House and:

"It has not been definitely determined what the source of the infection was. There is a possibility that it came from outside the institution, but this is difficult to determine. The first positive case of infection was found in an attendant. Approximately 24 hours later a new patient was reported infected. All of the cases are mild, however, and in addition to the isolation of all persons infected, treatments are being given to everyone connected with the institution."

In all, the number of cases reported was 23, he disclosed.

TWO INJURED IN CHELSEA AUTO CRASH

Driver of One Car Disappears After the Collision at Eastern and Crescent Aves.

Two persons were injured in a rear-end collision of autos early today at Eastern and Crescent aves., Chelsea.

The driver of one car, alleged by the police to be John Coughlin of Lexington st., East Boston, disappeared after the accident, police say. A search for him was ordered.

The auto, alleged to have been driven by Coughlin, is owned by Ferdinand Olson of Watson rd., Quincy. His brother, Arny Olson, said he borrowed the car to visit friends in East Boston and, in turn, loaned it to Coughlin, whom he knew.

Peter Moratto, 11, of Chelsea st., East Boston, riding with Coughlin was taken to Chelsea Memorial Hospital, where 10 stitches were taken in his face.

Miss Angeline Mennella of Chelsea st., East Boston, and her sister Lena, were passengers in the second car, which was operated by their brother, Charles, of Chelsea st. Miss Angeline received injuries to the back and was taken to her home. Lena escaped with a few bruises, as did Charles. Their car was wrecked.

PLAN LEGION AUXILIARY FILM AS WARNING

State Department Is Told by Mrs. Macrae That America Must Fight for Peace

By NANCY BREWSTER

The continued unpreparedness of America is appalling and an adequate national defense is the only peace assurance, Mrs. Mary Virginia Macrae, national president of the American Legion Auxiliary, told members of the state department auxiliary in convention at Swampscott today.

To teach the lesson of preparedness the national auxiliary is planning the production of a feature talking motion picture to illustrate what might happen to the United States in another war, she revealed.

The plan will be placed before the American Legion and auxiliary national convention in Boston in October.

TELLS WOMEN'S DUTY.

A prominent playwright will be drafted to prepare the story to be pictured and the best actors and actresses of the screen will have parts. Under present plans the picture would be distributed under auspices of the American Legion for showing in every city and town in the United States.

Mrs. Macrae addressed upwards of 500 members of the state auxiliary during the course of the second day's events of a three-day program at the New Ocean House.

"If women are to prove their devotion to soldiers who died in the World War, and if they are to prevent a wholesale slaughter in any future wars, they must give their whole-hearted support to a policy of adequate national defense," she declared.

MUST FIGHT FOR PEACE

She did not discuss the tri-powered naval treaty but termed American national defense in general inadequate for security. She advocated a national defense program with "speakers who are not lukewarm but who will pound home the lesson into the heads of their audiences."

"We have the largest coastal line to protect, the greatest wealth in the world to preserve and so far as I can discern nobody likes us. America must take care of itself and we of America must take care of ourselves, and if necessary we must fight for peace," she said.

"We, as the auxiliary, want peace more than any other organization of women, but we don't want it at the expense of great loss of life.

CITES RED PERIL.

"We've been through the horror of war. If war should come again, and nobody dare say it will not, we must send our sons fully trained and fully prepared."

She declared the hold that radical pacifism and sovietism is gaining on American youth in some sections of the nation is appalling and to combat it she declared the auxiliary, in its various state departments, must give every co-operation to the Reserve Officers Training Corps, the Citizens Military Training Camps, the Boy Scouts and the Girl Scouts.

Mrs. Macrae came from Des Moines to address the meeting.

Rehabilitation, Americanism and child welfare were outlined for future activity at the convention. Delegates were informed that 25,000 war veterans died in the United States during the last year.

UNFOLD 300 YEARS OF MEDFORD HISTORY IN MONSTER PAGEANT

1500 TO TAKE PART IN TWO WEEKS FETE

Hold Final Rehearsal for the "Pageant of the Mystic" Tomorrow

Final dress rehearsal of the "Pageant of the Mystic," in which nearly 1500 Medford residents will participate on six evenings of the next two weeks, will be held tomorrow night on the Brooks estate, West Medford, which is to be the scene of the actual presentation.

Performances will be given on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evening of next week and the following week.

Three hundred years of Medford's history are to be unfolded in the municipal pageant which is being given in observance of Medford's own tercentenary and that of the Massachusetts Bay Colony.

Mrs. Ruth Dame Coolidge, wife of former Mayor Richard B. Coolidge of Medford, wrote and arranged the various scenes. Mrs. Sheppard Brooks has turned over her estate to the city for its presentation. Rehearsals have been under way for several weeks under the direction of Leslie G. Carey, head of the dramatic department of Medford high school.

TELL HISTORY OF CITY.

Medford from the day of the arrival of the first white man up to the present will be told in four episodes with prologue and epilogue. There will be amplified dialogue in the production and a system of amplifiers has been installed on the pageant grounds to carry every voice in the scenes to the farthermost points of the grounds.

Opening with a prologue the Mystic Indians are seen in a typical Indian village. Follows a song by the chorus and a scene showing the Dance of the Mystic with dancing maidens typifying the ebb and flow of the tides of the Mystic River.

First episode deals with colonization of Medford and is divided in five [illegible] deals with [illegible] of Colonial life in Medford, [illegible] ness, social, educational, and religious life and the carrying out of the laws with stocks and ducking stool.

The third episode shows the period of the Revolution, opening with Mrs. Sarah Bradlee Fulton and Mrs. Nathaniel Bradlee, now famous in Colonial history, and Medford residents of those days protecting their husbands after the Boston Tea Party. Then comes Paul Revere's ride, for the famous Colonist rode over the bridge into Medford town to arouse the Minute Men.

BREAK GROUND FOR CANAL.

Col. Loammi Baldwin is shown in the fourth episode, breaking ground for the Middlesex canal, which wound through Medford from the shores of the Mystic over the line of Middlesex County to Lowell. Next comes Thatcher Magoun, pioneer shipbuilder, and the establishment of shipyards in Medford.

In the epilogue activities of the city are brought up to the present time in song and story. Medford appropriated $1[illegible] for the celebration of its Tercentenary [illegible] and most of this [illegible] expended in the Pageant of the M[illegible]

PORTRAITS OF COLONISTS

An important contribution of the Museum of Fine Arts to the tercentenary celebration materialized yesterday afternoon with the opening of the loan exhibition of 100 colonial portraits in the painting department.

The portraits represent distinguished men and women of colonial times and illustrate some of the best work of many leading painters working in New England before the Revolution. The exhibition will last until Sept. 21.

Of scarcely less interest is a special display of early silver church services and domestic pieces made by colonial silversmiths on view in one of the galleries of the new wing adjoining the McIntire rooms.

CAN CHECK EYE FOR BODILY AILMENTS

Blood Circulation Reveals Disorders in Early Stages

The optometrist is now the watchdog of health.

With his perfected instruments he can see the flow of blood in the veins and arteries of the eye and can tell if a person is in need of medical attention even before the individual himself is aware of the need.

Dr. Walter I. Brown of New Bedford, who has been attending the annual congress of the American Optometric Association in session at the Statler, is an authority on this branch of public health service and has just been presented with a gold medal by the association for his valuable research work.

"Previous to the time the microscope was perfected an eye could not be examined for disease unless an operation were performed on it," Dr. Brown declared. "Now the minute changes visible in the circulation of blood in the eyes show physical disorders not otherwise known.

"When you see double it is because your eyes do not properly focus and you see two images at the same time. A deviation from the normal of blood movement in the eyes frequently is the first possible indication of a change elsewhere in the body, which the diagnosis of a doctor can then ascertain and relieve."

Three methods of testing a person's eyes are by the opthalmoscope, the bio-microscope, and a test to determine individual limits of perception for white and colored objects.

Seeks Health Via Eyes

DRAPER CALLS BREAK INTO OFFICE ANOTHER SPYING CAMPAIGN

SOME PAPERS DISTURBED, HE SAYS

Valuable Documents and Lists of Names Were Locked Up Elsewhere

By BERNARD J. DOHERTY

Closely guarded for several days, news of a break at the Statler building headquarters of Eben S. Draper, candidate for the Republican nomination for U. S. Senator, leaked out today causing a furore in political circles.

Draper, when seen, reluctantly admitted that a forced entrance had been made and that the broken end of a key had been found in the lock of the door. Although there was evidence that some papers had been disturbed, he said, valuable documents including lists of names locked up in a separate compartment, were undisturbed.

The former state senator refused to comment on the affair other than to state that the break was on a par with some wire tapping discovered during the campaign two years ago when he ran for the senatorial nomination in a three cornered contest with B. Loring Young and Butler Ames.

WOMEN ACTIVE

With the warming up of the campaign, organization work within the G. O. P. ranks, particularly among the women, has reached a high pitch of efficiency.

Mrs. Frank Roe Batchelder, vice chairman of the Republican State Committee, disclosed that [illegible] Women's Republican clubs have been organized throughout the state and more are being added daily.

"This represents an increase of 100 per cent in women's clubs," she said. "I think these clubs will exercise a tremendous influence in the election. In every one of these new organizations, racial groups are being recognized as never before."

Mrs. Batchelder expressed confidence that the great bulk of the 200,000 new voters since the election, two years ago, will find their way into the Republican fold.

While the future political plans of State Treasurer John W. Haigis of Greenfield, who has announced he will not run for renomination for his present office is causing some uneasiness within G. O. P. circles, prominent leaders are not getting excited over talk that he may enter the Republican primary fight for U. S. Senator.

70,000 PLEDGE CARDS

The spirit of optimism that prevails in the camp of William M. Butler, Draper's opponent for the Senate, continues unabated. In 29 days' work, more than 70,000 pledge cards for Butler have been received at his headquarters at the Hotel Bellevue, it was given out.

So confident are his followers, in fact, that they are going ahead with plans for the election.

A general committee of 500 is being organized and his speaking engagements, all invitations, call for 117 appearances.

WALTHAM WILL INVITE MAYOR

Following the example of other cities of Greater Boston that are observing the Tercentenary, Mayor Patrick J. Duane of Waltham has announced that he will mail an invitation this week to the mayor of the Watch City's mother town, Waltham Cross, Hertfordshire County, England, to be the guest of the city of Waltham at its Tercentenary river pageant on August 12.

Although there are several Walthams in England (Waltham Waltham Cross, Waltham Abbey, and others) E. Allen Peirce of the Waltham Tercentenary committee has decided after investigation that his city's name was derived from Waltham Cross.

According to Peirce's historic gleanings, the settlers of Waltham and Watertown here brought with them large numbers of farmers from Waltham Cross, England, and it is this fact that leads the Waltham Tercentenary committee to believe that their city was named after that particular Waltham of England.

Steamer Chartered for Yacht Trial Races

Flying the flags of the Eastern Yacht Club and of Commodore Charles P. Curtis, the Eastern steamship liner Governor Dingley will sail Sunday from Marblehead and Boston for Newport, R. I., carrying more than 150 members of the club and friends.

Her objective will be the trial yacht races on Monday, in which the Resolute, Vanitie Yankee Enterprise, Whirlwind and Weetamoe will participate. The Governor Dingley after taking members aboard at Marblehead will stop at Central wharf, Boston, for an additional party. Marion Chase's Eastern Yacht Club Orchestra will make the trip. The steamer will follow the yacht race and return so as to arrive here early Tuesday morning.

SCHOOL HEADS PLAN CURB ON PARTIES

Regulation of Everett High Socials Sought After Parents Complain

As a result of parents' complaints that students have remained out until early morning at Everett high school parties, the Everett school committee will be asked to draw up regulations governing the conduct of all dances and socials at the school.

It is planned to supply parents with copies of these regulations when school reopens next September.

When school officials received complaints about a recent dance they investigated and learned that many Everett high boys and girls had not reached home until early morning, although the affair ended at 11 o'clock.

Mrs. Lillian W. Carter, chairman of the school committee, interviewed girl pupils, including a number whose parents had complained. As a result of what she learned it was decided to ask regulations for conducting school parties.

Although a dance held in connection with commencement activities was dismissed at 11 o'clock, Mrs. Carter says parents complained that daughters arrived home at two o'clock in the morning.

While such functions are not directly under control of school authorities, Mrs. Carter believes that when they are held under the auspices of the school or a class and with sanction of the school authorities the parents should be informed regarding the hours of the dance. She says that while school authorities are responsible for the students only while they are attending school there is an obligation to keep parents informed of conditions.

Musical selections were rendered by Charles P. Eaton and Robert C. Barrett, soloists. A certificate from the pianoforte tuning department was presented to Armand J. Michaud and six certificates from the manual training department were awarded the following: Mary H. Doyle, Barbara F. Eaton, Eva M. Gagnon, Zarechie Kazanian, Juliet L. Heureux and Mary Statuta.

Snow Storm for Hub in October, Says A. Legion

Boston can hardly promise a real snow storm to visitors for the October convention of the American Legion, because of the date, but through a visiting delegation there may be something just as colorful.

The Department of Mississippi is going to bring here as souvenirs 200,000 cotton balls. When these soft white balls are showered upon Boston, especially on parade day, at least part of the city will think it is in the midst of a snow storm or snow ball battle.

Truck Rams Street Car in Malden

Because oil leaked into the hydraulic brakes on his truck, the machine of John Dubois of Manchester, N. H., crashed into a trolley car at Pleasant and Dartmouth sts., Malden, late yesterday.

The truck was badly damaged. No one was injured.

22 NURSES GET DIPLOMAS

Twenty-two nurses were graduated yesterday from the Beth Israel Hospital School of Nursing at exercises in the hospital auditorium attended by more than 500 persons.

The speakers were Albert A. Ginzberg, president of the hospital; Miss Josephine A. Mulville, principal of the school of nurses, and Dr. Charles F. Wilinsky, director of the hospital. Miss Anna Kaufman of Amesbury, a member of the class, was awarded the Kaufman medal symbolic of the highest efficiency in the theory and practice of nursing during the entire course. Miss Leah Nataupsky of Chelsea, another member of the class, received honorable mention for her work during the course. On June 28 a reception will be given to the graduating nurses by Mrs. Louis E. Kirstein at Thorn Hedge, Devereux.

The graduates are the Misses Rose Berman, Gertrude Chatow, Ruth Cropeau, Evelyn Ellsdorff, Sara Goldenberg, Sara Jacobs, Anne Kaufman, Rose Kirsner, Rose Klatsky, Sadie Less, Bessie Levine, Leah Nataupsky, Sally Nuttall, Gertrude Petrofsky, Eliza Preston, Etta Rezepter, Ellen Sheenan, Rosaline Silverman, Celia Sirkin, Bessie Stilberg, Anne Lucy Starr and Gertrude Sullivan.

FIVE NEW COPS IN MALDEN

Five additional regular patrolmen were appointed to the Malden police department at roll call today by Commissioner Sweezey. Two are college graduates.

They are John P. Foley, 18 Marshall st.; Owen P. Doonan, Jr., 90 Highland ave.; James J. Harris, 35 Ripley st.; John J. Buckley, 213 West st., and John M. Hopkins, 129 Granite st.

Foley won the $10 cash award for meritorious service last month for discovering and extinguishing a fire in the Kaulback building. He is a nephew of the late Capt. Timothy J. Foley, who was head of the Malden department for years.

Doonan is a graduate of St. Anselm's College, while Buckley is a graduate of Boston College. Foley and Harris are ex-service men and all five are former Malden high athletes.

AMATEUR BAND AT CONCLAVE

A feature of the 47th annual convention of the National Association of Master Plumbers which takes place in this city June 23-26, will be the performances of the Kohler Band of Kohler, Wis.

This band, characterized as one of the outstanding amateur musical organizations in the Middle West, is strictly a volunteer band and is sponsored by the Kohler Recreation Club.

In addition to the senior band of 40 pieces, the junior band of 30 pieces, the members comprising of 22 boys and eight girls from 10 to 16 years old. The band will give concerts on Boston Common and in Mechanics building.

Residents to Fight One-Man Trolleys

Claiming the lives and safety of children as well as travelers and pedestrians are endangered by the substitution of "one-man cars" on the Gladstone st. line, East Boston citizens will hold a protest meeting at 8 o'clock this evening in Orient Heights American Legion Hall.

The meeting will be sponsored by the Orient Heights Post 54, American Legion.

Congressman John J. Douglas, Commander Frank Sacco, Alexander Sullivan and others will speak.

Two Men Arrested in Liquor Cleanup

Police of the East Dedham st. station yesterday started their third day's offensive against liquor resorts with reinforced [illegible] squads.

As a result of the day's activities [illegible] gallons of liquor and a large collection of bottles, cans and other equipment were seized and two men placed under arrest for violation of the liquor law. Another arrest as a result of the discovery of [illegible] in a lodging house on Massachusetts ave. is expected to follow today.

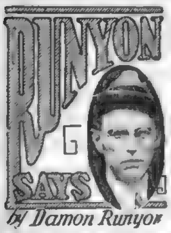
Schmeling Gives Answer to Sharkey Today



by Damon Runyon

Copyright [illegible] Service Inc

NEW YORK, JUNE 20—I note in the public prints that several authorities are now recalling a number of suggestions I offered before the Sharkey-Schmeling fight to minimize the possibility of a foul finish, and are finding that these suggestions might reasonably have been applied to that celebrated engagement.

Well, I breathed them into the shell-like ears of some of our great august potentates of the boxing game, and they only said "yes, yes," and "maybe you're right," but with an air of disinterestedness that cooled my ardor. And as they didn't seem to get heated up, I finally muttered to myself:

"Why should I care what happens to those trambos once they get in there?" and forthwith ceased my crusade.

But I say to you that all this foul business is so [illegible] that its continuance [illegible] to the [illegible] of our present system. Here is what [illegible] done in the [illegible] fight:

(A) Put four judges at the ringside.

(B) Put white trunks and dark gloves, or white gloves and dark trunks on the gladiators.

(C) Give the fouled fighter 30 minutes rest, and an examination by three reputable physicians, and make him continue fighting if they found him capable of so doing.

Runyon Suggests Four Judges for Bouts

LET ME SHOW YOU THE logic of this last proposition.

NOT ONE IN A HUNDRED FOULED FIGHTERS IS UNABLE TO LEAVE THE RING UNDER HIS OWN STEAM AND NOT ONE IN A HUNDRED FOULED FIGHTERS FAILS TO COMPLETELY RECOVER AFTER REACHING HIS DRESSING ROOM.

And only an arrant coward and a rank quitter would feign injury beyond a 30-minute rest, in my opinion, granting that he was hurt at all.

I first brought forward the idea of four judges at the ringside before the Scott-Sharkey fight at Miami, suggesting it to Mr. James J. Johnston, the old boy bandit.

It is my argument that four umpires, all posted on the [illegible] have served to minimize questionable decisions in the World's Series, and that four judges would do the same for boxing bouts.

Mr. Johnston thought it was a good idea, but it appealed to him more strongly AFTER the Scott-Sharkey fight than before. With four judges calling it [illegible] Mr. Johnston's bloke would [illegible] have been in there [illegible] ing for the [illegible] Sharkey.

There was mighty [illegible] about Sharkey [illegible] but the four [illegible] eliminated all [illegible] developed while the referee was canvassing the situation.

WITH A JUDGE TO EACH OF the four sides of the ring three of the judges must have seen that foul punch unless [illegible] It may have been [illegible] that side of the ring [illegible] Sharkey had his back [illegible] it was plain to most of the spectators on the other three sides.

Fighter Who Fouls Should Be Penalized

I AM CONVINNCED THAT some financial penalty [illegible] against the fighter who does the fouling, the amount to be determined—not by the number of rounds fought, but by the question of intent, as determined by the referee.

That is to say, I do not believe that a fighter who fouls accidentally should be as severely penalized as one who deliberately fouls, especially after warning from the referee.

A shrewd referee can generally tell when a foul is accidental or intentional. I thought Sharkey's fouling of Schmeling was accidental enough but that the punch he threw was silly, under the circumstances.

The thing I am unable to understand about Sharkey is why he gets so mad at the victims of his fouls. He seems to take it as a personal grievance that they do not [illegible] and let him belt 'em illegally.

I see where they are trying to rematch Sharkey and Schmeling for a September date. I doubt if this will materialize. In the first place Schmeling would be a chump to fight Sharkey again before he learns a little more about fighting, and in the second place it would be a violation of championship tradition if Schmeling fought again that soon and I am not sure that the country could stand the shock.

Canton Checked

Morrie Wilson of Erie held Canton to three hits on May 29, to score a 4 to 1 victory. The Terriers did not get a run over the plate until after two were retired in the ninth.

HARVARD '33 JAYVEE CREWS BEAT YALE

sweeping since the Crimson won its last varsity contest in 1927.

The twin setback, however, failed to shake the general confidence that Yale would capture the blue ribbon prize of the regatta in the four mile varsity pull down stream this evening. The Elis ruled top heavy favorites for the big race, scheduled to start at 7.30 daylight time.

The Harvard freshmen came up fully to expectations in their cleanest triumph in the opening event. This powerful boatload, a heavy favorite, rowed a very confident [illegible] race from start to finish.

The Crimson cubs had nearly a length lead [illegible] after the first [illegible]. They increased their [illegible] lengths as they swept past the submarine base, with the Yale [illegible].

Although [illegible] Harvard's youngsters were content to hold their margin, after adding another half length to it for good measure in a closing burst of speed between close packed lanes of cheering crowds [illegible].

JUNIORS IN BATTLE

[illegible] Yale [illegible] jump on [illegible] battle [illegible] the course. [illegible] lost in the first 440 yards as the [illegible] started poorly.

Harvard maintained [illegible] slight lead down the first half-mile. Yale, however, put on a spurt a quarter of a mile from the submarine base, half way mark, but failed to decrease the Crimson's lead.

Harvard met this challenge with a higher stroke and began to pull away from the Elis until the Crimson shell was a full length ahead.

TERRIFIC FINISH

Yale put on a great sprint shortly afterward to [illegible] this lead [illegible] than a length. Yale for [illegible] time of the race was rowing a faster stroke than the Crimson.

As they pulled with a will down the last mile, it looked like anybody's race. Yale was rowing at a 35 beat, a little faster than Harvard, as the finish line came into sight.

Harvard pushed up its stroke [illegible] to be pulling [illegible]

Harvard had not won either morning race of its regatta with Yale since 1926, and some Crimson adherents were taking the double victory as a good omen for the varsity in the big classic this evening.

[illegible] had been expected [illegible] had been a pre[illegible]

CROWD IS DISAPPOINTING

[illegible] was the [illegible] regatta victory [illegible] for the Harvard fleet which featured the winning [illegible] between combination crews yesterday.

The morning races were rowed between lanes of brilliantly bedecked yachts and pleasure craft but witnessed from the shores and observation trains by the smallest crowd in many years. Abbreviated [illegible] trains were run on either side of the Thames, but they were [illegible] half [illegible].

[illegible] head wind, racing conditions were ideal and a bright sun shone on a river resplendent in [illegible] and glistening hulls.

Bouts Last Night

At Detroit—Johnny Risko, Cleveland heavyweight, defeated Paulino Uzcudun, Spain (10).

At New York—Leo Bazzo, New York [illegible] pounder, defeated Benny Salazo, Harlem [illegible]; Joey Caruso, Brooklyn welterweight, defeated Stanley Reid, Newburgh, N. Y. [illegible]

At [illegible]—Steve Smith, Bridgeport, knocked out Cuban Frankie Diaz, Philadelphia (4).

At Newark, N. J.—Joe Zalensky, Binghamton, middleweight, knocked out Izzy Grove, New York (6).

RIVAL LEADERS IN HARVARD-YALE CREW RACES

Capt. E. S. Blagden Coach Ed Leader

Capt. E. S. Blagden and Ed Leader, coach of the Yale varsity crew, shown with their mascot, the Eli Bulldog. Yale is confident of defeating the Harvard varsity eight this evening, and even hopes to set a new mark for the four-mile course on the Thames.

Coach Charles Whiteside Capt. L. W. Dickey

Charles Whiteside, Harvard crew coach, and L. W. Dickey, captain of the Crimson eight, do not appear at all downhearted over predictions of defeat. Whiteside insists that the Yale crew will know it has been in a race by the time the finish is crossed, while Capt. Dickey insists that every man in his boat will give his all for victory. Pascal-Moore May Join Dodgers

Cincinnati, Ohio, June 20—Ben Paschal, former Yankee [illegible] may be the outfielder sought by Brooklyn [illegible] Paschal [illegible] row with the St. Louis [illegible] the American Association is tearing the cover off the ball.

In a double-header yesterday he made eight hits, including a home run and a triple. The Yankees have no strings on either Paschal or Pitcher Wilcey Moore, who has won 13 games for St. Paul so far this season.

Wilbert Robinson has a deal on for minor league replacements and a good guess is that he will bob up with Pascal and possibly Moore if he can get waivers on certain Dodgers he wants to keep a string on.

Enterprise Arrives at Newport for Race

Newport, R. I., June 20—The Enterprise is the first of the candidates for the America's cup defense to return here from Western Long Island Sound preparatory to the series of trial races to be held off this port starting Monday.

Enterprise, with her tender Carona and conveyed by former Commodore Harold S. Vanderbilt's yacht Vara, arrived in the bay and took up mooring in Brenton's Cove this afternoon. The other contenders Whirlwind, Weetamoe and Yankee are expected tomorrow and Saturday.

Commerce Rally Defeats Jamaica

Commerce high came from behind to defeat Jamaica Plain high 8 to 6, in a five-inning game yesterday at the Carolina ave. grounds Jamaica Plain. After trailing until the fourth inning, Commerce staged a batting rally and amassed six runs to clinch the game.

Harvard Coach Has Hopes of Victory

"It's a crew that could use some more experience and much will depend on the way the race is rowed," declared Coach Charley Whiteside of Harvard as Capt. Lawrence Dickey's varsity finished its training for the race with Yale today. "But I think you can say with some truth that if Yale wins this boat race today, it will be a case of one good crew beating another good crew."

Coach Ed Leader of Yale had only this to say regarding the outcome:

"The weather has looked a bit threatening hasn't it?" he said. "I do hope we have a good day for the race."

Kent School Crew Shows Up Well

Henley-on-Thames, Eng., June 20 (AP)—The Kent School crew is making excellent progress in its training for the Thames Cup regatta. The boys have been busy with their examinations, which were held in a town hall, but this has not interfered with their schedule of two outings daily on the river.

The Rev. F. H. Sill, headmaster and coach, today said he felt thoroughly satisfied with the crew's progress. The entry of the 150-pound Princeton crew today was confirmed and the crew is expected to arrive at Henley on Tuesday.

Dilboy Post Amateur Bouts Wednesday

RISKO DEFEATS PAULINO

Detroit, June 20 (AP)—Johnny Risko, the Cleveland Baker Boy, has conclusively demonstrated that he is Paulino Uzcudun's master in the ring.

These two veteran trial horses clashed in Navin Field last night and Risko left-hooked his way to a decisive victory in ten rounds. Ringside experts credited the Clevelander with nine of the ten rounds.

Risko, throwing punches from any posture in which he might find himself, cuffed the Basque Woodchopper all around the ring, had him bleeding almost from the start, staggered him badly with a series of hard rights and lefts in the fifth round, nearly closed Paulino's left eye and cut the other one badly, and at the end was swinging punches just as freely as he had in the first round.

There were no knockouts. Risko weighed 199¾; Paulino 195½.

Yale Battery for Tiger Game Named

New Haven, Ct., June 20—Head Coach Joe Wood of the Yale baseball team said today that Ned Jenrison and Joe Maine would be the battery Saturday in the third and deciding game against Princeton at the Polo Grounds. Fred Linehan will be alternated with Maine as a backstop. Barry and Stafford were announced as umpires.

F. Stetson Eddy, Jr., 1932, of Wellesley Hills, Mass., has won the competition for the assistant baseball managership, which makes him automatically manager in another year. Next season's manager will be Gould Ingram, 1931, of New York city.

JACK AGREES TO TAKE 12 1-2 PER CENT

By JACK CONWAY

Frank Bruen, general manager of Madison Square Garden Corporation, was to hold a conference with Max Schmeling and Joe Jacobs, his American manager, today in the hope of arranging another bout between the German heavyweight and Jack Sharkey.

Bruen is acting under the suggestion of the New York Athletic Commission which is anxious to have the heavyweight muddle cleared up by a September match.

Jack Conway

Commissioner Muldoon and Farley told Schmeling they felt Sharkey had beaten him in each of the four rounds and was generally looked upon as the better man.

The New York commission recognized Schmeling as world's champion despite the objections of Muldoon. The veteran member of the commission was outvoted by Jim Farley and Col. Phelan.

Farley and Phelan stated they did not believe Schmeling was a real champion on account of th[illegible] unsatisfactory way in which [illegible] won from Sharkey. They f[illegible] however, they were duty bound [illegible] keep their promise to recognize [illegible]

DIEGEL AND MAC SMITH TIE FOR 2D

as first Compston then Diegel and Smith made their desperate bids for golfing glory. Diegel's fine 71 in the morning [illegible] a good chance in the afternoon, but Leo could do no better than 38, two over par, going out for the last time, and 37, one over par, coming in, for a score of 75. This was as well as Jones did in his fourth round, but Bobby started leading Diegel two strokes.

Smith's bid came late. The veteran New York professional had a fair 75 in the morning and a great 71 in the afternoon, but his margin of defeat was represented in a bad second round when he scored a 77 after getting away with [illegible] play.

Jones Saved by Scores for First 36

Bobby was saved by his sub-par performance inthe first two rounds, when he scored 70-72. He appeared tired today as shown by his rounds consistently above par. In the morning he grouped two 37's for a 74, two over par, and in the afternoon took 38 strokes for the first nine and 37 for the second for a total of 75. His morning card was marred by a six at the third hole and in the afternoon he holed out the eighth in a black seven. The first seven the champion of champions ever carded in a British title even.

Today's victory made Jones open champion of two countries, the United States and Great Britain, and the amateur champion of one, Great Britain. He is the first man to hold the British open and amateur championships at the same time since John Ball turned the amazing trick in 1890, long before Jones was born.

Escort of Police Needed After Victory

Although he had not definitely won when he finished his round, Jones was furnished an escort of police, who guarded him on his way to the clubhouse as though he had just been arrested for throwing a bomb or something.

"This is the hardest one I have ever played," Bobby told friends as he sat in the Hoylake clubhouse, wilted and worn like a halfback after a wearing football game.

MacDonald Smith, a later starter, played par golf to the turn and then clipped a stroke from perfect figures coming home, to go into a tie with his fellow-pro, Leo Diegel, for the runner-up position. This was the veteran Scot's second great round of the championship for he played the first in 70 strokes.

Diegel smiled all the way through the last few holes and grinned cheerfully as he walked off the home green with a brawny policeman beside him thrusting the crowd aside.

Cries of "hard luck, Diegel," greeted the American professional on all sides. But Leo continued to smile.

"There are too many bunkers on that course for me," he said.

Photographer Interferes With Bobby on 17th

On the 17th Jones' tee shot opened up the hole, but a photographer interfered with his second shot, which was wild. His approach putt was off line, leaving him a difficult second putt, which failed to go down. He took his fourth 5 in a row.

On the 18th Jones laid his mashie-niblick second 15 feet from the pin and took two putts for a 4.

Jones reached the third green with his second, 50 feet from the pin, but his approach putt was 10 feet short and he took two more for a five.

At the short fourth Bob again three putted, his approach putt leaving him nine feet short.

A clean cut iron shot at the fifth landed him 15 feet from the pin and two putts gave him four.

At the sixth Bobby's mashie was just off the green, but he chipped up and holed a five-footer. At the seventh he was just short again but carried within inches of the pin and holed the putt.

Playing in the face of a strong wind, Bobby was 30 yards short of the eighth green with a drive and a brassie, his third was held up by grass and failed to reach the green. After geting on in 4, he took three putts for a 7.

Jones came back with two fine shots at the ninth to place his ball 18 feet from the pin, and he was down in two putts.

Jones turned homeward on his last round in 38 strokes, two over par.

Compston Elated, but Fares Poorly

Compston was greatly elated as he marched to the first tee for the start of the final round. The crowd gave him a round of applause and Archie, himself, joined in.

Compston missed a putt the length of his putter at the first hole and took five. At the second he pulled his drive into rough and was still in the rough with his second. He was on in three and took two putts for another five as the gallery groaned.

Compston got a par five at the third hole but he took a four at the short fourth and followed with a five at the par four fifth. Another five was registered at the sixth.

Horton Smith Finishes With 296

Horton Smith played his final round in 73 strokes for a 72-hole total of 296.

Smith played fine golf to come home in 34, including birdies at the 11th and 16th. He reached all the long holes in two shots and putted well throughout. His serious error on the first nine was at the eighth, where he hooked his drive out of bounds and took a seven.

Leo Diegel on Heels of Leaders

Diegel played the first nine holes in 38 strokes, the same number Jones required. His card:
Diegel, out .. 4 4 5 3 5 4 4 5 4—38
In..4 4 3 3 5 4 6 4 4—37—75—293

Diegel played the first four holes in par figures, but took a 5 at the fifth.

Diegel made his first error when he sliced his drive into rough. He missed a putt of a foot at the fifth. He got his pars at the sixth and seventh, although he drove to the rough at each hole.

Diegel started home with a par at the 10th, took another 4, one over par, at the 11th, and then bagged a birdie 3 at the 12th.

Don Moe Finishes With Poor Score

TAKING THE JUMPS AT RACELAND

FIELD'S JACOPO WINS AT ASCOT

Ascot, Eng., June 20 (AP)—Marshall Field's Jacopo won the Windsor Castle Stakes in the Royal Ascot Race meeting today, giving a first to an American horse for the first time during this year's session.

The Windsor Castle Stakes carry £1000 with £200 added and extras.

Jacopo is by San Sovino out of Black Bray.

Lord Glanely's Coldstream was second, and Lord Woolavington's Florence Bombey finished third. Eighteen horses ran.

The prices were 11 to 2, 100 to 6, the distance was five furlongs.

Land Boy Wins Master's Plate at Framingham

By GEORGE W. GRIMM

A crowd of close to 25,000 horse lovers enjoyed the third and closing day of the Eastern Horse Club spring race meet at John R Macomber's estate, Framingham Center, yesterday.

Each race gave the fans plenty of thrills.

The feature event, the Raceland Cup Steeplechase, for four-year-olds and upward, was won by Brown Stout, owned by Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark and ridden by E. Fewell. Toreador 2d, with C. P. Pinon up, was second, and Byron, with R. Neader up, was third.

Augustus Goodwin's chestnut gelding, Land Boy, won the Master's Plate, which became his permanent property as Land Boy won the event for three consecutive years.

Land Boy took the hurdles like a champ [illegible] Leggett's chestnut gelding, Solyman, was eliminated after losing his rider, Mr. C. W. Shaw, on the 14th jump.

Nicias, with his owner, Mr. R. McKinney, up, darted forward for the last quarter mile only to lose out by a length. Radeo, owned by Wilson K. Lovering, was third, W. G. Wadney up.

Mr. Shaw was knocked unconscious when struck on the head by his mount, Solyman. He was carried to the estate of Mr. Macomber and revived.

Mr. Weston Adams, son of Charles F. Adams, owner of the Boston Bruins hockey club, won two prizes, taking second place in in the second race with Sea Mistress, while Golden Buck came home in third place in the third race for the Marshfield Plate.

Diamond Pick-Ups

Bill Regan, regular Sox second-sacker, pulled a leg tendon during the Western trip. He is in uniform but will not be able to play for several days. Otis Miller is doing a fine job at the keystone sack during his absence.

Manager Heinie Wagner has no idea when Bobby Reeves and Jack Rothrock, his other cripples, will be able to resume work. Reeves, who is troubled with water on the knee is still limping around with a cane and while Rothrock is rid of his crutches, his ankle is still quite weak.

Ed Morris, too, is on the hospital list right now. His arm started to bother him in Chicago and he left the squad in Rochester, N. Y. to visit Dr. Knight, famed bone specialist.

His absence doesn't reduce the size of Sox box staff, however, as Frank Mulrooney, who suffered a skull fracture the first week of the season, rejoined the team when it returned home.

Earl Webb robbed himself of a double in the first inning of the game with the Browns. He hit a drive just inside first base which rolled in the outfield but instead of travelling to the fence, it hit his glove which was on the foul line and shot into Ted Gullic's hands in time to have him catch the Sox slugger at second. The next time up, Webb made sure of two bases by hitting the scoreboard.

The Chicago Cubs are apparently just as great a jinx to the Braves as the Red Sox are to the Chicago White Sox. To date this season, the National League champions have beaten the Tribe five times in six starts, which is the Wagners' record against the Pale Hose.

The Browns appear lifeless. Considering the poor support they get at home no matter how well they play, they probably can't be blamed for not showing more pep, but the Cardinals are just as unpopular in the Mound City and they display plenty of hustle on the road.

Brighton Defeats Charlestown, 13-2

Brighton swamped Charlestown, 13 to 2, at Rogers Park, Brighton, yesterday to crown itself champion of the south district.

The winning team went into the fifth leading 8 to 2, and gathered two doubles, three singles, a walk and an error to tack on five more runs. Rain cancelled the game in the middle of the sixth.

Sharkey Agrees to Take 12½ Per Cent

When Sharkey and Schmeling were urged by the commission to sign for a return bout at once, Sharkey readily consented to accept 12½ per cent as his end of the purse.

Schmeling's only objection to the September bout has been his refusal to allow Arthur Buelow, his deposed German manager, who has a contract which does not expire until October 11 to cut into any further ring earnings. Johnny Buckley, Sharkey's manager, offered to pay Buelow out of Sharkey's end of the purse.

This left Schmeling without a valid objection to a return meeting with Sharkey. He promised to make known his decision on the matter after he confers with [illegible].

New York Favored as Scene of Go

The Garden would like to stage the return contest in New York in September. It believes that New York is entitled to the match on account of the unsatisfactory ending to the last tilt between Max and Jack.

Sharkey has been in New York accompanied by Mrs. Sharkey, their three children and Mrs. Sharkey's grandparents. They are to motor back to Boston today.

Buckley has returned to Boston following the New York meeting. He says that New York, and the members of the New York commission, look upon Sharkey as the real heavyweight boss.

Open Tourney at Franklin Park for U. S. P. L. Fund

In order to help defray the expenses of the four-man team, which will represent Boston in the United States public links championships at Jacksonville, Fla., an open tournament is under way at Franklin Park today. The entry fee is $2 and every penny will go to the expense fund of the Boston team.

Every golfer in this vicinity should contribute his bit to this worthy cause. Pass up that Friday [illegible] the public links team and enjoy a round of golf on the finest municipal course in this country.

There are some very fine golfers at Franklin Park and they are entitled to a try at the public links title. Fred Bannon, [illegible] won the Wollaston medal and match play tournament, is the ranking player at the park and he is capable of holding his own in any company.

Bright and early this morning [illegible] at Belmont Spring Country Club for the annual two-day open handicap medal play tournament. Burt Nicol, the club professional, is sending the field away at [illegible] intervals and indications point to another record-breaker.

[illegible] ament of the North Shore Golf and Tennis Club is still two weeks away, July 4 and 5. A[illegible] owner and operator of this popular public course, is having the lay out primed and it will be in championship condition [illegible] two [illegible] prizes for each [illegible].

At this season of the year, the favorite sport in England is "Chasing Bobby Jones." The Britons are gluttons for punishment for they have been trying to overtake the Atlantan for years with little success. But you must give them credit for their gameness.

The Lallys and Mahans of Brookline have left these parts for the White Mountains. Jim Lally [illegible] at West[illegible] Hill and Frank Mahan has taken over the professional's duties at Crawford Notch.

The Women's Golf Association of Massachusetts committee in charge of the girls' junior golf championship which will be held at the Oakely Country Club the last of this month reports little activity in the way of entries. There are a number of girls between the ages of 12 and 18 who should enter this championship, if for no other reason than the opportunity to play in a title event.

Miss Margaret Curtis of Essex Country Club has donated a beautiful cup for the girls' junior championship which will be held by the winner for one year and the victor will also receive a gold medal.

John Fitzgerald of [illegible] [illegible] all manner of [illegible] when after being the only one on the third green from the tee recently, he made too gallant a try for a deuce and his ball ran into the trap. John's only solace is that his friend, Fran Clements, four-putted a green the same day he pulled off his famous trapped putt.

The New Wonderland golf course at Norumbega Park is one of the finest miniature links in this section. The par for New Wonderland is 29—21—50. The 8th hole, which is parred at 5, is one tough hombre for even the best golfers. This course was constructed under the supervision of Eben Baker and it is the last word in minature golf lay outs.

Red Sox Open Home Stand by Beating Browns, 4 to 1

M'FAYDEN GIVES ONLY 3 HITS

By JOE CASHMAN

The Red Sox opened their second long home stand most auspiciously by whipping the St. Louis Browns, 4 to 1, for their fourth straight victory.

With Danny MacFayden allowing but three scattered hits and pitching by far his best game of the season and [illegible] fielding perfectly and hitting [illegible] the Wallops looked [illegible] champions than tail-enders.

Joe Cashman

The enemy had the game [illegible] in the win column when 'Rip' Collins was selected to pitch but the big Texan who beat them twice previously this season and several times last year, was no puzzle to the natives on this occasion.

He lasted but five innings and before he was taken out for a pinch hitter the Sox found him for eight hits including a double and two triples and four runs.

They couldn't do much with either Stiles or Holhauser, the other St. Louis pitchers but it made little difference as MacFayden had the [illegible] sluggers eating out of his hand from start to finish.

The visitors lone run was [illegible] by Goose Goslin in the [illegible] inning. [illegible] threw one right in the [illegible] former Senator and [illegible] to the right field [illegible] to the four [illegible].

MacFayden Pitched Wonderful Game

Up to that time, Dan had allowed but two singles, one by Goslin in the third and the other by pinch-hitter Kinsey in the eighth, and only two Brownies had advanced as far as second base.

The Somerville boy has a bad habit of weakening along about the seventh inning but he was just as strong and effective at the finish as at the start against the Browns.

That's because his control was perfect. He always kept ahead of the batters and mowed them down as though it were the easiest task in the world.

Few of chances offered his supporting cast were difficult but those that were the boys handled perfectly.

Rhyne made a couple of fine stops and so did Miller.

All the natives looked formidable with the stick. Johnny Hevning led the attack with two singles and a double in four times up while right behind him were Webb with a single and a double and two walks in four trips and Sweeney with two singles. Otis Miller came through with a triple with two on and both Oliver and Narlesky made doubles.

Goslin Only Enemy Able to Hit Danny

Goslin was the only Brownie who had any success against MacFayden, getting a homer, a single and a walk in four attempts.

The Sox lost no time in going after Collins. Oliver walked in the first frame, went to [illegible] on Sweeney's single and [illegible] when Webb singled and was caught trying to stretch it.

They added another in the second when Narlesky doubled and Hevning singled.

In the fifth, Scarritt singled and Webb walked and both scored on Miller's triple.

That ended the scoring and the Sox had several chances in the late frames but they were never dangerous.

Star Coast Rookie Reported Sold to N.Y.

Sacramento, Cal., June 20 (INS)—Lew Moreing, owner of the Sacramento baseball team of the Pacific Coast League, was reported to have [illegible] negotiations with the New York Yankees whereby he would sell Meryl Hoag, sensational and hard-hitting young outfielder, to the Yankees.

An unconfirmed report stated that the Yanks had paid Moreing more than $[illegible]0,000 for Hoag. Sacramento, in turn, will purchase Ray Thomas, pitcher, from the New York club.

Night Baseball Was Tried Long Ago

The introduction of night baseball in Indianapolis has recalled to the mind of Frederick Clark, veteran fan of the Hoosier city, the fact that baseball at night was tried there 40 years ago.

Clark said an attempt was made to illuminate the Indianapolis field with natural gas lamps, but after playing two games the system was found unsatisfactory and discontinued.

MALDEN STARTS GRID WORK

Ed Goodreau, coach of the powerful Malden high school eleven last fall, today made his first move in preparation for the coming season when he distributed football equipment to boys whom he expects will be on the team this year. The lads are to workout during spare time this summer and should report for practice in September in perfect condition.

Several of the members of the strong 1929 eleven have graduated including Sam Fishman, shifty halfback, Johnny Kelly, fullback, George Fenton, tackle, Bob Lapidos, guard, and Johnny McCarthy, end.

Each of these was rated with the best schoolboy football players in the state last season and their loss was one of the reasons for the early start this year. Malden has a number of boys who saw service on the field last fall and from this material Coach Goodreau probably will mould another good team.

Mulrey Elected Captain at Malden

13 Runs in Inning

The second game of the Memorial Day bill betweene Erie and Canton ended in a blaze of hits and runs when Erie scored 13 times in the ninth inning to score a 16 to 7 victory. Canton won the first game, 10 to 7.

Hub Boy Named Captain

Northfield, Vt., June 20—Election of John C. Hurley of Boston, Mass., a sophomore, as captain of track, was announced today. The new leader is the Cadets' best hurdler. Elliott Marcoulier of Westfield, Mass., another sophomore, was elected manager.

U. S. Davis Cup Stars in London Final

London, June 20 (AP)—Two young American Davis Cup players will meet tomorrow in the final round for the London tennis championship at the Queens Club. Wilmer Allison, youthful Texan, defeated H. Satoh of Japan, 6—7, 7—5, in one semi-final today, while Gregory S. Mangin of Newark, N. J., eliminated W. A. R. Collins of London, 6—2, 7—5.

Von Porat-Strib War

Boston Evening American Sports

NORWEGIAN OUTWEIGHS STRIBLING

Chicago, June 20 (INS)—Otto Von Porat and Young Stribling clash here tonight in a 10-round bout which may produce a challenger for the heavyweight crown of Max Schmeling.

Although Stribling claimed an injured left hand, which won him a two-day postponement of the bout, the Georgian boxer ruled a slight favorite today over Von Porat, hard-hitting Norwegian.

Stribling, in his final workout, did no boxing. Von Porat was expected to weigh in this afternoon at about 205 pounds. Stribling, on the other hand, is expected to weigh only 188 pounds.

A world's record crowd for indoor attendance is expected. Chicago Stadium officials estimated that 21,000 persons will view the bout. The fight will be broadcast over a national hookup of stations.

CAMPOLO GETS TEST MONDAY

The most important heavyweight battle scheduled for a local ring since Jack Sharkey and Jim Maloney were settling their rivalry years ago will be fought Monday night at Braves Field when Vittorio Campolo, giant gaucho from the Argentine, battles Salvatore Ruggirello, big Italian heavyweight.

Campolo is considered by many experts as the greatest heavyweight in the world today. Within a year, he will probably become the heavyweight champion.

The giant gaucho will have to be at his best to score a victory, for his opponent, Salvatore Ruggirello, expects not only to beat him, but knock him out.

The bout will be preceded by an eight round semi-final between Armando DeCarlos, sparring partner for Ruggirello, and Carlo Oldani, who serves in the same capacity for Campolo.

In addition, five six-round heavyweight bouts in the Garden belt tourney will be held, with Pat O'Flaherty and Pat Perkins of South Boston among the entrants.

Milwaukee Hits Hard to Win Game

Milwaukee pounded two Toledo pitchers for 24 hits, good for 40 bases, and easily defeated the Mud Hens by a score of 18 to 11. Pete Turgeon of the Brewers led the attack with four hits at seven times at bat.

GOOD GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON

Golf's Greatest Teacher

When you initiate your back swing, swing by starting the club back and withdrawing your hands across your right toe as a general practice, you will at once note that your weight begins to pass to your right leg. Now you want your heel anchored solidly against the ground because all further backswinging of the club is against this leg-resistance, since your body must not sway. This resistance runs clear down to the ground, naturally, so its contact with the ground must be in the form of something solid. Your right heel should be the something solid. Feel that you have it planted against a stone wall. This anchorage, or resistance, makes your upper body twist, which is the pivot. If you maintain your anchorage your upper body will wind up like a spring so that at the top of the back swing you accumulate the maximum of spring-like winding up. All this, you will perceive, rests upon the contact you have of right heel and ground, and there must be no release of this. If you "break" your right knee, or dip your left shoulder downward, you at the same time release this anchorage and the swing is blooey. You must "stand up" to this resistance.

HEEL SOLID

Note:—Hands, arms and shoulders must keep together in the golf swing. Mr. Horton has just prepared a new monograph which tells you how to acquire unison of action, so essential in this respect. You may have it if you address Mr. Horton, care the Sports Editor, this newspaper, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope for reply.

Stepdaughters of War

I listen. She is running sweetly enough now.

Tyres are all right, thank heaven. Perhaps a little more air in the off side rear? Done.

Ten-thirty-five. How time is flying. I shall never get Commandant's ambulance ready for 11 o'clock inspection. I polish the outside of mine hurriedly.

A lot of good it is washing and polishing in this weather, by the time we have turned round at the bottom of the lane we will be splashed all over. But Commandant insists it be done, wet, fine, mud, sleet or snow.

Ten-forty. Can I do it? I make a bee-line for Commandant's bus. First in the line, of course. Who would dare swipe her place? Heroes have earned the V. C. for less daring than that brave deed would require. I open the doors. Oh, God! gangrene. My stomach heaves up and down. I run behind the ambulance where the others cannot see.

Ten-forty-five. Five precious minutes wasted. I creep back, furious with myself. I ought to be accustomed to gangrene by now. With clenched teeth I set to work, swilling, scrubbing, disinfecting. I cannot see and nothing on this earth will ever make me see why the hospital orderlies cannot clean the insides of the ambulances while the women drivers sleep after their grueling night-work.

Sleep? When shall I ever sleep again. In at 3.15, up at 7.30 ... four-and-a-quarter hours a ... I shall get today, all the others are likely to get today. With luck we may snatch an hour or so before the midnight convoy.

Ten fifty-five. I am safe if her engine is in good running order. I manage a jug of boiling water for the radiator. She starts fairly easily. She sounds pretty good to me. A hasty polish.

Eleven o'clock. Done it. I am sweating all over. My chilblains are smarting where the disinfectant has got into the cracks, but I don't care. Here comes Commandant, punctual to the tick, hoping for victims.

Inspection over, I have escaped with a caution. Being a snowy day she will overlook the two small spots I have omitted to clean off the bonnet.

To our rooms to change back into uniforms. No post in yet. That means eating the canteen filth today. We shall probably be poisoned, but we are so starving after our work in the snow we are prepared to eat anything.

Commandant's whistle blows.

"Potter!"

Etta Potato runs. Two sisters to be met and taken to Number One. Poor old Etta Potato, the train will be hours late and she will miss dinner, such as it is. She cannot possibly get back in time. Any driver out on duty during meal-time simply misses the meal. No one dreams of saving it for her.

The whistle blows again.

"Smith!"

My turn.

"I thought I told you to clean the W. C.?"

I was going to do that after dinner, I explain. Commandant does not believe me. I had forgotten. Don't lie to her, please. Tea orderly tomorrow as well as [illegible] will perhaps assist my memory in future.

I change back into overalls, get a pail and stagger to the W. C. These are the occasions on which I rejoice that we have only one W. C. for 45 people. I lock the door. A constant stream of people tries the handle and implores admission. I refuse. They plead urgency. I am left completely cold. The Bug arrives. I cannot let my own room mate down. She can come in if she gives me a cigarette. She agrees.

I surreptitiously light up while she goes inside, one eye on the end of the corridor, ready to douse light if Commandant appears. Smoking on duty will probably mean being hanged, drawn and quartered, in the mood she is in today. The Bug emerges and I lock myself in again.

The W. C. is scrubbed, fresh newspaper cut, the seat polished, the pan scoured, the chain pulled on the cigarette butt. I take the pail to the outhouse. I meet Tosh coming in, and she asks me what I have been doing. I tell her cleaning the W. C.

"You ladies with influence," gibes Tosh.

(To Be Continued Tomorrow)

SONNENBERG HERE FOR BOUT

Gus Sonnenberg, heavyweight wrestling champion of the world arrived in Boston yesterday and will start intensive training tomorrow for his battle with Bob "Bibber" McCoy.

Gus will clash next Thursday night at the Garden in one of the most discussed wrestling matches in recent years.

Both former college football stars, and both depending on the spectacular flying tackle, their bout is expected to be one of the most slashing contests in all the long history of the wrestling sport.

Sonnenberg was virtually forced to meet the husky Cambridge athlete, after McCoy had proved himself the outstanding contender by reason of his smashing victories over Jack Sherry and Joe Malcewicz.

It would be no surprise if McCoy should enter the ring a favorite. He will have advantages of weight, height, strength and reach. In additional to his natural advantages, he is also recognized as a better orthodox wrestler than Gus, and there are those who say that his flying tackle is even deadlier than that of Sonnenberg.

"All" Game Tomorrow

Russel Field, North Cambridge has been obtained for the championship game tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock between the schoolboy stars of the Boston schools and the Mystic Valley League Alls who recently eliminated the Suburban headliners from this title race.

Raquel Receives Check for $200 as Her First Commission as Model

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Raquel R[illegible], a fiery beauty in the desert town of Hermosa, Ariz., enrages her dissolute Spanish father, Pancho, by breaking off her engagement to Bill Johnson, a wealthy cattleman. She has fallen in love with Jack Farrell, an adventurous young engineer. He advances her money with which to go to New York, where he plans to join her and marry her. In New York, she becomes a model for the famous Alphonse Courbet and creates a sensation when she appears as a Spanish p[illegible] at a ball given by Mrs Elsworth Bosart.

CHAPTER 21

Raquel slept late on the day following the Bosart ball.

The insistent ring of the telephone on the table by her bed recalled her from a subconscious land peopled sometimes with specters in gold dresses and giant pigs, all with the round pink face of a man.

Again [illegible] land was a wide plain, stretching as far as the eye could see, dotted with gray castles. Through the gleaming windows of the castles she could see beautiful women flitting back and forth like bright-winged butterflies. Black and white moths of men hurtling after them striving awkwardly to follow their flight.

It was an effort to pull herself out of this dream land. But the telephone on the table kept up its insistent call.

A clerk at the hotel desk. There was a package for Miss Rojas. And a letter, registered. A boy had been at her door several times. He could get no answer.

"Send them up," Raquel ordered shortly. She did not want this clerk to know what a fright his message gave her.

A package? Who would be sending her a package? And a letter. A special letter that must not go astray.

From El Paso

Raquel Gets Letter, Too

Raquel was wide awake now. Her [illegible] on the [illegible] of the door. She would not [illegible] a second when the boy knocked.

The package proved to be a box. Round, flattened at the top and bottom like a hatbox. Intangibly, it suggested luxury. Perhaps by the thick, white, glazed paper in which it was wrapped with such studied neatness. Flowers. In a striped box, dull and shiny silver.

It was the letter lying beside the box that must not wait. She picked it up, studied it closely. The name written on the flap on the back was the name of no one she had ever known. "From E. J. White General Postoffice, El Paso, Tex." Who was E. J. White?

She tore open the envelope. It held a single sheet of paper, ruled ragged at the top as if it had been torn hastily from a tablet. The writing, too, showed signs of haste, though it was legible enough, with a strong downward stroke that showed it was the work of no weakling's hand.

"My work in Hermosa is progressing as planned. Within two more weeks it should be finished so that I can safely leave. I go directly to the new mine, which promises a richer yield than any I have ever tackled."

There was no signature.

"My work in Hermosa." Whose work. "The new mine." What mine? The word "mine" gave Raquel the key to the puzzle. Farrell, of course.

He was trying to tell her that the plans, hers and Farrell's, made so hurriedly in the ruins of the Mission San Jeronimo the night she fled from the desert, were approaching realization.

No one had picked up her trail. Pancho, her father, must have moved heaven above and earth beneath to find her. Not that he held her so dearly. But, as the wife of Bill Johnson, she would mean much tequila without the necessity of scheming for pesos to buy it. Smuggling guns across the border was getting more dangerous every day. Peons were more interested in plowing fields than in plundering villages.

Bill Johnson, that great hulk of a cattleman she took away from Lily. Well, she had saved him from that, hadn't she? And from herself too. She would have made his life miserable. He loved her in a way [illegible]. Well, she doubted that [illegible] had done more than salve his own conscious in an effort to find her. Her tantrums had scared him off. He was a peace-loving hombre.

In Two Weeks

Farrell Will Come

The uproar that must naturally have followed her disappearance was dying down. In the [illegible] [illegible] were snuffed out without [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]. In a [illegible] while [illegible] obliterating even memory of them.

"In two more weeks it will be finished so I can safely leave," read Raquel. "It is as I thought. By staying there and joining in the noise, Farrell has escaped suspicion."

The new mine. She was the new mine. The adventure they had planned together, gypsying from place to place, living from day to day. That was the richer yield she promised. To a man she could scarcely visualize, the tone of whose voice she could not even remember. A man named Jack Farrel.

"But why," Raquel asked herself . . . she was alone so much that unconsciously she had formed the habit of addressing herself . . . "why does he write in this mysterious way? Why does the letter come from El Paso? And who is E. J. White?

"I've heard about a White—somewhere! Yes. From Jack Farrell. There was a White with him mining—somewhere in Chihuahua, wasn't it? White has been in Hermosa. He's gone on to El Paso. Farrell sent this letter with him to be mailed in El Paso. And Farrell made it sound like a letter about the mines, so if White lost it or it fell into outside hands, no one would be the wiser."

But her name on the envelope:

"Raquita Rojas,
Hotel Brixton,
New York city.

The writing was different from that of the letter. Of course. White did not address the letter until he reached El Paso. To doubly insure its not being intercepted.

"Two more weeks of heaven—it is heaven in spite of the Bennies with black fuzz on their hands and the Ellies with pink fuzz on their faces—then what?" Raquel tossed the letter away from her as if it had been a living, scorching thing.

The striped silver box slid from the edge of the bed, where she had placed it, to the floor. She picked it up, fingered curiously the silver ribbon that garnished it. Then, in a rush to know what it held for her, she pulled off the lid.

From Alphonse

Sends Check for $200

"Gardinias!" she exclaimed, lifting the creamy waxen blossoms from their bed of damp leaves. "A dozen of them. Big ones, and beauties. And here's a note, snuggled in them, too."

She held the flowers from her, drank in their creamy perfection. She held them close to her inhaling their delicious fragrance. They were the first real gift of flowers she had ever received.

Who had made this thrilling gift? The note. It would tell. Her hands trembled with delight of fingering the unknown.

"To the Princess Raquel del Manzanilla."

"Your Highness: Flowers and your reward for most excellent service. The amount represents your commission on the models sold to Mme. Bosart through your exhibition. I have allowed you a small commission as a beginner. As an experienced model it would be more. If you still wish to continue your work in Paris, be prepared to leave within two weeks. I salute you. "Alphonse."

A white slip of paper fluttered into Raquel's lap. She picked it up. It was a check for two hundred dollars.

Two hundred dollars! Riches. More money than she had ever dreamed of earning. She could earn this. And more. Just by being beautiful. By wooing beauty. By going to Paris.

Two weeks? A man named Jack Farrell was coming for her in two weeks. Within two weeks. That meant less than two weeks. She might be gone on her way to Paris when Jack Farrell arrived. Oh, she must be

The Beauty Box

BY HELEN FOLLETT

The second toe is the longest one on the foot [illegible]. It gets a rough deal when the shoe is too short. When pushed under, it developes into a hammer toe which, unless corrected in time, must be amputated. The best treatment for corns and callouses is running in sand. Summer girls on beaches should shed sandals and rejuvenate their shoe-tired dogs.

No matter how well the teeth are brushed, it is possible for foreign substances to adhere between the teeth or to cling under the gums. For that reason, it is necessary to use dental floss once a day which must be passed between the teeth carefully, so as to not to bruise the gums. Any abrasion subjects the gums to an invasion of bacteria. After brushing the teeth, the mouth should be rinsed, water swished between the teeth.

Young daughters should be discouraged from wearing high heels, which are responsible for weak and wobbling ankles. A moderately high heel does no harm; the spike that is like a stilt is a menace not only to the ankles, but to the framework of the body and all the inner organs. People who howl down high heels are not fanatics; [illegible] hygienists.

Chiffon and Lace Resort Fashion

By ANN ARDEN

(Ann Arden broadcasts latest style news over WHDH every Tuesday and Thursday at 11 a. m.)

NOW THAT the summer season has really gotten into full swing we can discuss what is being worn, rather than what will be worn.

• • •

IT RATHER looks as if lace and chiffon are fighting a painless fashion duel for social supremacy. And that they are well matched adversaries is apparent from the fact that each has the qualifications which make for the fluid silhouette of the moment.

• • •

CHIFFON FLOATS into view in either a sheer monotone guise or printed all over in the most fascinating vine or flower patterns. Lace varies its personality with filmy Chantilly, Alencon or the less exclusive Spanish patterns; and colors itself in pastels, among which are blues and pinks, in black or white.

• • •

THE DINNER gown pictured, combining vivid chiffon and black lace, combines three attributes: it is youthful as well as sophisticated and chic. The coloring in the chiffon is very vivid, green, orange, red, violet—the three shirred skirt ruffles edged in black lace. The shoulder bertha is also edged in lace and has a most unusual back treatment falling in a cascade below the waist. The tie belt is of black velvet ribbon. A three-strand necklace and fringe earrings of pearls and crystals are worn, and a rhinestone studded bag is carried.

• • •

THE GOWN is a perfect example of the new formality that distinguishes the evening mode.

• • •

WHETHER or not you have become a bit tired of the ubiquitous lace frock, the clever effect of chiffon appliqued in a design on net will offer a welcome variation of the sheer frock with patterned effect. The cape and flounces of a new frock are adorned with this new type of trimming. An impression of a cut-out patterns is the result of the applique, which is superimposed upon silk net.

• • •

WHEN THE lace frock swings its hem clear of the ground to reveal a trim instep to, the mesh of the lace is continued in the hose. Hose in a wide mesh are a smart complement for the frock of net or lace which has met with increasing approval.

ANN ARDEN will answer questions concerning clothes, social customs, or fashions generally. Address your questions to the Boston Evening American or the Boston Sunday Advertiser, or to Station WHDH.

CHICKEN SAUCE FOR SPAGHETTI

Small piece of garlic
4½ tbsps. of olive oil
Can of tomato paste
Small can of peeled tomatoes
Salt and pepper

Put oil into a deep saucepan and brown the garlic. (Onion may be used.) When garlic is browned, add the chicken and turn constantly until browned. Then add the tomato paste. Half of can is enough and add the tomatoes. Just about ¾ of the can. Add the seasoning to taste. Let the sauce bubble and add ¼ glass of water. How to Keep Well -:- By Dr. Royal S. Copeland

Daily Sun Bath Will Help Baby to Health

If a baby could talk, I am sure it would ask for its comfort, many things that we never think to give. It might say, sometimes, that we don't know how to treat an infant.

Most babies have a way of protesting when things get too uncomfortable for them. Often they have to kick off the blankets and wraps to gain freedom and comfort on a hot day. And as for a pin sticking into his little body or colicky pains, he can protest at those, too.

Dr. Copeland

It is a very great responsibility to have the care of an infant, but it is perhaps the most pleasurable and the noblest work one can have to do. It needs so many things to keep good the health, but it really doesn't take much to make the infant happy when it is well.

A baby's skin tells very much about its physical welfare. Good health depends upon the activity of the skin, for unless the sweat glands and pores of the skin function properly the wastes of the body, which escape through the pores of the skin in perspiration cannot be thrown off properly.

The activity of the skin depends much on its cleanliness. Every baby should have its regular daily bath. Activity of the skin depends too upon the condition of the blood and the circulation. If the baby has good, rich blood, the skin will have a pinkish glow, the cheeks will be red and the eyes sparkle.

A baby, especially on the warm days, should not be too warmly clothed. Strike a happy medium and clothe it lightly. And yet it is quite necessary that a baby have sufficient coverings so that any sudden change in temperature will not chill the delicate body.

Indigestion soon brings blotches and roughness to a baby's skin. The wind will chap and redden it. Too long a time in the sun will burn the skin, to say nothing of making the baby most uncomfortable with pain. Care should be taken not to leave the baby exposed to the sun's rays for too long a time, and the eyes should always be protected from the sun.

Baby needs the good effects of sunshine on the skin. In the warmest part of the day, from 11 to 2 o'clock, is a very good time to put the child in the bright sunshine. Open the window wide and have a couch under the open window for baby to lie on. Strip off all the garments and let the youngster kick and squirm to its heart's content. Its smiles and contentment will be good to see.

This is the way the infant gets his exercise, and it is of great importance that it does its "daily dozen" every day. This is the way that Nature intended us to strengthen our muscles and improve the circulation and the skin.

It is well known that ordinary window glass does not enable the rays of the sun to penetrate. Special glass can be installed in any window at a nominal cost, and your baby can have the life-giving rays of the sun whenever the sun shines. Experiments with this glass show that it is a valuable health agent, and hundreds of people are having these windows installed in their homes. Schools, hospitals and hotels are using it to good advantage.

A daily sun bath helps to coax a semi-invalid back to health. Every one needs the sunlight and, after the long winter months, with their lack of sunshine, this is the time of the year to make the most of the warm, summer days out-of-doors. Make up your mind to get the sunshine every day, and build for health and resistance to disease.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

R. P. G. Q.—I am troubled with headache, gases and poor elimination. What can I do to correct these disturbances?

A.—Indigestion and constipation would be apt to cause these symptoms. Correct your diet and take more exercise.

L. H. I. Q.—How can scars left by pimples be removed?

A.—To make the scars left by pimples less noticeable apply hot and cold compresses, alternately for ten minutes, night and morning. Follow this by gently massaging with a good cold cream. X-ray is also helpful.

H. C. P. Q.—What can be done for pimples?

2.—What causes my throat to be clogged up?

Problems of the Heart and Home

Husband May Escort Wife's Friends Part of Way Home

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

Will you kindly help me in an argument that my husband and I had on account of my girl friends? I was married last February and I invited some of my girl friends to my house for dinner, but my husband wasn't acquainted with them before.

Now is it proper for him to invite himself to go part way home with them, without my consent? Of course, I know it's quite all right to go to doors or walk part way if you like with your own people.

NO NAME.

Dear No Name: If your friends are good enough for you to entertain in your own home and meet your husband, there should be no objection to his offering to escort them part of the way home. Showing jealousy upon his attention to other girls won't prosper your married life. Full name and stamped self-addressed envelope is required for personal reply to all letters.

Curb Your Jealousy

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX,

I have been keeping company with a man of 23 and now he's in the army. He used to come to see me all the time. I am 20. He never told me that he loved me, but put it he liked me real well. Lately he doesn't write to me as he used to, and when he came home for the week-end I didn't see much of him—just a few minutes at a time. I found out he was keeping company with another girl. I didn't say anything to him, but what shall I do—write him that I'm through with him, or what? I know the girl he is writing to now and she tells me she doesn't care for him.

WORRIED.

Dear Worried: If you're engaged to the young soldier and he has never told you he loves you, how can you write him that you're through with him, because he goes to see another girl? I'm afraid you have let an attack of jealousy run away with your better judgment, and that is always a mistake.

Mother May Have Known

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

Six months ago I met a young man whom I fell in love with. We both love each other, but my mother stands in the way of our happiness. Although I am only 16, I look much older. He is 22. He has been wonderful to me, but my mother has done everything to stop our friendship. She expects me home at 9:30, so that we cannot go to a theater or dance. I have tried to talk to her to let her know she was young once, too, but to no avail.

HEARTBROKEN.

Dear Heartbroken, It seems to me your mother is a little strict considering the freedom boys and girls have nowadays. However, perhaps she doesn't approve of the young man for some reason you are not aware of. If it is his personal character she objects to, can't you bring yourself to see her side of it?

Seeks Another Girl

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX,

I am a young man, 18 years old. I have been going out with a young lady, one year my junior. A short time ago we broke off and she didn't seem to want to renew our friendship. I really can't understand her very plain desire to continue our estrangement as we were very friendly, and she appeared to like me as much as I liked her. I have made several attempts to get back on the old footing, but failed. Please help me.

B. G.

Dear B. G.—It is generally considered good sportsmanship for a man to take a refusal from a young lady without crying about it. I know it's hard, but love is one thing that can't be controlled, and you're only making it harder for yourself. There's any number of nice girls waiting around for some nice man to notice [illegible] around and you'll find [illegible] just as nice, I know.

Join Girls' Club

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am 25 years of age and am very bashful with fellows. All my girl friends are married except me on account of being bashful. I like a fellow but he doesn't know it. He just came to my house once for some business. I was on my doorstep one night and he happened to go by and just said "Hello" but didn't stop to talk with me. Will you please tell me how I could win his friendship?

BASHFUL.

Dear Bashful: A girl of 25 has no business being as bashful as you seem to be. If you just can't bring yourself to talk to young men, why not join some of the many girls' clubs, church societies and what not where you can learn to relax in the company of other girls? Bashfulness at your age ceases to be a charm and becomes a handicap.

Beatrice Fairfax is ready to help you solve your problems of love and home life. Write in to her today.

Mrs. Beeckman Says—

When Knife Is Not in Use

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Please let me know if a knife should be crossed on the plate when having dinner, or half on the plate and the other half on the table?

NAPOLEON.

Neither is correct. When you are not using your knife, you should place it across the rim, as far as possible from the center with still no possibility of its falling from the plate. That is, so that the center of the handle should touch the lower rim and about the center of the blade touching the upper rim.

There are five or six details of table manners that stamp us at once as not knowing the rudiments of good manners at table. "Resting the point of the knife on the table cloth is one of these. After we have begun a course the handle of the knife should not again during that course be allowed to touch the cloth.

Hostess Should Precede

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. Is it correct for a hostess to precede guests who are familiar with her home, in entering and leaving rooms? Even when guests are unfamiliar with the home it always seems to me less awkward if they leave or enter rooms first and then stand aside and wait for the hostess to precede them or seat them as the case may be. Am I correct in this?

2. Remember I entertained one of my bridge clubs. The husband of one of the ladies called for her. He had not met my husband (who happened to be in the room at the time) and one of the other ladies. My sister says I should have introduced him to my husband first, as he is the head of the house and was host at the particular moment. Is she correct in this?

3. Is the following form correct when using the calling card for a bridge-tea invitation?

Mrs. John Henry Smith
Bridge-tea 2 [illegible] Place
Monday, June 3, 1930 [illegible]
2:30 p. m.

M. A.

1. I don't quite agree with you in the question of this precedence. I think that usually it is less awkward if the hostess precedes her guests, excusing herself in the meantime, of course. For instance, when she enters the house: As she puts her key in the door and precedes, she may say, "Will you excuse me if I go first, and turn on the lights?"

2. In this case it would, I think, be better for you to present the gentleman to the lady, and then to your husband. I can understand how this question came up, and it is a very interesting question to consider, too. But on two counts I think that the gentleman should have first been introduced to the woman: First, because she is a woman, and second, because she was a guest.

3. Yes. There are, however, one or two changes that I would like to suggest. First, it is not necessary to write the name of the year, since this would, obviously, be taken for granted and we omit unnecessary items when the invitation must be written on such a small space.

Also, "Half after two" or "Two-thirty" may be used instead of the way you have indicated the time. "P. M." is unnecessary also.

Mrs. Beeckman will be glad to answer questions on etiquette submitted by readers.

PRICES MIXED IN WALL ST. DEALINGS

Important [illegible] with a slight [illegible]

The principal leaders started the session with a broad [illegible] under the inspiration of the reduction of the rediscount rate from 3 to 2½ per cent [illegible] record, and a $211,000,000 [illegible] in brokers' loans.

Early [illegible] be true, and were [illegible] out by a mid-day [illegible] under the impetus of fresh [illegible] selling and the more favorable opportunity afforded for nervous traders to lighten holdings.

LOANS' DROP FACTOR.

The reduction from 3 to 2½ per cent in the New York rediscount rate immediately enlivened the demand [illegible] had only a [illegible] stocks. The stock market opened with another abrupt upturn, perhaps more in response to the $211,000,000 drop in brokers' loans than to the lower rate, but early gains were soon cancelled, and prices dropped swiftly under aggressive selling around midday. Soon after 1 o'clock, however, trading slackened, and a [illegible]

There was a growing feeling in brokerage circles that prices would be unlikely to go much lower, at least would not, on the whole, break through the levels of November 13, but commission house advices still remained cautious, and there was no inclination to predict a rising market.

Reassuring was the action of one large wire house in [illegible] marginal requirements to approximately 25 per cent of market value. Furthermore, it was learned [illegible] trusts were fairly actively buying stocks.

With money already in abundant supply at the lowest rates in several weeks, and the banks well out of debt at the federal reserve, brokers were not inclined to look for any immediate benefit to stocks from the lower bank rate. The bond market, however, was immediately stimulated by the lower rate, gilt-edged issues attracting active buying.

COMMODITIES EASE

Renewed downturns in commodity prices had an unsettling influence on stocks. Both the cotton and wheat markets opened firm, but prices soon weakened. Silver prices again sagged. Furthermore, bears were inclined to regard the rally in stock prices as of purely a technical nature and only waited for the top before renewing their operations.

On the decline, such issues as U. S. Steel, Radio, American Telephone, Electric Power and Light, Consolidated Gas, Bethlehem Steel, Loew's, Warner Bros and Johns Manville sold off $2.50 to $4. American Can, American Tobacco B and American and Foreign Power lost $5 or more, and Westinghouse Electric and Eastman Kodak were off $7.

Railroad stocks, coppers and oils were unusually quiet, holding a good portion of their early rallies. Money was in good supply at 2½ per cent.

The low prices of the day for many utilities and other popular shares were reached in the last hour when the bears started a decline that erased much of the mid afternoon 1 to 4 point rallies.

J. I. Case toppled from 192 to 171, Eastman Kodak from 208⅞ to 192, Westinghouse from 142½ to 132, Vanadium Steel from 84¼ to 73¼, American Can from 124 to 115, and American Telephone from 211 to below 204¾.

Machine Export Trade Sets Peak

Washington, June 20—Exports of United States well and refinery machinery during 1929 were the largest in the history of the industry, reaching a total value of $25,000,000, according to the Industrial Machinery Division, Department of Commerce. This trade was nearly two and one-half times that of 1925 and 54 per cent greater than the trade for 1928 of approximately $16,192,000.

Of this export volume 36 per cent consisted of oil-well drilling machinery, 59 per cent "other oil-well and oil-refinery machinery," and 5 per cent "other well-drilling machinery." The value of each class of machinery exported was as follows: oil-well drilling machinery $9,060,375, other oil-well and oil refinery machinery $14,822,383, other well drilling machinery $1,101,523. While part of the large demand for oil refinery machinery was due to the erection of new refineries, a considerable portion was destined for the improvement of existing installations.

Professor Finds New Oil Process

New York, June 20—A process much cheaper and simpler than any in use for removal of sulphur from crude oil has been discovered by Prof. Frankforter, chemistry instructor at University of Nebraska, says the World-Herald. Hydrogen is injected into the crude oil, in which electric wires are immersed. The sulphur compound is changed to hydrogen sulphide. The undesirable element is caught without danger to refinery machinery.

REASSURING FACTS ABOUT CONDITIONS

By B. C. FORBES

"REPORTS reaching us from our managers in various parts of the country," John J. O'Brien, president of the far-flung Standard Gas and Electric Co., tells this column, "indicate a recent improvement in general business conditions, and it is our belief that this trend will continue gradually upwards during the remainder of the year.

B. C. Forbes

"While the output and earnings of the electric and gas industries have not gained as rapidly as last year, I believe that combined figures for the first five months of the year will show an increase over the similar period of 1929. At least this is true of the utility properties making up Standard Gas and Electric Co.

"The Standard Electric properties are showing marked increases in the sale of electric energy for domestic and commercial purposes. With some companies the gain in the residential use of electricity per meter this year has exceeded past records. Sales of household appliances are considerably above the first part of last year.

"Our construction program, aggregating some $65,000,000, is going forward on schedule and there is no disposition to curtail extensions to meet public demands."

Reassuring facts, are they not, in these days when a lot of people have contracted a bad case of nerves?

* * *

Matthew S. Sloan, president of New York Edison, gives this calm statement:

"Use of electricity has come to be accepted as an excellent business barometer. According to the power output in this country in recent months, business is gradually coming back to normal, although there are sections of the country which show severe declines. What I gain from an analysis of electric sales, however, is not discouraging. In view of what we encountered last fall, it is, rather, the reverse.

* * *

"Sales of electricity for industrial power and for railways and traction lines have fallen off heavily since last October. On the other hand, sales to homes, offices, stores, factories, hotels, have maintained, approximately their normal rate of increase. This apparently shows that people are going about their affairs as usual, that they have money to spend and are spending it.

"Analyzed by sections, electric sales have shown heaviest decrease in the Mountain and Great Lakes States, the Southeast and New England. In the Middle Atlantic, Northwest, Pacific Coast States they are about normal.

"The electric utilities are showing their confidence in the basic soundness of America by spending $900,000,000 this year for new construction, to provide increased electric service for future years."

* * *

President Frederick P. Small, of the American Express Company remarked to me:

"No, I haven't succumbed to the tidal wave of pessimism, but on the contrary I am quite hopeful that business will be picking up very shortly."

$6,000,000 Utility Coast Construction

San Francisco, June 20—More than $6,000,000 of the $15,000,000 appropriated by the Central Public Service Corporation for new construction in 1930 will be spent on the Pacific Coast, according to Franklin T. Griffith, president of the Pacific Northwest Public Service Co., subsidiary of Central Public Service. Mr. Griffith is here with D. C. McClure of Chicago, operating vice-president of the system.

Most of the new construction work will be done in Portland and Seattle areas, where the company now serves 76 cities with electric light and power, together with transportation and gas.

Power and Light Earnings Larger

New York, June 20—The Pennsylvania Power & Light Co. reports for 12 months ended April 30 surplus after preferred dividends of $7,079,460, against $6,881,028 in the preceding 12 months. April net income after taxes and charges was $913,649, against $888,105 in April, 1929.

NEWS OF BOSTON MARKETS

Trends of the Day

New York Curb

PRICES RISE, THEN FALL IN BOSTON

Price changes were of a see-saw variety in trading on the Boston Stock Exchange today. Forenoon trading saw prices worked to higher levels only to turn about and dip to a lower range later in the day.

American Telephone, after selling almost 2 points higher in the forenoon, dipped almost 2 points near the close.

Boston & Maine D stamped was at a new low for the year with a loss of 2 points. Cities Service held steady. Stone & Webster was down over 2 points. Waltham Watch preferred, selling ex-dividend, lowered 2½.

Edison gained 2 points. Pacific Mills added a point. Quincy Mining was fractionally lower. New England Telephone dropped a point.

Shawmut Corporation reduced acceptances ⅛ per cent to 2⅛ per cent to 2 per cent for one to 90 days, 2¼ to 2⅛ per cent for four months and 2⅜ to 2¼ per cent for six months.

There is no diminution to date of the heavy demand for colored film produced by Technicolor, Inc., calling for 24-hour operation of the greatly enlarged Boston and Hollywood plants. Producers' requirements are still far in excess of the company's manufacturing capacity.

Relative to sale by Pepperell Manufacturing Co. of its developed and undeveloped water power properties on the Saco River, as well as its steam power plant at Biddeford, to Cumberland County Power & Light Co. (an Insull-controlled company), Treas. Russell Leonard of Pepperell states:

> "We are induced to dispose of these properties, first, because full and economical development of the water power properties would result in a large surplus of power beyond our maximum requirements and which we could not dispose of; and second, because it is in line with our policy to concentrate our efforts on the manufacture and sale of cotton goods."

Federal Reserve Bank of Boston has reduced its buying rates for acceptances, the new rates being 2 per cent for one to 90 days, 2⅛ per cent for 91 to 120 days and 2¼ per cent for 121 to 180 days, as against former rates of 2¼ per cent for one to 45 days, 2¼ per cent for 46 to 120 days and 2⅜ per cent for 121 to 180 days.

Economy Grocery Stores declared regular quarterly dividend of 35 cents per share, payable July 15 to stock of record July 1.

Advice Is Free

Before you buy or sell stocks or bonds, you ought to have unbiased expert advice. Send your investment inquiries with stamp to Frank H. Meloon, Financial Editor, Boston Evening American, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston. All replies are made by mail direct.

LATEST EARNINGS

C. T., Boston.—What are the latest earnings for Southern Railway? I own some of the stock at higher levels.

Ans.—Preliminary report of Southern Railway's earnings for four months ended April 30 indicates 30 cents a share. This would compare with $3.37 for similar period of 1929. Full year's net for 1929 was $11.65 a share, compared with $12.63 for 1928. Despite the recession the president states the company will do everything possible to maintain dividends without interruption and that appropriation had been made to cover full requirements for 1930. Regular dividends have been paid on the preferred since 1922. An initial quarterly dividend of $1.25 a share was paid on the common May, 1924; annual basis increased to $7 February, 1926, and to current $8 rate Febraury, 1928. Of course, no one knows where the stock will sell.

FIVE PER CENT

J. F. Lawrence.—I own stocks and bonds bought on your advice and am well pleased. What is your idea of a purchase of New York Central?

Ans.—New York Central has paid dividends since 1870 and stockholders have received valuable "rights." Current annual $8 rate has been paid since 1927. For year ended 1929 net equaled $16.89 a share compared with $10.86 in 1928 and $13.90 in 1927. In the first quarter of current year, net was $1.70 a share against $3.23 for similar period of 1929 on a smaller amount of stock outstanding. So this year the stock has ranged from a high of 192¾ to a low of 164½, now about 166. At this level the yield is close to 5 per cent. How many shares can you buy? How much will you have left for emergencies?

SELECT STOCKS

W. H., Lancaster—I own $3000 each Prudence Co., 5½s, New York Title & Mortgage 5½s, $1500 Lawyers' Title & Guaranty 5½ and have $8000 in savings banks. I want to buy stocks and from your advice to others have selected Associated Gas & Electric $6 preferred, St. Louis-San Francisco preferred and American Water Works & Electric first preferred. How much shall I spend?

Ans.—You could buy 20 shares each Associated Gas & Electric $6 preferred, St. Louis-San Francisco preferred, and American Water Works & Electric preferred and still have a snug sum for emergencies. The cost would be $6000 and the annual income $360, or 6 per cent. The bonds and first mortgage certificates you have are sound.

CURB MARKET TRENDS ARE REVERSED

New York, June 20—Prices enjoyed an early rise on the New York Curb today, then weakened in sympathy with "big board" movements, and later rallied again.

Profit taking at the top of the morning rally and a resumption of short selling when stocks eased on the big board quickly eliminated initial gains and brought out net losses of several points. However, trading was comparatively light on the decline.

Utilities were again sold freely on the down turn. Electric Bond & Share converted an initial advance of 2 points into a decline of 4, while similar price turns were made by other active stocks in the group, including American & Foreign Power warrants, American Superpower and United Light & Power "A".

Industrials fluctuated erratically. Aluminum of America, opening 4½ points higher, was soon selling 25 points under last night's close. Deere and Driver Harris dropped several points. Dresser Manufacturing "A" and "B," Crocker Wheeler and a few others were steadier. Anglo-Chilean Nitrate and Ford of Canada "A" yielded a point or so.

Comparatively little attention was paid to the oils. Cities Service opened a shade higher and then eased fractionally. Gulf and Vacuum moved moderately.

Short covering improved the investment trusts in the early hours, but the gains of around a point were generally eliminated in the decline.

Wheat Falls After Show of Strength

Chicago, June 20—Wheat prices tumbled here today after a brief show of strength at the start had resulted from higher quotations at Liverpool. Prospects of increasing pressure of newly harvested domestic winter wheat in the Southwest had a bearish influence, together with favorable spring crop conditions in states northwest.

Opening unchanged to ⅜ cent high, Chicago wheat afterward reacted to well below yesterday's finish. Corn and oats developed weakness also, with corn starting at ⅛ cent off to ⅛ cent up, and subsequently declining all around. Provisions advanced.

Reichsbank Rate Cut to 4 P. C.

Berlin, June 20 (INS)—The Reichsbank reduced its rediscount rate from 4½ to 4 per cent today.

The German bank followed the trend downward of all central banks of Europe and the United States Federal Reserve Bank of New York's reduction of yesterday. Easing of rates has had a good effect on the reparations bonds of the International Bank of Settlement.

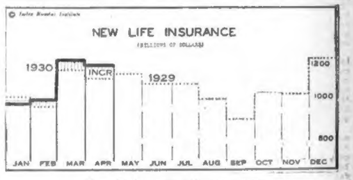
Insurance Business Up



New Business in Life Insurance

By Harlow Peters
(Irving Fisher Service)

Some persons are certain to gain in a business depression, and the life insurance companies come in that category. It appears to be a matter of psychology that after a stock market crash many who have ridden high on the wave of prosperity experience a feeling of conservatism. This brings about a desire to safeguard oneself against unexpected happenings, the idea being that if the stock market can fall so sharply it is quite possible for an individual to die as suddenly.

Accordingly, the life insurance companies have enjoyed a business in February, March and April exceeding that of the year before by a tidy margin. Some of this can be discounted as natural growth, but the increase this year is striking in the face of general business conditions.

HOW'S BUSINESS?

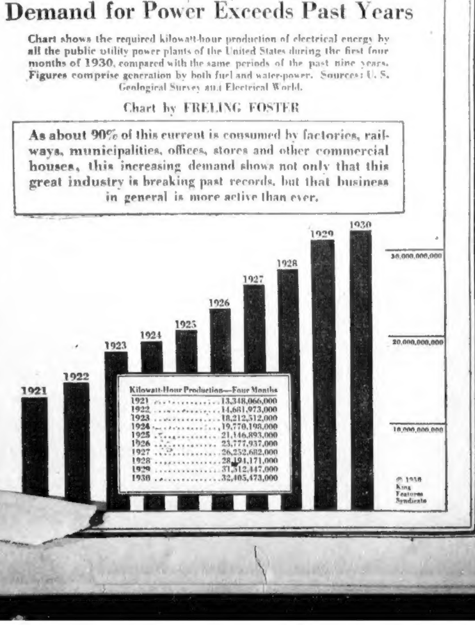
ACTUAL FACTS ON CONDITIONS TODAY

Demand for Power Exceeds Past Years

Chart shows the required kilowatt-hour production of electrical energy by all the public utility power plants of the United States during the first four months of 1930, compared with the same periods of the past nine years. Figures comprise generation by both fuel and water-power. Sources: U. S. Geological Survey and Electrical World.

Chart by FRELING FOSTER

As about 90% of this current is consumed by factories, railways, municipalities, offices, stores and other commercial houses, this increasing demand shows not only that this great industry is breaking past records, but that business in general is more active than ever.



Kilowatt-Hour Production—Four Months

1921	13,348,066,000
1922	14,681,973,000
1923	18,212,512,000
1924	19,770,198,000
1925	21,146,893,000
1926	23,777,937,000
1927	26,252,682,000
1928	28,194,171,000

HARVARD-YALE CREW RACE HEARD ON AIR

WBZA Joins N. B. C. at 7:30 Tonight in Description of Annual Regatta

A stroke by stroke description of the Harvard-Yale crew race to be held on the Thames river near New London, Ct., late this afternoon will be broadcast by the National Broadcasting Company, heard locally through WBZA, and starting at 7:30 p. m.

George Hicks, N. B. C. announcer, will depict the preliminary procedure and the start of the race. When the shells have passed from Hicks' view Paul Dumont will take up the story until the half-way mark is reached. Then Graham McNamee will continue the description of the race through to its finish.

Though the Columbia chain is offering a broadcast of the race with Ted Husing announcing, station WNAC will not have the detailed account, but will announce every 15 minutes beginning at 7:15 how the race is progressing.

CONCERNING RADIO

Edited by BILL WHIPPLE

If editing a little two-by-nothing column like this is a responsibility, what a load of cares the managing editor must carry around on his shoulders, with the whole paper to take care of. Poor old Job of Biblical times had a happy, care-free life beside that of the chief in an editorial room.

But as concerns this column it is not the difficulty of getting material to print, but of selecting what we believe will be of interest to our readers. It is humanly impossible to please everybody in this somewhat imperfect world, and we have had so much experience at the business of living that we know better than to try. Still, it is our earnest desire to create a bond between ourselves and as many of our readers as possible.

And there's the rub in getting out our radio matter; we want to print something nice about everybody who broadcasts, and about as many of those who listen in whom we know as we possibly can. Yet we realize how utterly impossible it is, and that's what makes it difficult to prepare things for the column: keeping within bounds.

We'd like to create between the readers of this page and ourself a sort of kindred spirit; to be something more than just some person who sits down to a typewriter and writes a lot of guff about radio affairs; cold, matter-of-fact accounts which may or may not get your attention and approval.

While we must be honest with ourself, and if from time to time we feel that we are privileged to criticize some artist of the air we shall do so. Yet shall we endeavor to do it in as nice a way as possible, realizing you may not agree with us and that it is possible we may be wrong. Not humility, but humbleness of heart is an attribute of which we may boast a little.

Lack of space forbids us conducting an open forum concerning radio subjects in these columns; nor have we the facilities, or perhaps we should say, time, to conduct a "Question and Answers" column. Nevertheless we invite your criticism concerning matters herein printed, and will also welcome any suggestion as to how we may improve and make more interesting this section.

Although you may question the statement, it is true that no institution is more of the public's private concern than a news paper. It must, of necessity, make money to exist; still it is your voice and speaks for you and only through your support can it continue to function.

So, too, is the radio section yours. If it is not being conducted as you believe it should be, just sing out and tell us how it may be improved, or what you believe may be added to it to make it more interesting and instructive. Possibly it may be all right as it is, but we'd like to hear from you on it.

At the Radio Dial

FOR THOSE WHO didn't hear enough of Countess Albani—and there are many—she returns to the microphone tonight at 10:30 on the Kodak program, heard locally through WBZA. Unfortunately she will not sing Spanish music, but will team up with Jack Parker and sing a selection from Herbert's "Red Mill." Alone, she renders "You Will Come Back to Me."

THE PROGRAM that annoys half of America and entrances the other half, the True Story Hour, from 9 to 10 on WNAC tonight, will serve up a drama of a backwoods moonshiner's wife whose marriage was a trap. The calumniated woman wages a bombastic struggle, and—well, if you're interested, listen in.

YOU CAN HEAR the man who was instrumental in raising prices, but you can't answer back. Senator James E. Watson, one of the most energetic advocates of the new tariff will be on the air over WNAC at 8 o'clock tonight in defense of his action. He will answer the criticisms his group has received for their efforts in establishing the new tariff bill.

DID YOU KNOW that Doc Rockwell sits down when he announces. . . . That John S. Young was a dramatic student at Yale. . . . That Leonard Joy, like Rudy Vallee, is a New Englander, and went to Dartmouth, playing in an orchestra to get through school. . . . That somebody asked a WEAF announcer when the Ernest Shelling-Jack Dempsey fight was coming off. . . . That Reinald Werrenrath sings on the radio Sundays with his coat off and his sleeves rolled up—like a working man.

IT GETS HARDER and harder to review Rudy Vallee and his Fleischmann Hour, as it is the same thing week in and week out, so the guest artist is necessarily the sole recipient of comment. For those who claim the saxophone is purely a jazz instrument, Rudy Wiedoeft tooted cadenzas and appregios last night to disprove that statement. He produces a rich tone and gives a flawless interpretation of how a saxophone should be played.

MAXWELL HOUSE MELODIES, WBZA, 9:30. "Whiteman's Stomp," written and pianoed by Thomas Waller, would prove fatal for anybody with a weak heart the way these tempestuous men played it last night. And "Washboard Blues" had that indefinable something. Willard Robison, the big gun of the affair, has excellent taste in picking numbers that create an effect. "Ploddin' Along," for instance, made you feel like kicking up your heels and saying: "Let's go places." And from the sublime to the ideal we were transposed to the Eden of "Toujours L'Amour," played by the ensemble.

ENCOMIUM OF ENCOMIUMS to the most deserving of deservers—Richard E. Byrd. Gallant speeches heartfelt praise and genuinely noble greetings to the hero of the hour. We simply cannot express our admiration for this modest man and for the heartiness of his reception last night. We would be willing to hear his praises sung for many moons. He will be on the air many times in the next few weeks and every true American will tune in and receive the thrill of his life. "My companions deserve equally with me and so in their name as well as for myself I want to thank you for this wonderful reception," he said.

Give Coast Guard Power

Should Immediately Assume Command of Emergency at Sea Without Begging Permission of Any Steamship Line

Out of the mouths of those who were sworn to tell the truth has come convincing evidence that the United States Coast Guard must be made the police of the sea in fact as well as in name.

The Coast Guard ships stood off the Fairfax-Pinthis disaster while forty-six men, women and children perished.

Quite properly they volunteered to be of assistance.

Hours passed. Their offer of aid was declined. The death toll grew.

This condition was surmised by this newspaper. The facts revealed upon the witness stand have corroborated it all too fully.

Those forty-six lives with all the promise they held cannot be reclaimed. The frightful tragedy cannot be erased. But at least we should not be too stupid to derive some lesson from this awful experience, so crassly indifferent as to ignore it.

When lives are at stake we do not want public agencies like the Coast Guard volunteering to save them; we want them to go in and to do what they can to save them, without begging the permission of any steamship line.

If our public officials at Washington are interested in anything except signing their vouchers on pay day, they will immediately issue authority and instructions to the Coast Guard to assume command of any disarrangement or emergency at sea which imperils life or property.

Meeting the Issues

Morrow's Victory Lesson for Massachusetts Candidates

A man does not receive a 300,000 majority by mere accident.

Dwight W. Morrow had a way of getting things done. The people like success.

He tackled squarely an issue which timorous ones regard as delicate. If he had pussyfooted he would have received contempt and ill-favor.

We of the East must remember that while the West voted for our Coolidge it at the same time elected by tremendous majorities Borah, LaFollette, Norris, Shipstead, Walsh of Montana and others of similar independence.

You may approve or dislike them, but their people hold them in high esteem for the manliness with which they state their policies.

In our Massachusetts election we shall require our candidates to be equally frank on prohibition, the League Court, the influence of the power trust in politics and on the other important issues which challenge the well-being of the Nation. A candidate who has no attitude, or, having one, conspires to conceal it, is without claim to support.

The Returning Hero

Home again!

Dick Byrd is back.

Back from perils which man rarely survives, from adventures which only the hardy of body and will could endure, back to the acclaim which his proud countrymen rightfully shower upon him.

Byrd flew over the North Pole. He traversed the Atlantic by plane. He flew over the South Pole. No man in history has accomplished so many feats of skill and daring; none has contributed so much to the scientific knowledge of exploration.

We like Byrd for his intrepidity, for his engineering genius, for his modesty and for his thoroughgoing preparation. But we like him most of all because of the affection and respect his men hold for him. It is the sign of a kindly heart.

When New York, the spontaneous metropolis, official Washington, Virginia, his birthplace, and the others are done bestowing their favors upon him, we of Boston will welcome him back to the city of his adoption June 27. Let it be a royal one. He then should be left to rest a while in his Brimmer Street home, in the quiet he has so richly earned.

Simple Class Oration

Our compliments to Mr. M. M. Warburg, the Harvard class orator. He kept off the nebulae hypothesis, the Einstein theory and did not propose a new panacea for the peace of the world. Rather, his class oration was of the simple things he observed in his four years at the university.

Harvard, he said, is lacking in teachers and is overloaded with authorities, the result of the mad race of our modern colleges to attain the prestige which comes from size.

"The time of stimulating discussion between student and professor in the classroom is a thing of the past."

At least, we gather, she has not outlawed free speech or subordinated free thought.

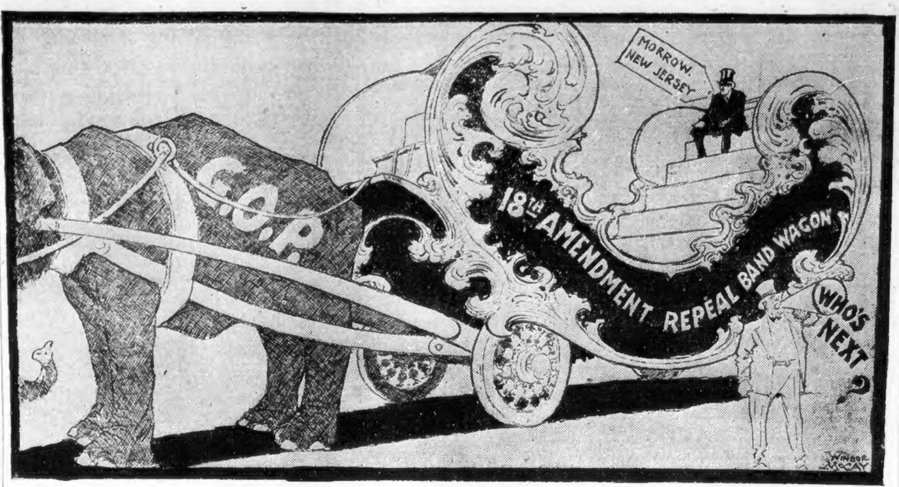
Supply and Demand

Several hundred truckloads of fresh vegetables are dumped into the river at New York because the commission merchants found the market clogged.

Well, we have had our own experiences in such matters in Boston. We found them getting ready to dump steamerloads of fresh fruits into Boston Harbor, when the humblest citizen was obeying the mandate of the government to save food to win the war. Despite these gluts the prices stayed up.

And today we are graduating thousands of college seniors whose heads have been filled to overflowing with theses to support the alleged infallible theory of supply and demand.

ALL A-B-O-A-R-D!



Ladies, gentlemen, and candidates, the new band-wagon is ready. The Republican party has hitched its elephant not to a star, but to a wet wagon.

Somebody told the old elephant in 1928 that he got his twenty million votes because he was dry. He immediately harnessed himself up with a bactrian camel, exclaiming: "I associate only with camels hereafter."

He discovered on Tuesday, when Dwight W. Morrow, wet Republican, beat a dry Republican five to one, that not all Americans belong to the camel class.

It has one distinguished occupant already, namely, Mr. Morrow, who drove the drys "like leaves from an enchanter fleeing." (Accuracy of quotation NOT guaranteed.)

There will soon be plenty of others to take the seats lower down.

You have heard from Senator Jones, of Seattle, "I was very, very dry, but, of course, I shall be very, very wet, if my people say so."

You have heard from Senator Walsh, of Montana, also perfectly willing to be wet, if his constituents are wet.

Watch this wagon, it will soon be overcrowded, although it may be difficult for some leading citizens to get aboard. They waited too long.

Listen, World!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

Should Women Work Overtime?

SHOULD WOMEN work overtime?

Yes—I know. They ARE working overtime. And they always have worked overtime. But that was different. That was just marriage—unskilled labor, where any old hours go as long as he says he loves you. But Industry's another story. Industry's a paying job. Should women work over-time in industry?

Elsie Robinson

Perhaps that doesn't seem a very important question to you—but it's causing plenty of rumpus in these United States.

Thousands and thousands 'n' thousands of gentlemen who have never showed a particle of concern if their particular Maria or Rachel toiled all day and tramped all night with a squalling infant, are now raising Cain at the thought of Working Gals doing a second more than their eight-hour stint.

"It's inhuman," they cry. "A delicate woman is not fit for such drudgery. It will wreck her constitution and imperil the future generations. She should not be expected nor allowed to so strain her strength. And it is the duty of every American man to protect her, even if she won't protect herself."

Accordingly thousands of American gentlemen have banded together and are endeavoring, in many States, to enact legislation which will forcibly protect foolish females from overtime labor.

The Mastick law, recently passed by Governor Roosevelt of New York, is such a measure—and the boys protest that it is based on 100 per chivalry. But this the ladies indignantly deny.

"Chivalry, my eye!" cries the National Woman's Party, or much nicer words to that effect, "it's nothing of the sort. It's just a piggy plan to grab jobs for men and steal them from women. Naturally no sane person wants to work any longer than she has to.

"But some of us have to—and we have just as good a right to do it as men. It's the unions—that's what it is—trying to cut out competition. They'd shut us out of ALL jobs if they could."

And so through the states rages the battle. And listening to the uproar, poor Widow Smith wonders how she's going to get Jimmy through high school if they cut down her piece work to 48 hours a week.

And young Alice Jones worries at the thought of the college course that will have to go glimmering if they shut women out of night jobs entirely?

And how about you? What's your side in this fracas? Granted that a woman has any right to work outside her home, hasn't she as good a right to work overtime as a man? And if not, why not? Is it chivalry to keep her out—or plain piggishness? Let's have your vote.

H. G. Wells on 'The Science of Life'

IN COLLABORATION WITH PROF. HUXLEY AND G. P. WELLS

THE CONTRIBUTIONS of mother and father to the offspring, the egg-cell and the sperm-cell, are as different as two cells could well be. The one is enormous and inert, the other ceaselessly active and exceptionally small.

H. G. Wells

In one respect, and in one respect only, are the bequests of father and mother alike; each provides exactly half the nucleus, exactly half the chromosome outfit of the new individual.

Here, then, we detect the only possible explanation of the fact that fathers and mothers influence the constitution of their offspring in roughly equal measure.

the m' isters of the faith banished

The chromosomes are the material basis of heredity, the vehicle by which the characteristics of one generation are handed on to the next.

This conclusion was arrived at provisionally, based, as we have based it, on a study of the chromosomes themselves, long before Genetics became an exact science.

Today it has been tested and proved beyond reasonable doubt. It explains at once why every kind of creature should have its own characteristic chromosome outfit, and why it should be so elaborately and delicately handled.

The very word "chromosome" is still comparatively unfamiliar to the general reader—as unfamiliar as was "atom" a century ago, or "electron" 25 years ago. But the importance of atoms and electrons as the ultimate bricks and units of all matter is so great that they have now forced their way into everyday speech.

And chromosomes will be the same, for they are no less important.

These little flecks of viscid protoplasm, so small that they can only be seen with the highest powers of the microscope, are the bearers of hereditary destiny.

Following the laws that we are about to examine, they form our bodies and our characters. Each of us human beings is what he is, himself and no other, because of the particular outfit of chromosomes with which he was equipped at fertilization.

Section 5. Chromosomes in Plants

In the next chapter we shall study the hereditary function of the chromosomes more closely. But before we do so we must turn aside for a moment for the sake of completeness and discuss the state of affairs in plants.

We have described the manner in which the chromosomes of all the higher animals behave.

There is a zygote stage, the animal that we see and know, which is diploid; this alternates with a brief gamete stage, which is haploid. In plants there is a somewhat different rhythm.

In Book II we discussed the phenomenon of Alteration of Generation in the vegetable kingdom. We saw that in certain lowly plants, in mosses and ferns and the like, there is a regular alternation between a spore-bearing and gamete-bearing generation.

We traced the alternation upwards and saw how in the higher plants the latter phase had been very considerably abridged, but how it still nevertheless existed.

Capital Silhouettes

By GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN

IF IT took Mr. Hoover's six pens to sign the tariff bill, how many pens would it take F. Scott McBride to sign the New Jersey primary explanation?

Says Bishop Cannon to Mr. Tinkham. "Such awful thoughts—how can you think 'em!"

THE BISHOP sticks his tongue out at the congressman by way of rejoinder, and dares him to come over in his yard and repeat those things he said.

LOUD SPEAKERS in the District of Columbia, under a new law, must be turned down to a whisper or their owners are in danger of going where the only loud things about 'em will be their striped suits, but we expect that Congress will have got out of town before the authorities get around to enforcing it.

AS OLD Senator Vance, of North Carolina, characterized the tariff of 1886, it was "the most vicious of all the legislation ever attempted in the Senate," but that was before the Grundy grab was slipped over.

Some Very One-Sided Static

By ARTHUR BAER

WHAT HAPPENED to Senator Jim Reed's speech over the Black and Blue Network?

It was a remarkable outburst of oratorical chinworks. The senator had reached that point in frenzied patriotism where he had lighted his pipe on the aurora borealis, had both feet astraddle the Panama canal and was just knocking a verbal divot off the glorious Rocky mountains.

He was reaching for a handful of exclamation points to throw at the boodlebund when somebody turned on the buzzer.

It was an SOS call and it blanketed the senator like a squaw wraps up an Eskimo papoose.

Jim's enemies had simply steamed up a fake signal of distress and poured it all over the works.

Now, Senator Reed is fit to be tied. He is out for revenge and hopes to be the master of ceremonies at some prominent funerals. We don't blame him. Static, S O S and boilerworks are no orchestral accompaniment for a dignified delegate during the children's insomnia hour.

If the senator wants to get away unmolested the next time we advise him to sneak in between Amos and Andy.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, June 20—Thoughts while strolling: Who remembers when rhubarb was pie plant? Cecelia Loftus, the grandest of mimics. A cafe named The Cat's Whiskers. Riding academy grooms in green and pink coats. What's become of the fellows who could strike a match on the seat of trousers and not lose a step?

Aubrey Eads, a Houston, Texas, boy, who made good in the city. Dude ranch bureaus. Alvin Austin, who writes the Reuben "celebrity ads." One of those sad grey days when New York seems to poise in brooding melancholy. The returning popularity of German pot roast and potato cakes. Hooray!

Nazimova in a clinging black gown. A platinum key ring—$150. Jewelry salons that display wares in private rooms draped in black velvet—with peepholes for detectives. The florist who will deliver a corsage of orchids in a doeskin box for 100 smackers. For that he should deliver it in person.

Manicure parlors in silver leaf. And now the electric safety razor. Those Englishmen with names like Nigel and Trevor who promenade the avenue at 5 o'clock. Shoe shop sign: "Spats and tan shoes are vulgar." The way my ears light up! Nothing makes a man look so cool as a polka dot tie.

Bert Lahr leaving an automat. Frank Mason, of the I. N. S. Aloof shops conducted by Social Registerites. The Chinese Chippendale furniture for porches. Men who wear golf togs to the office—and vanish at 1 o'clock. Japanese restaurants are never filled. That sickening grind before autos crash.

A private school of social etiquette. The midtown Wall street district. Brokers who go to Whyte's. A gipsy in a velveteen coat playing a concertina along the curb. Those families from Jersey who go to matinees and dine at Drake's. The polite elevator operators and starters in Salmon Tower.

The beautiful brown eyed Newfoundland dog with a cup around his neck leading a blind man. Julius Tannen's son — now grown up. Ferdinand Gottschalk's mincing walk. George White's gay straw hat bands. Always color along the Rialto. A white wing yawns and reveals a fangless gap.

* * *

* * *

"I have heard much about the nifties tossed about here and I am glad to have attended your amateur night." Then Bugs Baer stood up and let go both barrels.

New York has sponsored several orange juice stand nabobs but the latest is "Orange Julius" who lochinvarred out of the west with an orange drink fashioned in the manner of a milk shake. His hutch employing 12 mixers at Broadway and 46th street is often several rows deep with thirsty boulevardiers. He has been offered a cool million for his formula for a cool drink, but spurns it. Wall street has become interested in the orange drink profits and one financial house is to sponsor a chain of stands dotting every town of 5000 or over in the United States.

The Police College at Cleveland and Broome streets has a private gallery of rogues who have proved the greatest terrors to the metropolitan man hunters. It includes Gerald Chapman, Box Red, Dopey Benny, Red Moran, Legs Diamond, Big Jack Selig, Kid Dropper, Little Augie, Death House Frank, Salvatore Governale, Monk Eastman and Jim Flanagan. Most of them lived and died by the bullet. They were cop haters from boyhood and rookies are asked to study their careers carefully.

From London Sketch: "New York is overrun with newspaper columnists. Each strains to outdo the other in paragraphing brilliance and like anything else humor cracks under a strain."

Whatever happens to the column business is no particular concern of ours any more. We have just played our first game of golf.
